

THE CONCEPTION-BAY MAN.

GENTLE RIVER.

PERCY'S RELIQUES.

Gentle river gentle river,
Lo! thy streams are stained with gore;
Many a brave and noble captain
Floats along thy willowed shore.

All beside thy limped waters,
All beside thy sands so bright,
Moorish chiefs and Christian warriors
Joined in fierce and mortal fight.

Lords, and dukes, and noble princes,
On thy fatal banks were slain;
Fatal banks, that gave to slaughter
All the pride and flower of Spain!

There the hero, brave Alonzo,
Full of wounds and glory, died;
There the fearless Urdiales
Fell a victim by his side.

Lo! where yonder Don Saavedra
Through their squadrons slow retires;
Proud Seville, his native city,
Proud Seville, his worth admires.

Close behind, a renegade
Loudly shouts, with taunting cry,
"Yield thee, yield thee, Don Saavedra!
Dost thou from the battle fly?"

"Well I know thee, haughty Christian,
Long I lived beneath thy roof;
Oft I've in the lists of glory
Seen thee win the prize of proof.

"Well I know thy aged parents,
Well thy blooming bride I know;
Seven years I was thy captive,
Seven years of pain and woe.

"May our prophet grant my wishes,
Haughty chief, thou shalt be mine;
Thou shalt drink that cup of sorrow
Which I drank when I was thine."

Like a lion turns the warrior,
Back he sends an angry glare;
Whizzing came the Moorish javelin,
Vainly whizzing, through the air.

Back the Hero, full of fury,
Sent a deep and mortal wound;
Instant sunk the renegade,
Mute and lifeless, on the ground.

With a thousand Moors surrounded,
Brave Saavedra stands at bay;
Wearied out, but never daunted,
Cold at length the warrior lay.

Near him fighting, great Alonzo
Stout resists the Paynim bands;
From his slaughtered steed dismounted,
Firm intrenched behind him stands.

Furious press the hostile squadron,
Furious he repels their rage;
Loss of blood at length enfeebles;
Who can war with thousands wage?

Where yon rock the plain o'ershadows,
Close beneath its foot retired,
Fainting sunk the bleeding hero,
And without a groan expired.

THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPHIC EXPEDITION.

The Atlantic Telegraphic squadron, which left Portsmouth on Saturday afternoon, the 28th ult., on an experimental trip for the purpose of testing machinery and rehearsing various operations connected with the laying of the cable, returned on Thursday evening the 3rd instant.

The piece of cable with which the experiments were made was between 30 and 40 miles in length, and was a portion of the coil lost in the attempt of last year, and which was so injured in its recovery from a depth of 1,000 fathoms as to be rendered unfit for electrical purposes.

Dense fogs were experienced during the whole of the experiments.

The vessels having reached deep water, being out of soundings, the experiments were commenced at a depth of 2,800 fathoms, and we are informed that every thing proceeded satisfactorily until about 8 miles of the cable had been run out, when the eye of the buoy to which the wire was attached gave way, and the latter suddenly snapped, and operations were in consequence prematurely terminated.

We are glad however, to find that notwithstanding this mishap, the officers of the expedition are sanguine of ultimate success; and the squadron having coaled, and the Agamemnon received her last coil of 95 miles, the vessels took their final departure on Tuesday last.

The Submerging of the cable will be commenced by both ships from about the centre of the Atlantic, and not from the Irish coast as was the case last year. The whole operation will be thus finished in half the time, and a proportionately less risk from unfavourable weather will be incurred. A correspondent says:—"In the experimental trials which have been made during the last few days to lay the Atlantic cable, it was discovered that although the cable could be reeled in again with facility, it was now rendered useless. During the operation of paying out, the strain upon the cable produced a tendency in the wire covering to unwind itself, and accordingly the cable was seen to spin rapidly on its axis. This circumstance produced very mischievous effects, for when the cable was reeled in again, it was found to be so full of curls as to be perfectly useless."—Torquay Chronicle, June 12.

LATEST TELEGRAPHIC DESPATCHES

The Dispute with America.—The temperate and conciliatory discussion in the House of commons last night leads, says the "Times", to the conclusion that the dispute with the United States is at an end, but the graver question still remains whether the traditional policy of this country is to be continued. The question is about to enter a new phase.

The "Herald" remarks on the great political benefits which the Atlantic telegraph would confer in a crisis like the present with the United States. The order transmitted to the Admiral on the West India station would have reached him, and the offensive operations of our cruisers been stopped, in three days. Six weeks is now required for the same service, and opportunities for a collision, which may involve the two nations in war, are left open.

France.—The French Mediterranean fleet ordered to Brest to be present during the Emperor's visit, will consist of twelve line of battle ships, five frigates, four corvettes, and a certain number of small steamers.

The festivities at Fontainebleau are over, and the Emperor was expected in Paris. The Conference will hold another session to-day.

The Maritime Perfect of L'Orient has received official notice of the Emperor's intention to visit the ports of Brest and Lorente, immediately after the inauguration of the new works at Cherbourg.

Turin, June 18.—The government have announced their intention of bringing a bill to prevent frauds and corruptions in the election of members of Parliament.

Mr. Russell.—Much suffering has already been entailed on our men in the field, from the great power of the sun. We see with regret that Mr. William Russell, the Times correspondent, was struck in this way at the attack of the Bareilly cantonments, and requires much care and attention before he can recover.—Bombay Gazette May 19. His first accident was a kick from a horse, which compelled him to resort to a dhooly. When the baggage was in danger at Bareilly his bearers put him down on the road and bolted. Weak and very ill, he nevertheless managed to mount a horse, when a sun-stroke knocked him down, and very nearly proved fatal.

PLYMOUTH, Thursday Evening, June 19.—Attended by the Valorous and towed by two steam-tugs, the Agamemnon left the Sound at 9 o'clock this morning and waited outside. The Niagara, under steam, and attended by the Gorgon, did not leave until eleven o'clock. At that time there was no wind, but a favourable breeze from the north having sprung up subsequently the squadron started, under canvass only, for their destination.

HOLLOWAYS OINTMENT AND PILLS. Jaccrations of the flesh, bruises and fractures, occasion comparatively little pain or inconvenience when regularly lubricated or dressed with Holloway's Ointment. In the nursery it is invaluable as a cooling application for the rashes, excoriations and scabious sores, to which children are liable, and mothers will find it the best preparation for alleviating the torture of a "broken breast." As a remedy for cutaneous diseases generally, as well as for ulcers, sores, boils, tumours and all scrofulous eruptions, it is incomparably superior to every other external remedy. The Pills, all through Toronto, Quebec, Montreal, and our other chief towns, have a reputation for cure of the dyspepsia, liver complaints, and disorders of the bowels; it is in truth, co-extensive with the range of civilization.
