

man from the beginning his movement upward toward the Divine.

As Browning, in "Paracelsus," says:—

" 'Tis time
New hopes should animate the world, new light
Should dawn from new revealings to a race Weighed down so long, forgotten so long; thus shall
The heaven reserved for us at last receive Creatures whom no unwonted pleasures blind,
But ardent to confront the unclouded blaze
Whose beams not seldom blessed their pilgrimage
Not seldom glorified their life below."
