Outside of the speculation in Dominion Steel, the other speculative issues in the market were somewhat disappointing. In almost every other issue but this, transactions were small, but this had no adverse effect, and prices were decidedly strong thruout the entire day, and offerings were readily accepted in many of the stocks, which appears to indicate that advances will be forced until the spectacular movement has exhausted itself. The one weak stock to-day was Rio, but there were no public buying orders of this issue, and in the absence of this, insiders took the shares at their own prices; the low figures made for the offerings being 95, a drop of nearly five points from the last transactions. Dominion Coaf was strong, and has been looked upon as the only real sequence of the movement in steel. Dealings in these shares were only of a light order, but every fresh purchasing order had to be executed at an advance. Except for the above mentioned issues, and the new high record RDWARE. SPECULATION CENTRES IN A FEW ISSUES.

Wednesday Evening, June 9.

Steel and coal practically absorbed all the speculative interest at the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. Altho speculation confined itself particularly to two or three specialties, there is still a feeling abroad that the market is widening, and that many who have hitherto confined their operations to the New York market have grown tired of this and see bigger opportunities in domestic securities. Outside of the issues mentioned above, the trading was small, but support to the general market was decidedly substantial, and offerings at present being made are of such small character as to leave room for quick upward movements should any concentrated buying develop. The investment shares, as is usual when speculation is the predominating factor in the market, were quiet, but with equally as firm an undertone as has hitherto been HERBERT H. BALL. witnessed.
