as a minimum, hoping to convey the idea that the subscription is within the means of all classes of the population.

Should your Honor inaugurate a subscription list for your province, it should, I think, be best to pay the amount collected either finally in a lump sum or from time to time as subscriptions come in, whichever you prefer, as a contribution from the province to the central account at Ottawa, which has been opened in Major Drummond's name. Lists of contributions will be published in the press every now and then to show

Following as a large debiling pages as the season just a season just passed has been a very satisfactory one to the road with spring samples. Among materials for dress goods on the cards for next spring, coverts are prominent. The colors are blue and brown brown and gold, tan and white, roval blue and tan, black and gray, army blue and white, and green effects. Chevrons and mohair are popular, too. In the more expensive goods. Venetians and zibaline plaids figure prominently. Popular fabrica at popular prices embrace checks more or less pronounced; mixed grounds in pepperin-sait effects will be ornamented with hisir-line over checks.

Tweeds are likely to be given the preference over serges for the coming spring, says an eastern authority. Last year there was quite a run on serges for suitings, but the indications point strongly to tweeds becoming more popular, although serges will doubtless be inquired for to a considerable extent. Tweeds in hrown and green mixtures will probably be the most popular. The same writer speaking of the glove trade says: Ar good inquiry is now being Among materials for dress goods on the
