Mercantile Summary.
 OWING to the depression in the tea trade of New York five firms have succumbed with aggregate liabilities of $1,850,000.
 AT A meeting of the Hamilton Board of Trade on Tuesday the 19th, the question of butter inspection was discussed, when the great importance to the trade of the city likely to result from such inspection was dwelt upon by Mr. Adam Brown, Mr. Gregory, and others. Examiners were also appointed to examine candidates applying for the office of inspector.
 IT HAS been rumored for a fortnight past that the suspension of the Joseph Hall Manufacturing Company was about to take place, and now we hear that the event has happened. The immediate cause is stated to be the return of certain foreign bills for a considerable amount drawn against machinery shipped to Great Britain. The management has been altogether too speculative, and the capital diffused too widely and locked up. Doubtless the company suffered seriously from the vicious system in vogue of long-drawn out credits to farmers for agricultural implements. We would be glad if the fortunes of the enterprise can be resuscitated, and a new beginning made under a more prudent policy of management.
