

which has not on it a too large quantity of merchantable wood. If the lot has not been classified then the agent is obliged to sell once he has the proof that the lot is not for cultivation and does not contain too large a quantity of merchantable wood. Thus what greater inducement is there for the speculator than that offered by the present law ?

Difficulties system will offer

If in creating these reserves we could immediately pick out Crown Lands upon which the Limit Holders do not hold any claim, it would be a very easy task then for the Honorable Minister to create his Colonization Reserves, but as it is, we are obliged in most cases, if not all, to choose these reserves from lands that are now under license to Limit Holders. If the Honorable Minister decides to open up a reserve in a limit that is being worked in good faith by a bona fide Limit Holder, and he finds that he will need four ranges of this limit for a reserve, and that he can immediately find sufficient men to settle at
