What's the Matter With Heaven?

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

If I were a member of a liberal sect I should preach on that topic — "What's the matter with Heaven?"

The other day I heard a little boy ask his mother if there would be fireworks in Heaven.

"Yes," she said, and oh, such beautiful ones! The rockets have a thousand stars, and the red lights last for hours and the flower-pots grow roses and poppies and lilies in pink and silver and gold and crimson fire, a whole flower garden of fire flowers.

The little boy's eyes shone. "It must be lovely!" he sighed wistfully. His aunt, a prim, conventional person, drew his mother aside. "Lilla," she said, "I am surprised at you, giving the child such an idea of Heaven."

Making Heaven stand for the Most Beautiful.

"Is it a less beautiful idea than a city of blazing gold streets where everyone sits around playing harps?" she asked. "I told him something that could understand and something that appealed to his present idea of the beautiful. As his mind grows I shall tell him other things and I shall always try to make Heaven stand for something surpassingly beautiful and wonderful in the highest way he is capable of appreciating."

The conventional aunt was plainly shocked.

"Not a Man Any Woman Would Have." "Women are there," Agnes Reppier quotes a woman saying in description of this idea of Heaven, "and some men, but not a man whom any woman would have." We recognize this subconscious feeling about Heaven even while we laugh at the frank expression of it. Now what kind of an ideal is that to try to make flesh and blood, men and women yearn for?

One's highest conception of the beautiful, one's finest ideals and aspirations, one's purest longings for peace and happiness ought to have expression in one's ideal of Heaven. If you set up any rigid ideal for everyone you make that impossible.

My Own Ideal.

Personally I dislike cities and any childish yearnings I might have felt towards Heaven were stifled by the golden city ideal. One day when I was reading in Tennyson's "Passing of Arthur" the beautiful lines:

"I am going a long way
With these thou seest—if indeed I go
(For all my mind is clouded with a doubt)
To the island-valley of Avalon,
Where falls not hail or rain or any snow,
Nor ever wind blows loudly; but it lies
Deep-meadowed, happy, fair, with orchard lawns
And bowery hollows crowned with summer sea
Where I will heal me of my grievous wound."

Suddenly it came over me. "Why, that's Heaven!" and I can't tell you what a different feeling it gave me about death.

"A place where you want to do what's right" was the wistful ideal of an impulsive little friend of mine. Not so bad an ideal, is it?

I know some of my more conservative reader friends are calling all this irrelevant. Let me tell you something, folks. Some of the sweetest, solemnest thought I have ever had came to me when I was brooding over this matter. Is that irrelevant?

BRITISH THEATRE.

The songs sung by the popular Madame Olive Timmons at the above theatre last night were most enthusiastically received by large audiences. Her first number was the great concert song by Paul Bliss entitled, "Come Merry Spring," this being followed by the beautiful southern melody made famous by the late Madame Lillian Nordau, "Mighty Lak' a Rose." Her accompaniments were faultless and sympathetically played by Professor F. J. McCarthy. In addition to the foregoing five photo-plays of the highest calibre were also shown and were most interesting and entertaining.

GREAT RACING SKETCH BY THE RUSSELLS.

Yesterday afternoon there was a large matinee at Rossley's under the distinguished patronage and presence of Lady Davidson and the Misses Davidson. When Punch and Judy made their appearance the children went wild, and Don, the trained dog, came in for prolonged applause. To-night The Australian Merry Makers have a delightful comic sketch from the pen of the famous George M. Cohen written for the Russell's while playing in Australia. It is entitled: "A Tip on the Cup," a great racing sketch and laughs all through. Jack Russell is certainly the finest singer ever brought to St. John's, he has a delightful voice, an actor and a real performer. His talented wife, Olive Russell, lady baritone, will be heard in some beautiful ballads, she will delight patrons. Don't fail to see the great racing sketch to-night if you want to laugh. The pictures are all good, none better. The theatre is clean, cool, up to date and the reliable show shop of the city. Look out for other attractions in the meantime; see the famous Russells.

LARGE AUDIENCES AT THE CRESCENT YESTERDAY.

The large audiences who attended the Crescent Picture Palace yesterday thoroughly enjoyed the fine picture programme presented and were delighted with the fine ballad: "You're More Than the World to Me," sung by Mr. Harvey Collins. The same fine show will be repeated to-day and Crescent patrons who were out of town yesterday will have a chance to hear Mr. Collins in this fine song. On to-morrow a two reel Edison feature:

"The Poisoned Bit" will be shown; there is a great horse race shown in this picture, and Mr. Collins will have a new song.

THE POPULAR LITTLE HOUSE.

Ours, the popular little house in the West End has always something new and original. The pictures are beautiful; the dainty little singer in new songs always catchy and bright. The West End people are very proud of Ours.

Torbay Garden Party.

The annual Torbay Garden Party was held yesterday afternoon at the R. C. Presbytery grounds in aid of the Parish Church. The attendance was affected by adverse weather. Among the visitors from the city were: His Grace Archbishop Roche, accompanied by Rev. J. J. McDermott, Administrator, Mr. J. M. Kent, P. C., Mr. John Dwyer and Mr. W. J. Higgins, members for the district. They were met by the Rt. Rev. J. J. St. John, P.P., and shown around the grounds, which were neatly and artistically dressed for the occasion. During the evening the ladies did a brisk business serving teas, etc. The proceeds were up to expectations. To the efforts of the zealous Pastor and his energetic committee the success of the affair was due in a large measure.

Damage at Torbay.

As a result of Tuesday night's thunder and lightning storm Mr. Thomas Whelan, farmer of Torbay, is a heavy loser, having had several hundred dollars worth of his property destroyed. During the early part of the storm Mr. Whelan's cow was killed in the yard. A bolt struck the side of the dwelling house where Mr. Whelan and family were, damaging a quantity of furniture. The barn was also struck by the lightning, but not much damage done.

Will You Walk Into My Parlor.

(Daily News.)

It is touching to observe the profound interest which is shown by the Maritime Board of Trade in Newfoundland, and doubtless our citizens are profoundly grateful. There may, of course be those, who will regard the resolution just passed at Summerside as a piece of gratuitous interference with the affairs of an independent Colony. Perish the thought. Is it not rather an evidence of the great love which the prosperous Maritime Provinces bear to this country? Let us be grateful, rather than suspicious; and if there are those who see in the curious interest in our affairs, which is being manifested in many Canadian newspapers of late, indications of concerted action, let them be disillusioned. Merely coincidence, good people, merely coincidence.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

Children always like beads and their stringing passes many hours safely and happily. At the same time the children gain a knowledge of color combination and form from bead work.

Large wooden beads are the easiest for the small child to thread on a piece of stout thread. The end can be waxed or a blunt needle can be used.

It often happens that little children, especially those nervous or highly strung, are disposed to keep on crying when they get started. When you wish a child to stop sobbing get him to take a good drink of cold water. It almost always will stop the sobbing immediately.

DECLARES WORLD TO HAVE PERIOD OF RISING PRICES.

Oxford, Eng., Aug. 10.—"There will be no more cheap prices; after this war the world is in for a period of rising prices," declared Dr. Slater, principal of Ruskin College, Oxford, in the first of a series of lectures on economic phases of the world war. "I do not believe," Dr. Slater said, "that there will be a period of poverty after the war. There will be no necessity for poverty, and such poverty as there is will be due to misapplication of the productive powers which will be available. It will be the poverty which comes from wasted resources, and not from inadequate resources."

"There will be no return to pre-war prices. That means that there will be a permanent rise of wages and other permanent readjustments to meet the higher prices. The proper policy of the Trades Unions is to accept the war bonuses, not for the war duration, but for the duration of the higher prices."
