ADDRESS ON RECEIVING A BUNCH OF HIGHLAND HEATHER IN AMERICA.

Dear token frae my native lan'.
Thou bonnie bunch o' heather!
I'll shelter you wi' tender han'
Frae oor extremes o' weather;
I'll plant you in a pat o' mool
Brought a' the way frae Oban,
An' slochan you wi' water cool
An' clear as frae Loch Lomon'!

An' whan the Scotchman's day comes in Saint Andra's day sae cheerie—
I'll tak' we wi' me tae the toon,
Tae busk my auld Glengarry;
An' you'll see faces there you ken,
Wha speiled wi' me the heather—
Braw Hielan' lasses an' their men
Shall dance a reel thegither!

How aft your purple face has seen
Aula Scotia's heroes gather!
How aft the martyr's bluid hath been
Spill'd ruthless on the heather?
For Freedom, Liberty an' Right,
Read Scotlan's deathless story,
Our fathers left us by their might
A heritage o' glory!

hair anything to say agin it, I think I'll, squire."
"All right," said the Squire; "are you going to take your wife with you?"
"Why, no, Squire; I said that I wanted to go for a holiday, and that ain't no holiday to take the old missus, too," and George chuckled in a manner that evidently meant yourses.

the covey's name, is it, and he lives in a city called Boisingham, does he? Is he an oof bir d?" (rich.)

"Rather," answered the Tiger, "iff only one can make the dollars trickle, but he is a nasty mean boy, he is. Look here, not a cent, not a stiver to bless myself with, and I daren't ask him for any more until January. And how am I going to live till January? I got the sack from the Music hall last week because I was a bit jolly, and old Thompson, the conductor, wanted to drop 10 per cent. on my salary because he said I didn't daw as I used to, and that I was getting too old and ugly. So I just caught him one with the handle of my brolie that made him see stars, and the beast had me up for assault, and it was 40s. and costs. And now I can't get another tillet any way, and I have got a bill of sale over the furniture, and I have sold all my jewels down to my ticker, or at least most of them and there's that brute," and her voice rose to a subdued scream, "living like a fighting cock and rolling in oof while his poor wife is left to starve,"

"Wife? Oh, yes, we knowall about that," said the gentleman named Johnnie.

A look of doubt and cunning passed across the woman's igos. Evidently she feared that she had said too much.

"Well, it's as good a name as another," she said. "Oh, don't I wish that I could get a grip on him; I'd wring him," and she twisted her long bony hands as washerwomen do when they wring a cloth. ""He back you too," said Johnnie. "And now, adored Edithia, I've had enough of this blooming show and I'm off. Perhaps I shall look in down Fimileo way this evening. Ta-ta."

"Well, you may as well stand a liquor first," said the adored one. "I'm pretty dry, I can tell you"

"Cestainly, whe pleasure; I will order one. Waiter, a by yn please; she's very delicate and wants support."

The waiter grinned and bought the drink and the man Johnnie turned around as though to pay him, but really he went without doing so.

"Oh, we've had too ruch of that game," said the waiter, beckoning to a constable, to whom in spite of the "hir Edithia's" very vigorous and pointed protestations be went on to give her in charge, for it appeared that she had only tropence about her. This was George's opportunity, and he interfered.

"I think, marm," he said, "that the fat gent with you was playing of a little game. He only preended to pay the waiter."

THE LONDON ADVERTISER, THURSDAY, MAY 29. Hotter the Weather Bigger the Proof.

As the weather grows warm, the sale of James Pyle's Pearline Washing Compound rapidly increases. This proves that many women recognize the fact that PEARLINE makes washing and cleaning very much easier than when done with the ordinary means. Proves also that summer clothing, being of delicate texture and color, will not stand the rough usage necessary when washed with soap, and establishes the fact that PEARLINE, in doing away with the rubbing, lessens the wear and tear and fills a very important place. Delightful for bathing in fresh or salt water. Its ingredients render it harmless to the most delicate skin. Especially during the hot weather it is to your advantage to use PEARL-INE, and only humane to supply your servants with it, and thus lighten their labors; besides you insure much better results. Beware of imitations. JAMES PYLE, New York.
