these continued onslaughts upon the administration proceeding more from disappointment and jealousy than from an honest desire to do what is right or to further the interests of right or to further the interests of the country. But the Globe hammers away nevertheless, as if the party's only hope is in persistency of effort in a direction antagonistic to hat of the Government. The Montreaf Star, (Independent) says "it looks as if the Globe wanted to ruin the Reform party. The way it keeps hammering away at the C. P. Such testimony has been furnished by the Montreal Witness, which in a recent article denounced the party it supports so ably for its hypocrisy, and urging its return to a better s ate of the outbreak is not, we fancy, far to seek. The spirit of Sir Richard Cartanto Carta ports so ably for its hypocrisy, and unusually a stained glass window. There is no conspicuous for mismanagement, miscalculation, and failure in financial after things if success is to be achieved. The opening sentence of the extract which no man who suffered from it is with no man who suffered from it is shows that the Witness does not in duge in any expectation of defeating much in Ontario; has made many public chandelier and side lights on the walls. quence should be, and will be to some extent, to purge the party of mere aspirants to office, of jobbers and temporizers, videlicet coalitionists, and leave only patriots sincerely desirous of raising their countrymen to a higher plane of political and intellectual life. Instead of being engaged in ceaseless partisan struggles and intrigues to seize upon power they are now free to establish a new basis of action, and to discuss upon their merits those great reforms which are so urgently needed in this Province.

It is absurd to suppose that there can be two parties here upon comparatively insignificant questions of administration. Unless the Liberals can make up their minds to come before the people with some propositions of substantial reform, it will be impossible for them to detach the majority from the dominant party. The tendency of the Liberal party is undoubtedly in the right direction, but so far it has proved recreant to its mission as a progressive party, and it has been. as it deserved to be, ignominiously repulsed at the polls. As a rule, a party's aims are patriotic and unselfish in pro-portion as it is numerically small in a state, and it would appear that a condiinterests of substantial reform."

he Guiteau Farce.

Washington, Jan. 2.-The District Attorney, speaking to-day of the length of the Guiteau trial, said he thought the record would show that the prosecution had not occupied over two weeks. The other five weeks had been used by the defence in direct examinations, long cross-examinations, and the interruptions of the prisoner. "I think," he said, "the prisoner? interruptions could be stopped.

He believes the jury will hang his brother sane or insane. He said the theory of the experts is wrong. His brother was an idiot and born without ordinary common sense. He expressed au opinion that the jury will return a verdict of conviction in two hours. 'The truth is," he said, "that the pressure of public opinion is too great.

It is bulldezing judge and fury and everybody else." The Irish Grievance.

London, January 4—John Bright, speaking at Birmingham yesterday, traced the cause of the Irish disaffection to a long course of Tory misrule and justified the coercive measures on the ground of absolute necessity. He pointed out that much of the discontent now arose from conception or ig-norance of English liberality; Irish poverty resulted from the driving away of English capital.
