GOOD SEASON IN WOODS EXPECTED

Lots of Employment in N. B. Forests Is Belief of Chief Scaler.

Fredericton, N. B., Sept. 10.—Practically unlimited prospects of employment in the lumber woods of New Brunswick during the coming season were predicted this morning by A. T. Murchie, chief scaler of the Department of Lands and Mines on his return from an inspection tour of the province. He said that there was no reason why the total cut on Crown lands this season should not reach three hundred million feet. Last season the cut on Crown lands amounted to 220,000,000.

In Restigouche county alone, where to 220,000,000.

In Restigouche county alone, where the greater proportion of the season's fire damage has been concentrated, it is estimated that the season will equal if not surpass the 100,000,000 mark which was established last season.

Mr. Murchie stated 'that he believed final and complete returns of forest fire damage in the province would be considerably under the first estimates of a billion feet.

She went from the North Station to the South Station by taxicab, and was met at the South Station by a porter who took her bags into the waiting room. These he deposited on the bench by the side of Mrs. Lucas. About fifteen minutes later a man who announced himself as a porter entered the waiting-room, walked directly up to Mrs. Lucas and picked up the travelling bags. "Your train is ready," he said, and walked ahead of her out of the door of the waiting room. She was in a hurry and did not notice particularly the color of the uniform or cap that he wore, but was under the impression that they were similar to those usually worn by the South Station porters. The bogus porter took a sharp turn to the left while crossing the open space in front of the train shed and disappeared.

PLAYS PORTER AND consequences of the U. S. navy major marine disaster in Pacific

The warships went ashore while cruising from San Francisco to San Diego Saturday night shortly after nine p.m. in a dense fog. Mistaken position in relation to the coast line is believed to have caused the crash. The destroyers were speeding through the fog, hugging the shore in single file formation when they piled up on the rocks from 200 to 500 yards apart about 300 yards off shore.

Washington, Sept. 10.—The theory was expressed today by high naval officials that a tidal wave or other seisficials that a tidal wave or other seismic disturbance, reacting from the Japanese earthquake, caused the disaster to destroyer division eleven off the California coast yesterday.

A message received at the naval department early today from Admiral Robison, commanding the U. S. Pacific fleet, said no movable material could be salvaged from the seven U. S. destroyers stranded on the California coast at Point Honda, until the heavy surf abated. The message did not refer to the number of lives lost. It read as follows:

"All survivors of stranded destroy—"All survivors of

"All survivors of stranded destroyers have been sent to San Diego by train and remaining by destroyers of destroyer squadron number eleven. No movable material can be salvaged until heavy surf abated. Then will require protracted efforts. Commander destroyer squadron of battle fleet has been directed remain in charge until further orders. Officers and men of Woodbury and Fuller reported saved. No further news."
