

THE DE BRISAY Analytical French Method.

A SCIENTIFIC METHOD OF ACQUIRING A THOROUGH
CONVERSATIONAL AND LITERARY KNOWLEDGE OF THE FRENCH LANGUAGE.

This method has nothing in common with the many superficial conversational methods which have lately appeared. It embraces a vocabulary of over 6000 words, presenting these words in such a manner that ten are almost as easily learned as one. The grammar of the language is taught analytically—from the language itself—and the reasons (historical and logical) are given for the principles noted. In this way, French grammar, instead of being a mass of arbitrary rules, is made logical, consistent, and full of interest.

Part I., 25 cents. First Step in French, 35 cents, (see advt. on front cover). Full course, including 5 books, correction of exercises, and tuition by mail, $10.00. Send for our free circular "The Royal Road to French".

Pronunciation by phonograph

We were among the first to use the phonograph in teaching languages, and we have had considerable experience with the same. There is no doubt but that persons, so situated that they cannot obtain any personal assistance with pronunciation, can receive valuable assistance from the phonograph. It is to some extent a substitute for a teacher. It will repeat the same words and phrases over and over again, thus enabling the student to learn them. Persons living in towns and cities would be foolish however to purchase a phonograph for the sole purpose of learning a language; they could obtain greater assistance from a living teacher at less cost. If a student already possesses a phonograph, the case is different, for the cost of a few records is not very great.

We can supply the student with records, for Latin, French or Spanish, at a cost of one dollar for each record, and an Edison phonograph for ten dollars, (freight not prepaid).
