

FOR AND ABOUT WOMAN

THE LADIES.

Here's to the maiden of bashful fifteen!
Here's to the widow of fifty!
Here's to the flaunting, extravagant queen!

And here's to the housewife that's thrifty!
Let the toast pass—
Drink to the lass!
Till warrant she'll prove an excuse for the glass.

Here's to the charmer whose dimples we prize!
Now to the maid who has none, sir!
Here's to the girl with a pair of blue eyes!

And here's to the nymph with but one, sir!
Let the toast pass—
Drink to the lass!
Till warrant she'll prove an excuse for the glass.

Here's to the maid with a bosom of snow!
Now to her that's as brown as a berry!
Here's to the wife with a face full of woe!

And now to the dame that's merry!
Let the toast pass—
Drink to the lass!
Till warrant she'll prove an excuse for the glass.

For let 'em be clumsy, or let 'em be slim,
Young or ancient, I care not a feather:
So fill a pint bumper quite up to the brim.

So fill up your glasses, nay, fill to the brim,
And let us 'en toast 'em together!
Drink to the lass—
Till warrant she'll prove an excuse for the glass.

—Richard Brinsley Sheridan.

Bran Water for the Nerves.

Overworked and tired women who have "nerves" that are unruly should drink bran water with meals instead of eating white bread and butter or anything that comes handy when they feel faint. The phosphates in the bran will develop a steadiness of nerve that is particularly good by any other method of cure. To make the bran water add a coffee cupful of wheat bran (the ordinary bran that is sold to horses) to a pint of water that has begun to boil. Be sure the water is boiling before the bran is put in, and continue to boil it until the bran no longer floats on top. Do not put a cover on it while it boils. Shaking the saucepan helps to settle it. When the bran has settled cover it and boil slowly for ten minutes. Strain it into a pitcher and let it settle. This entire quantity should be taken in one day. The bran water does not taste particularly good, but neither does it taste bad, and in this age of white flour it is what every system needs.

The bride, Miss Alma Trojan, was attended in cream serge and carried pink roses. The groom, Mr. Kremer, was in a tuxedo and carried a sword. The couple left for Buffalo and Erie (Pa.). The bride's traveling suit was of blue silk and she wore a hat with white wings.

In the absence of the bride's father, Mr. T. G. Irwin gave her away. The wedding was assisted by Miss Kathleen Nowles and Mr. S. A. Hornbrook acted as best man. It's a Big Proposition. With the C. P. R. stretching from the broad Atlantic to the broad Pacific, and touching pretty nearly every summering place worth visiting in between, it's a big proposition for the advertising man to talk about every attraction, name every special summer rate, and draw pictures of the thousand and one spots where a vacation may be pleasantly spent. Somewhere there is just the place to suit you—why not look through the C. P. R. folders and drop in at the ticket office to talk the matter over? All our experience is at your command, and by the way, if you are a fisherman you will be interested to learn we are in a position to give some real information with regard to fishing, having recently received special reports from our agents at every point in the district. Call in to-day.

Bryan Wants Negro Vote. LINCOLN, Neb., July 23.—The determination of the Democrats to capture the negro vote of the country was further emphasized to-day when W. J. Bryan told a delegation of negroes from Lincoln that it was the desire that they should get in touch with their brethren everywhere and particularly in Ohio, and agree upon a line of campaign in behalf of the Democratic ticket.

Opposes Race Track License. WELLAND, July 23.—A local politician, who is not satisfied that Tom Crooks of Hamilton be given the sole rights for selling liquor at the Fort Erie racetrack, has retained a lawyer to quash the license.

Hays Asks Conference On the Suburban Service

G. I. R. Manager Seeks to Consider the Matter—Meeting in Toronto on Aug. 20.

The second vice-president and general manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, Charles M. Hays, has made an offer to the special suburban service committee of the city council, to meet its representatives in Montreal about the end of the present month. Just what attitude Mr. Hays may take on this occasion The World cannot more than guess. Nothing that he can say, however, can controvert the fact that Montreal is supplied with an adequate suburban service, while Toronto is not; that there is discrimination in the granting of commuter rates and that the commuters' rates for some 27 stations around Toronto are worthless, because the train service will not permit of the public taking general advantage of the questionable concession.

Conference August 20. In the meantime the committee of the city council have set Aug. 20, at 10 a.m., in the city hall, as the time and place when the suburbanites will meet the members in conference and the railway officials have been invited to be present.

The World urges the largest and most representative attendance possible in giving such publicity as the occasion justifies. Those who propose to assist in the demonstration by their presence should notify The World without delay, in order that this paper may give the department of industries and the special committee the most effective assistance in perfecting the work of organization.

The railway and the people of the suburbs are being brought together. Victory for the citizens of Toronto and her suburbs is in sight.

Mr. W. F. Wiesner, barrister, of Brampton, has been conducting a persistent campaign for commuters' rates over the Grand Trunk, and now has asked the board of control for the assistance of Corporation Counsel Fullerton in pressing his demands before the Dominion Railway Commission.

Exhibition Notes. The Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, this year promises to be all its name implies, and to be thoroughly representative of the industries, arts and productions of the entire country. Every province will be represented in the exhibits, the majority of them through their governments, and others through private exhibitors.

The exhibit of horses will include several prize winners at the recent Royal Show, Newcastle-on-Tyne, and some from the International Show at Olympia. It is anticipated that the exhibition will be stronger this year in horses than in any previous year. A number of classes especially devoted to the commercial horse are being included. Those classes are not, as many people suppose, confined to city-owned horses, but tradesmen are at liberty to enter from any part of the country.

It is requested that exhibitors making entries of saddle-horses and hunt-horses will, in every case where possible, give the name of the sire. The competition in the horse classes will be of an international character, several gentlemen resident in the United States having promised to send along exhibits.

In consequence of the anti-racing legislation in New York State, several breeders of thoroughbreds propose to send along their yearlings, to be sold at the time of the exhibition.

No fewer than 14 different excursions have already been arranged for the exhibition, from Pennsylvania and New York States. Two others are coming from Illinois, and one from as far off as Oregon. The scope of the exhibition has extended into Africa, and yesterday application for information was received from Durban.

It is possible that several pictures will find their way, temporarily, from the Corcoran Art Gallery, Washington, to the exhibition. What the paintings will be has not yet been definitely decided.

Sir Richard Cooper of Berkhamshead, England, will exhibit Lincolnshire, Shropshire and Southdown sheep. He will also send over some choice specimens of Tamworth pigs.

Entries for live stock, fine arts, natural history and women's and children's work close at the exhibition office, city hall, Toronto, on Wednesday, Aug. 6. Up to the present more than ten thousand number of entries have been received.

A proposition has been made to the executive to hold, as near as possible, an exact replica, so far as the athletic feats are concerned, of the Olympic meeting, now in progress in the great English metropolis.

The dog show prize list is now being distributed. It is on a more comprehensive scale than ever, and has infinitely more specials than in any previous year.

The executive express the hope that merchants decorating for Lord Roberts will preserve their decorations for use during the holding of the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto.

It is estimated that exhibits at the exhibition will amount in value to upwards of $12,000,000.

It is interesting to note that the grand stand, with the extensive lawn in front, at the exhibition, Toronto, last year gave accommodation to 189,240 people, an average for nine nights of upwards of 21,000 a night. The stage performance in front of the stand this year will be the strongest and most expensive ever placed before the public.

Waiters' Dire Threat. A despatch from Paris says: "Dire indeed is the threat made on behalf of the Paris restaurant waiters that if their employers do not yield to their demands they will bring their tyrants to their knees by disclosing the secrets of the kitchen, telling the public the conditions under which the food is cooked, even in the best restaurants; how sauces are made and other dreadful revelations."

The cleanest kitchen in the world will be open to public inspection by the customers of the restaurant. That is to say, every one who orders food in the restaurant may visit the kitchen and see the food prepared and cooked, so that they will see with their own eyes that the food supplied in the restaurant of the Robert Simpson Co., Ltd., is the best, in the best cooked, purest and cleanest obtainable.

Alexander Hamilton.

NO man—not even George Washington—has left a more lasting impression upon our higher laws and institutions than this romantic and handsome young Revolutionary General and Statesman, who died so tragically in a duel at the very zenith of his fame.

Upon every clause of the Constitution of the United States his individuality is indelibly stamped. Daniel Webster says of him: "He smote the rock of National resources and abundant streams of revenue gushed forth; he touched the dead corpse of public credit and it sprang upon its feet."

He believed in protecting the brewing industry, and drank good beer all of his days. REFERENCES: Appleton's Encyclopedia; Shouler's History U. S., p. 71, etc. Sumner's Life of Hamilton, p. 192.

In every glass is health; and what is health but efficiency and power? It comes to your table a delicious sparkling food—a wholesome malt beverage exhalant the aroma of hop gardens and the fragrant scent of new mown northern barley fields.

The little alcohol in it promotes cheerfulness of mind—which is the best of all medicines. The Lupulin in the hops soothes the nerves and acts as a digestive tonic; while the juice of the barley contains a high percentage of substantial nutriment.

The Tercentenary.

The scenes of ancient glory now being re-enacted at historic Quebec, and the fact that the principal participants are descendants of the former actors in this wonderful drama have created the most enthusiastic interest amongst the people of Ontario. As but few, comparatively speaking, of Ontario's sons or daughters will be spectators of the wonderful pageantry now being displayed on the historic Plains of Abraham, it is for The Sunday World to bring those gorgeous scenes to the eyes of the stay-at-homes. This week's illustrated section will be replete with views of the Tercentenary and the scenes being enacted there.

A paneled frontispiece of dazzling beauty, showing King Francis I. going out to meet Jacques Cartier; the court of King Henry IV. at Louvre, France; Champlain leaving France and receiving his commission; Jacques Cartier's arrival at Stadacona; picturesque and awe-inspiring scene of Iroquois Indians attacking the fort at Long Sault; portraits of many historical figures in the costumes then worn; views and scenes in the life of Gens. Wolfe and Montcalm.

There are many other features of local and general interest in this week's picture section, that, combined, makes a souvenir number that will appeal to all classes.

Remember, there is no increase in prices. For five cents The Illustrated Sunday World can be obtained from all newsboys, at all news and stationery stores, and on all railway trains and boats. Order early to insure securing a copy.
