Some Timely Advice From Col. Gibson. Col. Gibson thought it would be unfortun Col. Gibson thought it would be unfortunate to discuss the matter at present. No one knew where they would go. There was no use in selecting a range out of Toronto that would not be convenient for the local corps. The first move in the direction of a new range had not been made, and therefore it was important to retain the range they had. The lease was practically perpetual unless the Government desired to retain the object of the property of

NOVA SCOTIA'S ATTORNEY-GENER-AL PAYS US A VISIT.

A MESSENGER FROM ACADIA

Talk with the Distinguished Gentles From the Salt Water Province at The Grange-He Discourses on the Natural Products and Advantages of His Eastern Home—The Great-Collier Strike,

At The Grange last evening The World had a talk with Hon. J. W. Longley, Attorney-General of Nova Scotia, who is the guest of Dr. Goldwin Smith for a day or two.
Mr. Longley left Halifax about a fortnight ago and has spent the interval in Montreal and in the vicinity of Brockville. His visit west is purely a pleasure trip. The Attorney-General is a well-preserved man of perhaps five and forty. He is a good conversation-alist, affable and courteous, and if The World is any judge a powerful debater, being elever at fence and a master of sar-

"Nova Scotia is very prosperous at the present time," said Mr. Langley. "There is no department of trade in which the prospects do not look of the brightest. The new sus will, I believe, show the popul the province to be considerably over 500,000. By the last census we had a popular 440,000. Our natural growth would have been larger, however, but for the exodus. To what cause do I attribute the exodus? Well, I can hardly say. Nova Scotia is a better country and her resources are greater than any state those leaving locate in. The than any state those leaving locate in. The fact that Boston is within $5 and a few hours' ride of any section of the province, coupled with the additional facts that the capital of the Bay State is a more attractive city and that higher wages are paid both in the manufacturing establishments and to domestic servants, may explain the emigration.

Developing the Mines.

"The mines of the province are being constantly developed. The gold mines are making satisfactory progress and Nova Scotia.

ing satisfactory progress and Nova Scotisholds its own, but you may say that I am under the impression that the volume of trade would be much vaster were the duties removed which now prevent the coal from being sent into the New England States. The largest steel works in Canada are located at the Acadia mines, which are doing remarkably well. The steel works at New Glasgow are also being enlarged and are doing an extensive business. There can be no doubt if Nova Scotia mine owners had free access to the United States markets their trade would be enormous, as with coal and iron Cart Manley R.G., and Lieut, Lauskaii, 19th Bath, moved that the association disapport authorities and the control of the canadian Riffs League. He thought some such step was necessary in view of the period of the state of affairs that the second control of the control of the
