help them in any way to get better terms from the company.

What Manager Whyte Says.

Manager Whyte said to-day that a committee had called upon the master mechanic, Mr. Cross, several times in respect to certain matters. They asked the minimum wages of 25 cents per hour, an increase in the rate paid for over time, and some changes of the snop rules. Mr. Cross told them that he would always be prepared to investigate every complaint about wages brought before him. He would also make enquiry as to the rate of pay in the shops on the ratilway lines to the south, and if those here were all being underpaid, then wages would be adjusted. The wages have been advanced lately from time to time, until the majority of the men would not be affected by the minimum rate proposed, 25 cents per hour.

Went to See Mr. Whyte.

The men did not seem satisfied with this answer of Mr. Cross, and came to see him (Mr. Whyte). He confirmed all that Mr. Cross had said and what Mr. Cross had written to them under date of Sept. 27, on the lines indicated above, and advised them to adopt this course. Mr. Whyte pointed out to the committee who waited upon him that it was hardly fair to the company, so to speak, to put a pistol at its head at this busy season, but they must remember that the rush would soon be over, and with winter there would be a slackening off, when jobs might not be so plentiful as they seemed now.

Might Affect Winnipeg.

Mr. Whyte pointed out to The World reporter that the strike might seriously affect Winnipeg. If the company could not get its engines repaired here, then they would send them east to Montreal, and it might result in the proposed important enlargement of the shops here next spring not being gone on with; but, listend, an increase of the shops in Montreal. of the shops in Montreal. Press Committee Formed

A member of the men's committee stated that at that time he was only in a position to give such facts as had become generally known. A Press Committee was formed this afternoon. The committee of the union first addressed the company through Mr. Cross on Sept. 1, and has been in negotiation with them ever since. As the negotiations proceeded very unsatisfactorily by letter, the General Committee came to Winnipeg last week. The committee endeavored to have an interview with Mr. Cross on Monday morning, but Mr. Cross would only see Chairman Bell Hardy, when he declined to discuss the matter with the General Committee, and his answer consisted of the letter promising to deal with cases individually, etc., as already stated.

Whyte's Threat Did It. A member of the men's committee stated

Whyte's Threat Did It.

The committee, considering this altogether unsatisfactory, went down to wait on Superintendent Osborne. Mr. Osborne was Superintendent of the committee, that is, the first three named. Their version of this interview is the same as that given by Mr. Whyte, and they add that Mr. Whyte stated to them that some for the committee had forfeited their positions by combag to Winnipeg without leave of absence. The Executive took, this to mean that certain members of the committee were thereby dismissed, but they contended that all had got leave of absence. The Executive took this to mean that certain members of the committee were thereby dismissed, but they contended that all had got leave of absence and some had got transportation, though some had not got leave of absence in writing. This, they consider, is the first act in the strike, dismissing some of the membry the company. There were mo threats made, bit both sides, they state, clearly understood that waiting on Mr. Whyte was the last resort, and that a strike was the next thing.
