MARKET SQUARE W. H. Thorne & Co., Ltd. KING STREET

MORNING WAR CABLES

London, Aug. 8.—Reuter's correspondent at Petrograd transmits the following:

"The Bourse Gazette learns from an unimpeachable source that the German emperor made an offer of peace to Russia last week, through the King of Denmark. The answer sent to the king stated that the question of peace negotiations could not be raised at the present time."

London, Aug. 7.—The correspondent at Amsterdam of the Exchange Telegraph Company hears from Berlin the early resignation of Gottlieb Von Jagow, the German foreign secretary is probable.

The foreign secretary's successor, the correspondent adds, probably will be Dr. Alfred Zimmermann, under secretary of foreign affairs.

London, Aug. 8.—The Germans continue to make progress in all directions in their efforts to cut off the retreat of the Russian army from the Polish salient. They have commenced an attack on the fortresses of Kovno and Osovets, which are among the obstacles they must overcome in order to reach the railway running from Warsaw through Vilna, and Drinsk to Petrograd.

They have taken in the minor fortress of Serech, at the junction of the Narw and the Bug, and have crossed the Vistula in the vicinity of Warsaw. Further south General Woytych is advancing eastward, but Field Marshal Mackensen is being stubbornly resisted and apparently making, at the best, very slow progress.

On the whole the daring scheme mapped out by the Germans as a grand sequel to the capture of Warsaw—the destruction of the Russian army—is unfolding itself slowly, as must be the case from its very magnitude. With the three main railways, besides those built since the war, it is believed in military circles here that the Grand Duke Nicholas will be able to extricate his Warsaw army. The events in the east, however, will continue to rivet the attention of the world on them for some time to come.

ROBT. B. MANTELL,
WELL KNOWN HERE,
ENTERS "MOVIES"

Famous Actor to Play
With Fox Co. in Modern Drama

NOTES OF STAGE AND SCREEN

London Run of "Peg"—Emmy Wehlan Picture Recruit—Alien Actors Under Suspicion—The Revue Players

The latest recruit from the legitimate stage to the movies is Robt. B. Mantell, an actor, who is well known in St. John. He has signed with the William Fox Movie—Picture Company to act in the pictures of the modern drama. His wife, Genevieve Hamper, will appear with him.

In announcing the engagement of the Mantells, Mr. Fox took a fling at the theatrical managers who have forbidden their stars to appear in pictures, by saying: "Artists appearing under my management in photo-plays in future will not be permitted to appear on the speaking stage during the current season of their picture performances. This specification will be embodied in every contract. It is a picture stage today has reached a magnitude, artistic and commercial, sufficient for us to assure the patrons of the silent drama the exclusive services of the greatest dramatic artists."

Actors in England, particularly those not of British birth, who neglect to observe the new regulations in regard to registration, lay themselves open to considerable trouble in court. Recently at Grimsby, one of the "prohibited areas" within the meaning of the Defence of the Realm Act, Peter Henry Gardner, an American actor, who has achieved considerable fame in England as the original Carl von Pumpernick in "The Belle of New York," was arrested, charged with being an alien and failing to register.

Detective-inspector Tertelien, chief alien's registration officer, stated that Mr. Gardner had failed not only to register himself as an alien, but also to fill in the registration form at the theatrical apartments where he was staying. Mr. Gardner said he was born in Fifth Avenue, New York, and was a member of the original "Belle of New York" Company. He had been twenty-four years in England, touring with various companies, and he had visited Grimsby several times. He understood that a German had played Carl von Pumpernick, but that the man had been in he had not realized that registration was termed since the war. As an American an alien was necessary.

The magistrate said it was a serious matter for an alien to be found within a prohibited area, but having regard to Mr. Gardner's nationality and his long residence in England, he imposed only a nominal fine—one guinea.

Barry O'Neill, among the best known of feature producers and credited with the production of the majority of Lubin features within the last year, has severed his connection with the Lubin Company. It is understood that the producer's contract had at least another year to run, but that he prevailed on the company's officials to terminate the agreement.

The Frohman offices announce the fall production of a new playlet by Sir James Barrie in conjunction with the revival of Captain Marshall's comedy, "The Duke of Kilbricken." In the Marshall play Marie Tempest, Ann Murdoch, Francis Wilson, and Graham Brown will play the leading roles.

Beverly Bayne and Lillian Drew are reported as recent additions to the Essanay company working in Connecticut, having been brought from the Chicago studio. Rumor also has it that Darwin Karr, a former Vitagraph and Solax star, will join the Eastern Essanay forces in the near future.

The Revue Players

The engagement of the Homans' Musical Revue with Jere McAuliffe featured at the Opera House, continues to win popular favor. Last week's bills were on a par with the others they have given, bright, sparkling, and pleasing with an abundance of song, dance and laughter which appeal to all theatre-goers. Two more changes are promised for the following week, after which the company will return to the states.

An especially pleasing feature to many who enjoy them was Mr. McAuliffe's "digging up" parodies, this week. He had a big bundle of 'em, and they were all good. What mattered if one or two had been heard before, so long as Jere was singing them they were new again, for he has an inimitable manner of putting them over the footlights. An engagement of Jere McAuliffe in St. John without a score or more of parodies would be like Christmas without a turkey. And he has promised more for the balance of his stay.

The most popular player in London of the present season are "Potash and Perlmutter" and "My O' My Heart," both of American origin. The first has had an unfinished run to August 1 of 322 performances, while "Potash" has registered 340 performances. Other highly successful attractions are "The Man Who Stayed at Home," with 275 performances, "Quinn," with 142; "On Trial," another American play, with 117; "Odds and Ends," with 267; and nine pieces with concluded runs varying from 100 to 200 performances.

Elsie Janis returned from London on Sunday to play the leading role in "The Missing Link," the Globe Theatre, New York, under the management of Charles B. Dillingham.

"The Missing Link" is a comedy with a little music. The pictured version of "Salvation Nell" adapted from Edward Sheldon's play of the same name, will soon be ready for release, and advices from the Pacific coast, from those who have seen the photoplay in a private showing are enthusiastic in their praise. It is stated that Beatrice Mitchell, who has the feature role will greatly exceed the reputation she acquired in "Mignon." The picture was produced by the California Motion Picture Corporation.

The Essanay Company has begun the erection of a complete lumber camp for a realistic setting in "The Man Trail," a red-blooded story of the rugged primitive type of the logging country. Essanay has found an ideal wild spot at the "Pines" five miles from Waukegan, Ill., for the camp. Some of the scenes, however, will be taken at Starved Rock, Ill., one of the most picturesque spots in the country. Several carloads of lumber have been shipped from Chicago to construct the necessary buildings, and a complete camping outfit also has been shipped as the company will live there for the two or more weeks required to take the scenes. The camp will be very complete in every detail. It is constructed under the supervision of Captain E. H. Calvert, who will direct the picture. The notice of an actress secured from camps in the north woods especially for this picture, Richard C. Actors in England, particularly those not of British birth, who neglect to observe the new regulations in regard to registration, lay themselves open to considerable trouble in court.

Crumble-proof

3—Crumble-proof

ALL chewing-gum is at sword's point with the thermometer. Up north the cool, crisp days, and down south the extreme heat try in different ways to urge gum into a crumbly condition.

But no matter when or where you buy Sterling Gum you will find it crumble-proof. You will find that each stick quickly becomes a velvet-bodied confection.

So you will always find real enjoyment in Sterling Gum while hunting for that 7th point.
