BANKER HELD UP.—A well-known banker was recently "held up" on the following little comical took. "Say, how do you manage to get your clothes in such good shape at the time?" and the answer was: "I'm making a yearly contract with MURPHY'S BROS. and they call for my deliver my clothes every week; I pay 574 and ask them to see you at 10. They are at 265, Water St. next door to Parker & Mounsey, West End Store." Moral: Do not—nov28, end if.

THE SPEAKER.

The speaker is a calloused individual clothed in a little brief authority and a Prince Albert coat. He is a very difficult man to do business with unless you and he are trying to rescue the republic with the same deck of cards. Nothing will harden a man's heart and sear his conscience quicker than becoming speaker of the house. Many a kind husband and father, who was thoroughly hater broke in the home and never objected to filling the woodbox or carrying out the furnace ashes, has been transformed into a cold-blooded despot on being elected speaker. He also begins to suffer from atrophy of the ear drums and defective eyesight. It not infrequently happens that after a man has been speaker for a while his eyes get so poor that he cannot recognize a single member of the opposition. Sometimes the speaker becomes so deaf in the ear abutting on the minority side that he can't hear the still, small voice or a shrill demand for the previous question. Although overwhelmed by the cares of state, the speaker finds time for a little light reading, such as Roberts' Rules of Order, with appendix by J. Cannon. Sometimes the speaker cuts out the appendix and adds a neat little glossary of his own. When he wrote his book Mr. Roberts never suspected that it would be filled with home-made recipes by unlettered men with low retreating foreheads and adjustable spelling, but why should we complain? The speaker draws a large salary, in monthly capsules, which he dissipates in rent and other light

Hr. Grace Notes.

Wedding Bells.

A very pretty wedding took place at the R. C. Cathedral, on the December 2nd, when Mr. William Martin led to the altar Miss Julia O'Donnell. The ceremony was performed by the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Roche. The bride looked very nice in a travelling costume of cornflower blue and white felt hat. The bridesmaid was Miss Minnie Carey, and Mr. Edward Martin acted as best man.

Repairing the Bridges.

During the past week Inspector M. Bambrick has been busy with a gang of men repairing the bridges on the South Side, down near Port Amherst. These bridges and galleries were partially destroyed during the recent stormy weather, and if left as they were would be a fruitful source of accidents to people passing there. They will now be in better condition than ever.

At R. C. Cathedral.

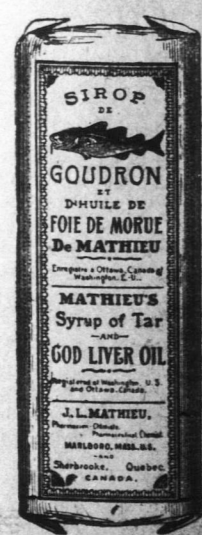

The Triduum in honour of the Immaculate Conception began at the Cathedral at 4 p.m. yesterday. There was a very large attendance, most of the members of Sodality of the Blessed Virgin being present. Rev. Father O'Callaghan preached the sermon. The devotions will be continued this evening and to-morrow closing at 4 p.m.

CHURCH POINT, July 31, '08.
Blacking & Mercantile Co., Ltd., Amherst, N.S.
Dear Sirs,—Nearly one year ago I had my first order of "Mathieu's Syrup" from you. It was not known in this country, and I gave samples to several families whom I knew would use it. After a few weeks I began to have a call for it, and trade has increased wonderfully since. I have not the least doubt but that it will soon be the best selling remedy for coughs, colds, etc., on the market. In my store here sales are good and our people ask for it. Several stores in this county now keep it in stock and report sales increasing. I have bought from you since August 18th, 1907, 4 Gross and have only three dozen on hand at this date, and which I am holding for retail trade in my store. Yours truly,

Xmas Carol Gives World a Great Singer

London, November 25.—A pretty little girl, obviously conscious of her new white frock and satin shoes, walked on the platform at Queen's Hall recently, made a prim little curtsy, and proceeded to spell-bind the audience with a beautiful rendering of the "Myself" song from Felicien David's "La Perle du Bresil."

The fair-haired girl, fifteen-year-old Stella Carol, and the account of how she came to win plies of bouquets at Queen's Hall, reads like a sentimental story in a Christmas magazine.

Last Christmas eve Stella sang carols in the front gardens of Hampstead with a few girl friends, and so it happened that in their tour they came to the house of Mme. Amy Sherwin, who and concert bureau. Mme. Sherwin conducted a successful vocal academy listened critically to the singing of "Once in Royal David's City," invited the girls into the house, and insisted on trying all their voices.

And so Stella received her pretty name of Carol.

It was pure delight to listen to her clear voice on the occasion of her debut in Queen's Hall. One could hardly believe that such unerring technique came from the prim, slightly nervous girl pulling at the fingers of her gloves.

She easily mastered all the intricacies of songs like "Lo! Hear the Gentle Lark."

After the concert Stella said to a friend that although she had learned to love French songs she still had an affection for the old carols which she sang at the gates of the Hampstead villas last Christmas eve.

Mechanics' Meeting.

A meeting of the executive of the Mechanics' Society took place last night. Important business was transacted. An application from a Vaudeville Co. for the hire of the hall for the winter was read. No decision was arrived at. Another meeting will be held to consider the matter.

The S. S. Beothic, Capt. William Cross, left here at 6.30 p.m. yesterday for Trinity and Beaverton where she will take on board a cargo of fertilizer from these white factories as also at Balena and Rose au Rue, she then proceeds to Baltimore and Norfolk, Va., and will load coal at the latter place for this port.

Dies Under Train To Save a Girl.

Young Man Hurs Child from Track.
Chicago, Nov. 29.—Though he came to Chicago from his Nebraska farm home only a few days ago hoping to win fame and fortune, Ernest Weekly, 24 years old, unhesitatingly sacrificed his life last night to save that of a little girl in danger of being run down by a speeding express train. While the young man from the country dashed to the rescue scores of city dwellers stood by and looked on helplessly. Weekly got a place with an insurance company almost immediately after coming here from Valley, Neb., and he was returning to his boarding place after a day's work when he lost his life. He had just stepped from a suburban train at Fifty-ninth street when he heard men yelling and women screaming, and looking about he saw the little girl standing directly in the path of the onrushing engine. He bounded across three tracks, crying "Look out, girls, you'll be hurt," but the child was too frightened to move. The train was less than a dozen yards away when Weekly reached the girl, and, stopping, grasped her with his arms and hurled her to one side of the track.

Just as he started to leap after to safety Weekly stumbled on a spike projecting from a tie and fell across the track as the engine struck him.

The crowd on the station platform had been watching the girl, and when next eyes were turned toward the man who has rushed to her rescue, his body was seen crushed beneath the wheels.
