Sitting in her salon beside a crystal ball, Baroness Irma von Coburg, famous prophetess, called the successor to Mme. De Thebes as the world's greatest seeress, and noted in Germany for her predictions on Italy entering the war on the entente's side, and Kaiser Wilhelm deserting his people, gave her prophecy for the coming year.

Emphatic on Warning. A part of Baroness von Coburg's horoscope was unintelligible, even to horoscope was unintelligible, even to my interpreter, because it concerned signs of the zodiac letters of the alphabet and numbers. The seeress didn't explain her statements, but flew from subject to subject, returning always to a warning about affairs between Japan and America Following is a stenographic report of her prophecy:

Oats—May, 411/3c; July, 411/3c.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—Unsettled economic conditions had a depressing influence today on the wheat market. Dowr turns in foreign exchange counted also as a bearish factor. Even with May delivery at a new low price record for the season, no important buying developed ayour form to the season, to the season of the season, the season of the season o livery at a new low price record for the season, no important buying developed except from short. Opening prices, which ranged from %c to 1%c lower, were followed by a slight raily and then by a sag much more than before.

Corn declined with wheat, and as a result of continued large receipts. After opening %c to %c lower, prices underwent a moderate further setback.

Oats were depressed by the action of other cereals, starting %c off to %c up, and later weakening all around.
