MASTODON'S BONES

Discovered on a West Nissouri Farm- visiting friends in Toronto. A Nine-Foot Tusk and a Hundred Marvel.

of immense interest and value to scien- ist in French and German, and an extists, as well as to the general public, been appointed on the staff of Hellis one that has just been made about muth Ladies' College. twenty miles from this city, on the farm of Edward Hobbs, lot 3, con. 3, West Nissouri, near Cherry Grove. The find consists of a number of bones belonging to what was evidently a gigantic mastodon, which roamed the primeval forests of this section before the days when man first appeared on earth. Part of the bones were discovered last fall, while making excavations for a farm drain, while others have been unearthed by further search within the past week. Up to date about 50 bones have been discovered, and the search is now being pushed on with the object of discovering, if possible, the head of the mastodon. One most in-teresting and striking portion of the remains is the huge curved tusk, which measures more than nine feet from base to tip, the base being more than a foot in circumference. Opinion is divided among those who have seen it as to whether it is a tusk or a horn. It is not composed of ivory like the tusks of the elephant, but of horny substance. Another complete bone found appears to be the upper portion of the hind leg. It is over four feet open season until 1903. in length, and weighs nearly 100 pounds. Other bones found include fragments of ribs over five feet long, gigantic hip sockets, lower shanks, shoulder blades, bones of foot, etc. The soil in which the bones were found consists of a black muck, percolated by springs, which doubtless aided in preservation through the thousands of years which must have passed since their former owner found apy immediate use for them. Mr. Hobbs will have his unique find on exhibition at the Western Fair.

CITIZENS' DAY

268 Dundas Street.

Many Thousands of Visitors at the Big Fair.

Main Building Crowded With Handsome Displays.

Directors Have to Refuse Space to Intending Exhibitors.

Meeting of the Fair Board-GrandDis play of Fireworks Tonight.

Citizens' Day at the Western Fair was marked by perfect weather, and a large attendance. Crowds of London. ers wandered over the grounds, and through the buildings, and all of them observed with pride and pleasure the fact that London's exhibition, not content merely to achieve the same standard of excellence year by year, continues to improve with each succeeding season. They found everything prepared for their coming. So great has been the demand for space that the officials have had to refuse numberless applications for space in the crystal palace, and the stock buildings. There is not a stall nor a pen vacant in the latter buildings. The show of horses this year surpasses any yet witnessed at the Western Fair.

The full programme of attractions was rendered in front of the grand stand this afternoon, including the grand double balloon ascension. Interesting speed events also took place. This evening will be rendered for the first time the fireworks display, commencing at 8 o'clock, introducing many startling and beautiful pieces: Illuminated balloon, throwing out monster festoon of jewels, 100 feet long, brilliant colorings, Boer balloon, double revolving sun-wheel with rainbow colorings: tourbillions: fiery column of the empire; clouds of gold and sapphire; patriotic repeating shells, three distinct bursts, red, white and blue stars; pyramid of golden showers; shells of shimmering gold; mines of jeweled cobras; patriotic wheel device, displaying the shamrock, rose and thistle, surrounded by a glory of Transvaal gold dust; Johannesburg and Kimberley shells; trocadero fountains; pots d'or; pots d'argent: pots d'aigrette: curtain of Kimberley gems; fiery jewels; silver rain; to conclude with the mammoth fireworks pictorial set device, over 100 feet in length, "An Attack of the Armored Train on the Boer Stronghold," an incident at the siege of Mafeking, and Badne-Powell's plucky stand.

The evening performance will also vention on Saturday, Sept. 22, for the include the full special attractions as given in the afternoon. DIRECTORS' MEETING.

At this morning's directors' meeting there was a large attendance, nearly every director being present. There were in attendance Col. Gartshore, W. J. Reid, T. A. Browne, J. H. Brown, W. M. Spencer, Ald. Wray, A. Bogue, Charles Trebilcock, John Kennedy, Wm. Moore, John Laidlaw, Ald. Bartlett, Col. Leys, Ald. Winnett and Ald. Winder. A question as to whether or not ribbons had been provided for fat cattle was answered by the secretary in the negative. Mr. Taylor reported that the main building was filled and was in the best shape it has known for a number of years, and this despite the fact that a number of leading exhibitors were now housed in other buildings. An application to have agricultural and general purpose horses divided into separate classes was referred to a special committee. The delegates to the municipal convention in the city this week will be extended the usual courtesies
