The Globe speaks of "cool indiffer-ence" in regard to the Bloor-street viaduct. If the main body of electors are opposed to the improvement, candi-cates for the mayoralty, beard of control and aldermanic seats, being quick to read public sentiment, would be easier to declare thems: lives also hostile. Instead, both Controller Hocken and Controller Geary have come out in vor of it. Every secker for a place the board has followed the good example and in every ward there are candidates outside the present mem-eers, who advocate the viaduct.

ry alderman with the exception of Ald R. H. Graham has shown by assistance to the eastern part of the lis voice and vote that he believes the viaduct must be built. It's now up will make Bloor-street what it ought the people, and, taking the vote on past money bylaws as a rasis, all that is needed is that 13,000 voters mark their ballots in its favor. A much arger supporting vote is, however, there is not one with a better business there is not one with a better business record, or more business capacity, than F. G. McBrien of ward six. Mr. Mc-Brien is a young man, a firm believer in Toronto and its future, and one who can be depended upon to work unselfishly in everything to advance the public interest. Last year he was defeated by a very narrow margin, and no doubt this year the city will be able to congratulate itself upon having at the council board a man of first-class business capacity, and one who on all question stands with the people. Mr. McBrien is a strong supporter of the McBrien is a strong supporter of the tubes, or at any rate of arming the city with the necessary legislation to use the tubes as a weapon in its contest with the street railway. While his interests are all in the west of the city, he will not be in any improper sense a sectional representative. He stands for the Bloor-street viaduct because he believes it will be of great
