

New Pastor Was Installed on Sunday

Large congregations were in attendance at the United Evangelical church Sunday to welcome the new pastor, Rev. H. G. Schwake, who was installed by Rev. Mr. Kramer, of Buffalo. Mr. Schwake comes to this city from Germania, Pennsylvania, where he has been successful in his work. The installation ceremony, which took place in the morning, was conducted entirely in German, and consisted of a special sermon by Rev. Mr. Kramer, to which Rev. Mr. Schwake replied. In his address Rev. Mr. Kramer dealt with the growth of religion, and said that when a nation or a community of people do not go forward, they must go backward. There is no such thing as standing still in regard to religion. We are either getting better or getting worse all the time. He complimented the congregation on the excellent growth they had made in such a short time, and then introduced Rev. Mr. Schwake, expressing the hope that his work in London would be as successful as it had been in other fields. Rev. Mr. Schwake, in reply, said that with the help of everyone of the congregation he was sure the church would prosper. He pointed out the necessity of working together if great results were to be accomplished. The congregation was a large and growing one, and splendid results had been accomplished by his predecessors. He hoped to be able to achieve as much as they had done, and to make the church fulfill its highest mission in this city. During the service the choir rendered a number of selections which were greatly appreciated. Miss Eva Meyer took the solos in a most pleasing manner.

ANTHONY COMSTOCK IS TOO BUSY NOW

Cannot Come to London Though Y. M. C. A. Is Anxious to Have Him.

The Y. M. C. A. will open the auditorium Sunday afternoon meetings next Sabbath, when Dr. Sherer and T. Albert Moore, of Toronto, will be the speakers. The committee has secured quite a number of strong speakers for the season. Among those whom the association has been trying to secure are Anthony Comstock, the noted head of the New York Society for the suppression of Vice. In a letter to Secretary Wilson, Mr. Comstock says he cannot come to London, adding:

"I should esteem it a great privilege and pleasure to come to you; but I know I must not take on myself anything more than the responsibilities that now rest upon me. When I tell you that yesterday I, and two of my assistants, carried to a paper mill in Hoboken, N. J., about 7 1/2 tons of the devil's own literature, and had it destroyed, and that since the 1st of January, this year, we have made over 100 arrests and seized more than 10 tons of contraband matter; then you will get some idea of the importance of the work being done by this organization. "And while we are endeavoring to crush out matters on this side of the line that separates the King's domain from the United States, I want you to feel that the suppressing of these evils here means a greater protection for the youth in the provinces."

SUNDAY THEATRICALS

10:40, the curtain went up, and the long-looked-for show was on. At 11:15 the first act was over, and the second act began at 12:15, the performance finishing at 1:15 o'clock. The audience waited from 8 o'clock until after 1, over five hours.

At the hour of 12, a large number of the audience went home. This was particularly true of the ground floor. Fully one-third of the audience went away. Among those who went home were Police Magistrate Love and many other prominent citizens. Many in the balcony left also. There was no exodus from the gallery. There might have been a more general movement home-ward but for the fact that it was announced that the cars would be held till the close of the show.

Manager Bowers had instructions that the company would keep the cars waiting, but when the audience came out there was not a car in sight. It was thought that the street railway people became alarmed at the lateness of the hour, and were afraid to take a chance against the Sunday observance law. There never was such a demand for cars in a long time.

Was Bombarded.

In the meantime the opera house manager and his staff had their troubles. Questions and inquiries were fired at them at close range for hours. "When will the company arrive?" "Where were the actors now?" "Where is my money?" "Why did you not tell us?" "Will the cars run?" were a few of the queries.

It was the latest hour that a performance had been given in the Grand Opera House, and the only Sunday performance ever given in the city.

DESERTED HIS WIFE IS NAILED AT LAST

William Tabor, for Whom the Police Have Been Looking, Has Been Caught.

William Tabor found out to his sorrow Sunday that the law sleeps not. Tabor had been away from London for over three years, and only came back a day or two ago. His wife became aware of the fact, and also remembered that for over five years she had not received one cent from her husband to support herself and her little child.

About three years ago Tabor was to have been arrested for non-support, but avoided the police by skipping the country. He came back to the city a few weeks ago, and apparently felt himself secure. One day, however, his wife spotted him, and camped upon his trail, with the result that Tabor is now in jail, with the prospect of a three-year sentence in Kingston Penitentiary to comfort him.

The story as told in court is that Tabor has had two wives. The first one died and left him with a little girl. When he married again Tabor says his little girl was not wanted, and this, it seems, was the cause of the trouble between him and his wife. He refused to support her and when he was to be arrested he skipped out. This morning when he heard that he might be sent to Kingston, he asked that the case be adjourned until he could get a lawyer, and the magistrate agreed to let the matter stand over for a week.

Gordon Henry and Albert Hopler were fined $1 each for acting in a disorderly manner on Dundas street. Walter McGarney and Fred Shackleton contributed $3 to the court for being drunk while Frank Clamplitt paid $5 for the same offense. The case of Bartholomew Clamplitt, charged with assaulting Thomas Colledge, was adjourned for another week.

A Contradiction.
Miss Margaret Evans, of Talbot street, wishes to contradict the statement made in the columns of The Advertiser to the effect that a granite shower was given at her home on the eve of her approaching marriage. Miss Evans is not about to be married.

He is expected in this country to attend the first wedding.

Mrs. Vanderbilt is said to have arranged already for the rehabilitation of her future husband's somewhat heavily encumbered European estate, where it is expected, she will live after the marriage. Mrs. Vanderbilt has been a widow for about eight years. The prospect of her second marriage is understood to have caused a serious disagreement between Reginald Vanderbilt and his mother.

BETTER Baking Powder

There can be no better baking powder than Strong's. In making baking powder there are certain definite materials to be used. A cheap powder can be made by using unwholesome ingredients; a good powder by using pure and beautiful materials. The leavening properties of an alum powder may be equal to a cream tartar one, but we prefer cream tartar, and so should you. Strong's Baking Powder is a cream tartar product. It weighs less than any other pure powder you can buy.

SPLENDID CHURCH PREY TO FLAMES

Nothing Saved But the Sacrament From Sacred Edifice—Loss Is About $75,000.

Montreal, Oct. 13.—Cote St. Paul, a western suburb of Montreal, was the scene of a disastrous fire on Saturday afternoon, when the fine Roman Catholic church of the parish was destroyed, entailing a loss of $75,000, only partially covered by insurance. The fire, which broke out about half-past one, made rapid progress, and although assistance was obtained from the Montreal firemen, the progress of the flames could not be checked. At one hour after the fire started one of the towers began to totter and in a few minutes it fell with a tremendous crash, and shortly afterwards the second tower came down. The towers were over one hundred feet high, and several firemen who were working on ladders had narrow escapes from being killed.

The church was the church of the Convent of the Sisters of the Congregation of Notre Dame, and with a strong wind blowing, it was feared that the convent, too, would go, and great excitement prevailed among the inmates. Bed clothing, chairs, wearing apparel, school books and articles of every description were being thrown from the windows to the lawn below to be picked up and carried to places of safety by the villagers. The German population of the parish were engaged in carrying out beds, dressing stands, and articles of heavy furniture, in the hopes that everything would not be lost. Sixty children, and fourteen sisters, all in charge of the mother superior, were marshaled from the building in orderly manner. The good work of the firemen saved the convent from destruction. Nothing at all in the church was saved with the exception of the Blessed Sacrament, which the parish priest, Rev. Father H. Brest, saved just before the flames made entrance into the church absolutely impossible. The presbytery adjoining the church was saved.

The church, which was built of stone, was valued at from $75,000 to $80,000, and was insured in 1898, for the amount of $20,000, in the Northern Assurance Company, of London, Eng., will not begin to make up the loss the parish has sustained. The entire cost of the church, including the presbytery, will have to be made to the parishioners of the church made several years ago.

REVIVALISTS PART
Dr. Torrey Proves Too Dogmatic for Sweet Singer Alexander.

London, Oct. 12.—It is understood that the partnership which has existed a number of years between revivalists Dr. Torrey and Charles M. Alexander, and which is almost as famous as that which united Moody and Sankey, has come to an end.

As preachers at a revival, respectively, they have toured together in America, Australasia, and Great Britain, and attracted large audiences. The difference between the two men is most marked. Dr. Torrey, in theology, is a strict orthodox dogmatist, who seems to hurl words at his hearers as if he were pelting them with hard peas.

Mr. Alexander possesses more of the spirit of life. He always has got into touch with his audience quicker than his colleague, and in this fact, it is said, lies the reason for the dissolution of partnership.

AUTHOR OFFICIAL FACES PROBLEM

Pioneers of Africa Object to Germany Grabbing Country's Trade.

London, Oct. 13.—Winston Churchill, under secretary of state for the colonies, who has started on a tour which will take him into the interior of Africa, will, when he reaches Nairobi, on Lake Victoria Ny., have presented him a problem of the greatest importance to those Britishers who have established themselves upon the shores of the lake, and in many cases built up large businesses trading with the natives of the adjacent territory.

The pioneers of Africa fear that a design a German Government is carrying out to divert the trade of the country from British to German ports on the east coast, which is now carried over the Victoria Nile, a line subsidized by Great Britain, will not only ruin their interests, but will seriously affect the navigation of the lake by lowering its waters. The German Government has already built a railway from Pangani, on the east, to the border of British East Africa. Swamps on the one side and mountains on the other prevent this line from being continued to Lake Victoria Nyansa, but to overcome this difficulty the Germans are digging a canal through the swamps from the deep inlet of the lake to the railway. The canal will be 60 miles long and the overflow from it will be carried to the sea by the Ruvu river. Obviously such a work might not be considered a menace, but in the case of Lake Victoria Nyansa experts believe it will do great damage to the British Empire.

The whole matter will be placed before Mr. Churchill, and will doubtless become the subject of diplomatic negotiations between the foreign offices of London and Berlin.

FIFTY MAY BE LOST

Sailing Vessel Which Left Sydney Long Ago Fails to Reach Port.

London, Oct. 13.—Wrecked, condemned or posted as missing, the sailing ship is gradually but none the less surely disappearing from the face of the waters. Only yesterday morning a committee of Lloyd's declared missing the fine steamer four-masted sailing ship of more than 2,000 tons net, the Dundonald of Glasgow, which sailed from Sydney, N. S. W., February last, for the continent of Europe, and has not been heard of since.

With the average good fortune in regard to winds she ought to have arrived at Falmouth, her destination, early last June, but for weeks past the greatest anxiety has prevailed, and it is feared that the luckless bark, carrying with her a crew of fifty, may have gone down, either through collision with an iceberg when near Cape Horn or through collision with one or the other of the steamers Duvernay or Nicaraguan.

Attention may be called to the fact that the Dundonald is the fifth sailing vessel of more than 2,000 tons which has been posted at Lloyd's as missing during the present year.

WESTERN UNION FIRM

New York, Oct. 12.—Charles P. Neill, United States Commissioner of Labor, conferred with officials of the Western Union Telegraph Company today in a final effort to ascertain if there was any chance to make terms for the operators still out on strike. Mr. Neill's effort today was due to the receipt of several petitions and resolutions of common councils asking for his intervention.

MRS. CHADWICK'S BURIAL

Remains To Be Interred in Episcopal Cemetery at Woodstock.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Woodstock, Oct. 14.—The body of Mrs. Cassie Chadwick arrived here Saturday evening, accompanied by her son, Emil Hoover, of Cleveland, and her sister, Mrs. Campbell, of this city. The remains, which are now lying at the residence of Mrs. Campbell, will be buried either Tuesday or Wednesday afternoon in the Episcopal cemetery, beside her father's remains. Rev. F. W. Thompson, Methodist minister, of the city, will conduct the service. The delay is owing to the desire to hold the body until the arrival of the sisters of the deceased, who are widely scattered. The casket has not been opened to public view.

JAPS HEADED FOR CANADA

Hundreds of Men Being Smuggled North from Mexico.

Ottawa, Oct. 13.—Members of the Montreal Asiatic League have just got word that hundreds of Japanese have lately arrived in Mexico destined for Vancouver, and that a good proportion of them are in straitened circumstances.

The dispatch says they think they can get on the Grand Trunk Pacific and in British Columbia lumbering camps. It is said that in every instance these immigrants hold passes issued to them by the Japanese Government.

It is also alleged that scores of Asiatics are being smuggled across the border. It is stated that many Japanese are leaving and taking passage to San Francisco, bearing passports for British Columbia. The exclusion leagues at Montreal and in other Canadian cities have decided to telegraph to headquarters at Vancouver, and state that they will do all in their power to assist in the fight for Oriental exclusion.

A THREE-CORNERED TRADE

Stahl for New York, Laporte for Boston, Parent for Chicago.

New York, Oct. 14.—Jake Stahl will be a member of the New York American League team next year, as the result of a three-cornered trade. The old collegian, formerly manager of the Washington team, comes to New York from the Chicago Americans, and Frank Laporte goes to the Boston Americans, while the Chicagoes get Fred Parent.

Parent is undoubtedly the best player of the three, but he has had difficulties with the management at Boston which have rendered him useless to them. Stahl has never fancied his transfer from Washington to Chicago, and is said to be well pleased with the idea of playing in New York. He can be used by Grinn on first base or behind the bat. He would fit in almost anywhere. Laporte, while a hard hitter, was never a success with the New Yorks, and was very weak at third base.
