Z. R. Everett, Esq., leaves for Europe and passed without the battle of the Boyne being waged over again on the banks of the St. Lawrence.

The wards of our hospitals, both Protestant and Catholic, fully prepared beforegland, thank Providence are silent and tengfitless. From So clock a.m. until the shades of the roughest specimens of humanity.

The Orangemen were shut up in their hall all day, being menaced by a dangerous moon one hand, and by five hundred special constables, picked out of the slums, and most of them jail birds, on the other. The last were the most dangerous, as, armed as they were with authority as well as formidable instruments of office, they pounced upon every Orangemen they met and belabored him with their clube. There was, therefore, no protection for the Orangemen, with all the odds against them, and they had to surrender at discretion.

The only terms they could procure was togethed them to their homes. How this "undertaking" was fulfilled may be gathered from the fact that Robert Gilbert, on going home in ach, was savagely beaten within an inch of his life, by a brutal crowd, and the last of the Orangemen did not get out of the street until six o'clock, and most of them had great trouble in escaping with their lives. The chief incidents of the day may be summed up as follows:—Three Orangemen were badly beaten on Craig street and a fight occurred near St. Lawrence Hall and two men were injured. A special constable named 3-rennan was arreaded with dynamite greenades on his person.

Some hundred and fifty of the vilest characters from the perlieus of St. Roch's Quebec, arrived this morning armed with revolvers which be ing unable to use on the streets, they disch wred from the deck of the boat in defance of the law and to the imminent danger of the conceaure on the whaves.

The special constables and local militia have been dismissed, but the country troops remain in camp until to-morrow.

MISS CHARLOTTE THOMPSON'S DRAMATIC Company.—"East Lynne" constituted the bill provided, last evening, by Miss Thompson and her company, and like their proceeding efforts was a magnificent performance. The very difficult dual roal—Lady Isabel and Madam Vine—was played by Miss Thompson and Company of the company son, who completely lost her indentity in th parts that she, for the time, took upon her-self. It was in the latter portion of the piece where she developed her great abilities, when she appeared as Madam Vine. Her imperfect English was uttered with that acnatural to a foreigner; her totterin walk was life-like; the anguish at her dying son's bedside was most touching while her farewell with Archibald Oarlisle, for realistic effort, could not be surpassed. She was re-peatedly called before the curtain by her authoristic admirers. Mrs. Watson enacted M'iss Corney with much spirit, and it was wholesome to witness, coming as it did, after the sad scenes in the play. The cool, con-summate scoundrel, Sir Francis Livison, was summate scoundred, Sir Francis Livison, was ably represented by Mr. Bryton, whose support to the leading character was superb. It has been considered his best assumption, and it would be a most exacting person, indeed, who would desire anything different to what he has usually personated; he was the Lord Mount Severh of the piece, and but for a cold, from which he was suffering, would have been all that was desiable. Gentlemen Electors County of York.

I SHALL be a Candidate at the approaching Election for the representation of this County in the house of Commons. I may tell you frankly that I am opposed to the present Administration, believing that its policy from the beginning, and all along, has been one detrimental to the interests of the Dominion, and fraught with ruin to the whole Country. As soon as Parliament is dissolved, I shall commence to visit the various localities throughout the County, and give my velws upon Dominion matters, as well as expose, to the best of my ability, the reign of mal-administration which has marked the career of the Mackenzie regime. In the mean time, I ask you not to pledge yourselves to uny other candidate.
