SPLENDID ENTERTAINMENT GIVEN UNDER AUSPICES OF WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The grand concert staged in the Empire Theatre on Thursday evening last, under the auspices of the local Women's Institute, was an unqualified success from every point of view. Mrs. Grace Oulton, soprano, of Stellarton, always a favourite with Hantsport audiences, rendered a solo which was heartily applauded. She responded with an encore. SUBJECTION OF WEEDS

In a statement of "Effective Methods of Controlling Weeds" Mr. E. S. Hopkins, Dominion Field Husbandman, brings out three salient and important points. The first is that the most effective method of controlling weeds is thorough and frequent cultivation of the land. The second is that the basic principle in killing weeds which have underground growth, and the third, the longer the delay in eradicating the weeds the greater the amount of work that will eventually be necessitated. One other point made by Mr. Hopkins in giving definite advice as to the subjection of couch grass, mustard and other weeds, that cannot be too much emphasized is that it is important to use at all times clean seed grain, clover and grass seed.

A FAMILY AFFAIR

"Did you give the penny to the monkey, dear?"

"Yes, mamma."

"And what did the monkey do with it?"

"He gave it to his father, who played the organ."

EDITORIAL

Hantsport has always boasted of its good schools, which have been well managed and loyally supported by citizens. Those who today have in charge this important community interest are alive to the importance of the work. Their endeavor to furnish the best possible educational opportunity for the youth of the town in an economical manner as is consistent with competent service deserves the appreciation of ratepayers generally. At present certain improvements are to be made which will improve greatly the conditions of the school building and render it fully up to date. Good schools for many reasons form one of the very best possible assets which a town may enjoy, and money spent for that purpose is well invested. Given the advantages which an efficient school furnishes the young life of the community is well started on the road to successful living.

The authorities have recently had installed at the town boundaries sign-boards suitably worded which give visitors information as to the scope of our municipality. This is a very worthy work and will be duly appreciated by residents. It is well that our town should be "put on the map" in this way and the publicity will be to our advantage. Hantsport has nothing to hide and should be proud of. Her people are proud of the native beauties which they possess and the manner in which the affairs of the town are carried on. We have industries which are a credit, business concerns which cater well to the demands made upon them. We enjoy modern advantages and have a tax rate which is low as compared with that of many similar towns. Our one fault is that our people are too unassuming. Some day they will realize their advantages and make the most of their opportunities. The town limits will be extended and the sign-boards will be newly located. There will be a strengthening of the posts and a lengthening of the cords. We have a vision of good things in store for Hantsport on the Avon.

MRS. (CAP T.) McCULLOCH

The community was extremely shocked on Friday morning to learn of the passing away of Mrs. (Capt.) McCulloch, after an illness of a day's duration. Although a semi-invalid for about two years, her health of late had seemed somewhat improved. On Thursday she complained of feeling ill when a physician and trained nurse were summoned. All was done that loving hands could do but she passed peacefully away on Friday morning at 5 o'clock.

The deceased was a most formidable lady, a consistent Christian and a great friend to the needy. Her good deeds will live after her for "she hath done what she could". Mrs. McCulloch will not only be greatly missed in the home, but also in the community. She was a faithful adherent of St. Andrew's Anglican church, where she was a regular attendant until stricken with illness about two years ago.

She is survived by a sorrowing husband and four children, Alma, wife of Cannon Howcroft, of the diocese of Camrose, Alberta; Irene, Mrs. R. P. Harvie, Centre Burlington; Avarid, Blakeburn, B. C.; and Mary, Mrs. Dr. Roper, Delburne, Alta.; and three sisters and two brothers in the United States. One daughter Lois predeceased her about a year.

The funeral services which were largely attended were held on Sunday from St. Andrew's church, conducted by the rector, Mr. Cribb, assisted by Mr. Harley of Windsor. The pall bearers were Capt. Barkhouse, Capt. C. Davison, Mr. L. V. Marsters and Mr. Frank Barkhouse. Interment was in River Bank cemetery. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful. We extend sympathy to the bereaved.

FRENCH PITY MONKEY AND RIDICULE SCOPES CASE

The Paris newspapers more and more are enjoying the "extraordinary case at Monkeyville", which offers them an opportunity to poke fun at Americans because of their fears of being identified with monkeys.

An article in the Paris "Soir" upholds the cause of the monkey, with the idea that they more than men, are to be pitied in view of the Darwinian theory. The day on which the monkey is definitely proved the ancestor of man will not leave him proud of this descendant, says the writer, who advances the theory that the real force behind the prosecution of John Thomas Scopes is the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Under amendments to the Customs Act assented to June 25, 1925, smuggling is punishable by imprisonment and heavy penalties without power of remission, and where the value of the smuggled goods is $200 or over it is an indictable offence. On conviction for indictable offence the terms of imprisonment may be imposed up to ten years and not less than one year.

Pat was ferrying a professor across the loch. The professor thought he would test Pat's knowledge so asked him if he knew anything about geology. "No," says Pat. The prof. said, "Then that's half your life gone!" "Do you know anything about physiology?" "No," replied Pat. "That's three-quarters of your life gone," commented the professor. "Do you know—," and then a squall struck the ferry, capsized it and both men were in the water. "Do you know anything about swimming?" said Pat. "No," replied the professor. "Well, then," said Pat, "that's the whole of your life gone."

DUNTING IN THE GOOD OLD STYLE

The Freeholders of Newbiggen-by-the-Sea rode and perambulate the boundaries of Newbiggen Moor of which they are the Lords of the Manor. According to ancient custom, "nuts and raisins" were distributed along the route and a Freeholder was duly initiated by "dunting" on the Dunting Stone which according to local history has been in use as such, between four and five hundred years. The photograph shows the process of "dunting" one of the new Freeholders on the old dunting stone.
