Expulsion of Greek Royal Family Interpreted As Revolutionist Coup To Establish Republic

KING GEORGE II.

(By Charles P. Stewart)
Washington.—Elimination of the Greek royal family, the Glucksburgs, from the throne, and the establishment of a republic, is the result of a revolutionist coup in Greece.

His son Constantine succeeded him. Constantine got into trouble by his refusal to join the allies when the World War broke out. He said it wasn't to Greece's interest to enter the allies—and many Greeks said it was because of his friendship, cemented by a German marriage, for the central powers. The Germans being beaten, he lost his throne in 1917 and his second son, Alexander, became king. Alexander died in 1920 and Constantine came back.

As king again, Constantine went to war with Turkey for Asia Minor. Not only were the Greeks beaten, but 1,000,000 Greek refugees from Turkey were dumped into the country—a fifth its population.

KING GEORGE II.

Then George II came to the throne. Greek affairs have gone from bad to worse ever since.

PREVENTING PNEUMONIA.

In many cities and clinics at present, those who have charge of the health programmes are turning their attention to preventing coughs, colds, sore throats and pneumonia.

The fight is on against pneumonia as strong as it has been fought in the past against typhoid fever and the white plague. In the past ten years the fight has been waged stronger than ever, and food, clothing and living conditions as regards sanitation, air and ventilation, are going to be vastly improved and help reduce this killer.

The air or temperature conditions of your home or office can be regulated by having an average temperature of not more than 60 or 65 degrees. The warmer you keep your habitation the better chance you have of contracting pneumonia. It has been clearly proved that it is a contaminated or warm-air disease. Clean, cool, well-ventilated places of abode seldom ever produce any colonies of "cold" or pneumonia germs.

It is imperative for you to treat a light cold or chill at once. To prevent spreading always sleep alone in a separate place while suffering from beginning symptoms.

One of the very strongest means of preventing pneumonia is to be sure and keep a clean mouth and nose. A mouth that is hygienically healthy will do more to prevent pneumonia and keep you on health's highway than any other agency.

Bathe as regularly during the colder months as you do in the warmer ones. The skin is a lung accessory and must be kept healthy if both young and old would prevent the danger of pneumonia.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

THE HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT

Jack's mother had several barrels pressed into order.

There was to be a party in the House That Jack Built! A sort of house warming, you might say, for the house was just finished, and Jack and his mother and Jill, his sister, had just moved from their old house on Pippin Hill to the pretty little cottage on Brown street, named in honor of Mother Goose.

Jack thought they ought to change the name of the street to "Dust-Pan" in honor of Daddy Gander, as Mother Goose was away so much, but Daddy Gander wouldn't hear to it. He said it was bad enough to have one secret to keep without another one to worry him. He meant the secret about the sign that he and Tom Tinker had changed "round-the sign" which said "Mother Goose Her Land." They had turned it over and printed "Daddy Gander Her Land" on the other side.

Well, anyway, the party in Jack's House on Brown Street was going to be a wonderful affair. Peter Peter Pumpkin Eater helped to decorate, and to use his own words, as he had more empty pumpkin shells than fifty growing lobsters, he said he would cut Jack's lantern faces on every one and put candles inside, provided the Candlestick Maker would donate them for nothing.

What's that, my dears? Fifty growing lobsters wouldn't have any pumpkin-shells! Why, of course not, they would leave empty lobster-shells! How stupid of me! But I do believe you knew what I meant all the time.

But to get back to the party! If we don't stop talking about decorations and lobster-shells and so on, the party will be over and there won't be a room to tell about it.

And Misses Peter, who was no end grateful for the Twins helping her to get a nice new dress, offered to make some pumpkin pies.

So I will say the Peterses did their part to make the party a success.

And the Bakerman sent word that as there would likely be a few The Jack Horners, who didn't care for pumpkin, he would be most happy to bake a big mince pie and mark it with "J" instead of "P." He didn't say whether the "J" was to be in honor of Jack or Jill or Jack Horner. But perhaps it was for all of them.

That for pies!

And there was to be elder! The apples grew so thick and juicy on Pippin Hill that Jack's mother had had several barrels pressed into order. And indeed, it was reported that it was her own good elder-vinegar that had cured the little boy's head when he fell.

And they had ice-cream and cake too! But there! I'll have to tell you about the party tomorrow. For legs at the wrong end and told about the refreshments first.

SERGEANTS' MESS CHRISTMAS TREE

Santa Claus Does Justice to Children of Members of Organization

The annual Christmas tree arranged for the children of the members of the Garrison Sergeants' mess was held on Monday evening according to the established custom and it was a wonderful success. There were about 100 of the children present and they were assembled when Santa Claus arrived in his automobile. Santa Claus was in fact Sgt. Landry and he explained that his reindeer got lost near Robtsey and he was obliged to come on as quickly as possible so he took an automobile. He shouldered a heavy pack that contained a marvelous array of presents.

The Christmas tree was placed in the lecture room and it was gayly decorated and laden with good things. Each child received a specially chosen present as well as candy, nuts and fruit and a treat of ice cream. Some children who were not specially invited strayed to the Armory at the time of the treat and were pathetic appearing spectators.

They were quickly made at home and received a share in the good things. The members of the Garrison Sergeants' mess did things in splendid fashion when they planned for the treat and the children found it a great delight. They specially enjoyed the good fun created by Santa Claus.

CELEBRATION AT LUDLOW ST. CHURCH

Entertainment for Children is Given on New Year's Eve.

The Christmas tree and entertainment at the Ludlow street Baptist Sunday school was held on New Year's eve and proved so popular an event that the school hall was packed to capacity. R. H. Parsons, the superintendent, presided and gave a short address of welcome. The programme was exceptionally well presented. Following the singing of Jingle Bells, Miss Dorothy Rupert took the pantomime part for the song "Holy Night" and the coming of the wise men and the manger scene were also given with R. J. Rupert, George Vincent and Donald Cheyne taking the parts of the wise men.

ODDFELLOWS CELEBRATE

The New Year's Day gathering of the Oddfellows of the city lodges was held yesterday in the rooms of Peers Lodge, No. 19, in Simonds street, with representatives of Peers, Oliver and Golden Rule lodges present. The meeting was largely attended and was presided over by Deputy Grand Master, W. R. Sanderson. An excellent programme was carried out, consisting of songs by W. A. Seeger, Harry Robinson, Gilbert Murdoch and John Bennett, readings by U. G. Staples, Charles Ledford and John Bennett and speeches by M. D. Brown, Frank Haines of Chippewa Lodge, of Peers, N. S. Charles Hannah, C. W. Seeger, A. Boyer, G. A. Chase, D. G. Lingley, W. J. Wakson and George Gorham. The speeches were a splendid inspiration. The chairman gave an opening address before the programme and his remarks were very well received. F. W. Stanton was the accompanist.

COURT TO REPLACE HON. L. P. BRODER

According to a report current in semi-official circles. With this report was another that the new judge might become immediately chief justice through the resignation of Sir Louis Davies, or that at least he would occupy this post within a few months.

SINKS AND DRAINS

Use a little of Gillett's Lye when the kitchen or bathroom drains are clogged. It works wonders! Use it also for cleaning and disinfecting. Very effective for softening water, making soap, cleaning dirty floors and greasy utensils. It has over 500 different uses and a can should be kept handy in every home. Avoid costly and dangerous substitutes. Insist on the genuine.
