

O heart of mine! the rattle and the battle in the street

Fills thee with courage, proudly—loudly, while thy forces beat

Against its casement dreary!

Ah! life it is not weary

When the toil is glad and sweet!