In Belfast today, quiet prevails. The military gave permission to the Derry Orangemen to carry out a foundation stone-laying ceremony near the city. Previously the stone-laying had been prohibited in the fear of a demonstration.

A detail of troops occupied the city hall last night for protective purposes. Troops also were stationed in the former asylum on the Grosvenor road, while the castle yards also were garrisoned. No disorders were reported.

POLES CRIPPLED BY MANY DELAYS

Complain in Conference That Czechs and Austrians Are Holding Ammunition.

Warsaw, July 11.—The decision of the Polish government to appeal to the Spa conference for moral and material help in the fight against the Bolsheviks comes as a climax to a task extending over many months in securing ammunition held up in London by the refusal of workmen to load the ships and by the withholding of other shipments by the Czechs. It is declared in retaliation for the disagreement over the Teschen district plebiscite.

It is charged by the Poles that the Czechs delayed indefinitely a train of 35 cars of ammunition for which Poland had urgent need just prior to the Bolshevik attack. Austria is also said to have been hindering shipments, holding that they were contrary to the peace treaty. There has been a common prediction for months in various circles that unless ammunition was forthcoming the Poles would be forced to withdraw before the inevitable summer attack by the Bolsheviks. Poland claims never to have suffered a shortage in men and thousands are offering their services daily in the new army being organized in the hope of stemming the Bolshevik advance. It is estimated officially that three hundred thousand men and women have entered the service within two days.

A volunteer army of 15,000 was enlisted at Vilna, and the entire city of Lemberg is said to be determined to defend that city in the event of a Bolshevik advance. It is estimated that three hundred thousand men and women have entered the service within two days.

HAMILTON

Hamilton, July 11.—Erie, the six-year-old son of William and Mrs. Thompson, 115 Hope avenue, passed away in the General Hospital yesterday afternoon. While climbing a telegraph pole on Strachan avenue, the little fellow accidentally touched the electric wire, which proved fatal.

Poles here began a parade today to mark the 25th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne. Led by two bands upwards of seven hundred members of the order marched this afternoon through the Orange Hall to St. John.

A search for a leading gas pipe with a search light by the police, which was started by a fire at the residence of William Hosanas, 250 North John street, last night, but slight damage was done.

The midsummer regatta of the Hamilton Rowing Club, held yesterday afternoon, attracted an attendance of about 1,000 and provided keen competition. About 10 o'clock, a motor launch, carrying a party of about 15, was struck by a crew of the No. 3, Tom Carter, No. 2, and Joe Skibby, who were in a launch in an exciting finish. The singles race was won by Morris Middleton.

THIRTY AUTOMOBILES DESTROYED BY FIRE

Fire which broke out at Delaware garage, Delaware avenue, yesterday morning, destroyed 30 automobiles and caused damage amounting to several thousands of dollars. The blaze started in the garage, when no one was in the building, and spread to the houses before the fire was noticed and a alarm sent in.

The garage is the property of L. G. Rundle and all of the cars except three were insured. Most of the automobiles had been repaired, repaired and upholstered, which increased the amount of the damage.

WILHELM'S BROTHER BRUTALLY TREATED

Field Laborers Invaded His Palace and Made Him Run the Gauntlet.

Berlin, July 11.—An almost incredible story of the ill-treatment of the former German emperor's brother, Prince Henry of Prussia, by a riotous gang of field laborers, is told by The Ost Preussische Zeitung, which asserts that it had the information direct from Prince Henry's family circle.

According to the informant, some time ago a gang of 60 men, led by a private in a Hussar's uniform, and wearing a big red rosette, invaded the Hemmelmark estate, Prince Henry's Schleswig-Holstein country seat, on the pretext of searching for hidden arms. The invaders turned the place inside out, but found no arms. Then the leader said to the prince: "Come, Henry," whereupon Prince Henry was made to run the gauntlet, being hit by numerous kicks and blows. Afterward he was locked up in a jail at Beronkerde, where he was tortured nightly. He was awakened every 15 minutes with kicking. "Lie down, Henry. Turn on the light," amid jeers and insults from his torturers.

Many other Schleswig-Holstein landowners have been the victims of assault and ill-treatment by armed guards.

GERMANY'S PLAN OF REPARATION

that a certain sum should be agreed upon, after the payment of which Germany should be completely free; that the payment of this sum should be made in various amounts; that a schedule be worked out, and that it should not be absolutely regular in character, because it is impossible at a time of such a feeling that hatred and a desire for revenge will not disappear so long as this has not been done. The German government has, therefore, also the plan of requiring the peace treaty to do so, undertake participation in the rebuilding of these districts. It declares itself ready to take part in the rebuilding and to supply German workmen under German authority.

Upon this basis a German commission in September, 1919, made a brief inspection of northern France. The German government is willing to undertake the rebuilding of the great-ly destroyed regions of northern France. The German government has also considered the help required. It recommends in the common interest that an international syndicate be formed, in which all states shall participate in the restoration of the industrial and agricultural regions, as well as means of transportation, and in the rebuilding of houses, former residences or for new settlers.

This syndicate shall deal with contractors and engineers, and shall be allied and neutral countries, as well as from Germany. The profits from all work of this kind shall be reasonable, and contractors and laborers shall be treated on an equal basis, whether Germans or other nationalities.

The note says that the reparations commission has not yet established what is to be delivered in the way of cattle, tools and raw materials, or what entire factories are to be restored, but that Germany is ready to make these deliveries to the extent which her resources will permit.

The German government proposes a rather intricate plan of organization of its own industries in the various states of Germany for the purpose of making these deliveries.

The plans session of the conference began at 5:30 this evening with Lord Curzon representing Great Britain, instead of Mr. Lloyd George, who was confined to his room all day with a cold. The conference immediately took up the coal question, the experts having failed to come to an agreement. Chancellor Feilenbach, Dr. Simons, Herr Stinnes and members of the German delegation had previously conferred lengthily on the subject.

Dr. Simons, at the outset of the session, remarked that coal was the central point of the whole economic life of Germany. "The solution given to the coal question by the experts," he said, "will rest upon the different plans of reparations prepared by the German delegation, which had understood that an agreement which would take into account the economic conditions of the coal industry in Germany would be arrived at. The plans cannot be handed over this evening, as was expected."

Premier Millerand expressed surprise that the communication of the German plans, as announced yesterday, should be brought into question and subordinated to the experts' solution of the coal question.

Dr. Simons rejoined that the German delegation had prepared plans that must be studied as a whole to be understood.

The German delegation, retired to reconsider the matter, and on the resumption of the session the foreign secretary declared that since the final decision regarding coal could not be taken until tomorrow, the German delegation had decided to hand over the plans as prepared, but he added that the substitution of an open discussion by the allied and German delegations for one-sided decisions on various questions.

"The question of coal is a question of life or death to the Germans," said

WAS BIG SURPRISE TO HYDRO KNIGHT

Government's Attitude Toward Radicals Came as Bolt From Blue.

St. Catharines, Ont., July 11.—At a big mass meeting here Friday night, Sir Adam Beck vigorously attacked the Drury government for appointing a royal commission to investigate Hydro radicals. His audience was in complete accord with him throughout, and punctuated his remarks with frequent applause.

The under-current running thru the speeches was an accusation that the C. P. R. is responsible for the turn of events.

Sir Adam said he appeared as a more or less disappointed servant of the people. He could not conceive that any government would protect the action of the Drury cabinet. "It came as a bolt from the blue," he declared. "It is enough to alarm any man who has anything about public ownership. The past has taught us what to expect. There are several forms of public ownership. One is governmental, always contaminated and cursed by politics," (Cheers.)

Inquiry as to sanity. "Who cares for an honest investigation of honest organizations?" asked Sir Adam in tones of biting sarcasm. The Whitney and Hearst governments would not pressure a man to bear witness against them, but it was left to the Farmers' government to succumb. "It is a new government and for that reason only can we forgive them for what they have done. A new government without previous experience in this great work have succumbed to the demands of our enemies." Here the speaker paid a warm tribute to Col. Carmichael, a member of the government and also of the Hydro-Electric Commission, describing him as an intelligent, fearless farmer and a fair-minded man, honest in his convictions. He was one of the three who had headed the new government, and he was the only one who had not been made by Sir Adam to the Dominion government for the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway, the Toronto Suburban and the Toronto Eastern on behalf of the municipalities. "I suppose this Royal Commission may be entrusted to enquire if you are sane in wanting to run the radicals," he continued with some motion.

Mr. Raney's Effrontery. Sir Adam was amazed at the "effrontery" of the attorney-general in stating that it was to be decided whether the government or the people would operate a radial system which he thought it was to be decided when the broad question of policy had already been established and was in operation by the Hydro-Electric Commission in Windsor and Sandwich, where the railway had been paid for in their own bonds guaranteed by the province.

It was absurd for the Drury government to assume they were undertaking the financial responsibility of carrying out a radical scheme when the action of legislation they were not bound for Hydro bonds, except those they might have secured from the Ontario government with the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto is to refuse to guarantee the bonds.

It was inconceivable to him, said Sir Adam, that radicals should ever be a political force in the future. He would stake his reputation that neither of the three ratepayers would ever vote for a party not going to turn in his coat. All it is to ask that the government keep its hands off the Hydro-Electric Commission and let them do their own business, and not to interfere with the Hydro-Electric Commission in politics have established them in Windsor and other districts.
