But, strange to say, the woman saved her four little ones.—[Advertiser.

Picturesque Canada.

When this high-class art serial was first projected the difficulties which starpublishers in the face were so many that some of their most ardent friends doubted the success in Canada of such an enterprise. These difficulties lay chiefly in the almost entire previous absence of art publication in this country owing to lack of the cultivation of the fine arts, caused by the hitherto want of Centralia—Fond of music and the appreciation on the part of our people, age.

Exeter—The most anxious to be lovl.
Goderich—The most anxious to be lovarried

Goderich—The most anxious to be arrived married.

Holmesville—Sweet tempered and unthis most desirable work, it is subject for congratulation. We have been pleased to notice from recent articles of the press that the success of the work promises to be unparalleled—a result we pro-nounced as richly merited from its inception—and more particularly so since we have inspected for ourselves a large number of the most beautiful wood en-gravings we have ever seen, which have been specially prepared for it, and are to form a part of its initial numbers. From the well-known reputation and ability of the Editor-in-chief, Rev. Dr. Grant, we have no hesitation in saying that the literary department will keep well abreast of the artistic in point of merit, and this being the case, we hazard no rash opinion when predict that the forthcoming publication will be, without exception, the finest work of its class ever yet offered to the people of Canada. This, when we consider that the art department is under the supervision of Mr. O'Brien, of Toronto. President of the Royal Canadian Academy of Arts-himself admitted to be one of the finest artists in the profession, and whom Her Majesty the Queen has honored by a commission to make some historical paintings for her private collection. Mr. Teo. F. Smith the superintendent of the engraving department, is acknow-ledged to be one of the leading men in his profession, and has had a very wide experience both in England and New York. Neither are we surprised at the yors. Neither are we surprised at the general encouragement being extended to the work of our people, as it is certainly the finest of its description we have ever seen, especially on Canadian subjects and Canadian scenes. With lovers of literature probably the style and subject matter of the accompanying letter press would bear the greatest in HARTFORD INS. CO'Y, of HARTFORD, Conn.
