THE CHIEF SCOUT

To be the head of a movement that has spread throughout the empire and is attracting attention in all countries is a distinction that comes to few men. It has been won, however, by an unassuming soldier and gentleman who is today in this city—Gen. Baden-Powell, the head of the Boy Scout movement.

No man of equal distinction ever came to St. John with so little attendant ceremony. His presence was not known until some time after he had arrived, and his identity was not suspected at the hotel where he had registered.

St. John will have no further excuse for not taking up with enthusiasm the Boy Scout movement. This city has complained much about its boys, and has failed to find for them that scope for their activities which would develop manhood and avert the consequences of evil companionship and influences.

St. John welcomes Sir Robert Baden-Powell for what he has been as a soldier, but more on account of what he is as the builder of young manhood in the empire and the world.

THE EXHIBITION

The second week of the exhibition has opened under sunny skies and with the promise of additional attractions that should draw thousands upon thousands within its gates. The people of the city have got the "exhibition habit" and it seems quite the natural thing, especially in the evening, to traverse the "white way" to the turnstiles.

THE TARIFF TALK

The Ottawa Free Press suggests an increase in the British preference as a partial solution of the problem of a reduced tariff. The Free Press points out that there is a considerable demand for tariff reduction, and that it is not confined to the west, though stronger there than elsewhere.

"How it would confound those fellows who are trying to drag Canadian loyalty through the dirt in order to aid an English political party if Canada were to increase the tariff preference which she now accords the Motherland. They are telling the British people that unless they allow themselves to be further taxed in the interests of the Canadian farmer, the empire will lose Canada to the United States. Of course it is a gross libel, but the statement is being made so persistently in the great newspapers controlled by the tariff reformers in England that doubtless many readers are coming to believe it. And when men of the high standing of Sir James Whitney, after falling into the clutches of such socially and politically influential personages as Lord Northcliffe, confirm the suggestion that Canada's loyalty is a commercial commodity open to barter, shall we wonder if the unpleasant opinion of an agreed-for party purpose eventually takes root?"

The Montreal Witness, which is a pronounced free trade journal, contends that the movement for tariff reduction in Canada is so formidable that account must be taken of it, and lay the responsibility for it upon the high protectionist party. We quote:

"Those English tariff reformers who have tried to persuade themselves that the free trade spirit of the Canadian west is of little account and hardly to be taken into consideration for practical purposes will be displeased to learn that a strong deputation is being organized by the three western provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, to go to Ottawa directly after parliament meets, for the purpose of reiterating and emphasizing the demands for tariff reduction which the organized farmers of the west made so vigorously during Sir Wilfrid Laurier's recent tour. We learn that the executive of the Dominion Grange is meeting in Toronto this week to consider the subject of Ontario's co-operation in the movement; and leaders of the western organization desire the co-operation of all the eastern provinces in the presentation at Ottawa of a demand for a reduction of the tariff in general and reciprocity with the United States in particular. We warned the immediate protectionists who have been constantly worrying the government for higher and higher duties on their own selfish interests of the Nemesis they were invoking; and they may chiefly blame themselves that the free trade movement has already gained such strength, and must now be taken very seriously into account by the government."

It must be noted, in connection with tariff matters, that negotiations with the United States for a measure of reciprocity will probably soon be opened at Ottawa by a delegation from Washington, and this fact adds another element of great interest to the general situation.

The Ottawa Free Press is quite right in denouncing any attempt on the part of Conservatives to convey the impression in England that Canadian loyalty to the empire is conditioned upon tariff preferences, and that journal's suggestion of a method of carrying conviction to the public mind in the mother country by increasing the Canadian preference is worthy of consideration. This country does not want free trade, nor such legislation as would make it a slaughter market. It does want a moderate movement in the direction of tariff reduction.

This is election day in Maine. As usual, both great parties expect a victory. The prohibition and socialist candidates for governor will somewhat divide the vote, but the fight is between the Republican and Democrat.

The Trail Magazine, published in Regina, in its September issue has this anecdote concerning Mr. R. L. Borden:—

"During the last general election a strong supporter of R. L. Borden met an equally ardent admirer of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, one morning after the opposition leader had spoken in their home town. 'Sound speech of Borden's last night,' said the former; 'every word of it was absolutely sound.' 'Yes,' said the Liberal as he passed on, 'that's all there was to it.'"

The tariff adviser of President Taft, who is now in St. John, believes that a reciprocity treaty between Canada and the United States can be negotiated, in a manner satisfactory to both countries. He states that the American people are under no delusions with regard to Canada. They understand its loyalty to the empire and its growing spirit of Canadian nationalism, and do not, therefore, look for any action that would sacrifice either of those. But there are directions, Mr. Pepper believes, in which mutual tariff reductions can be made with benefit to both countries. At all events, he approaches the subject in the right spirit.

The notable feature of the addresses of the Anglican bishops in St. John yesterday was their direct simplicity. The message was the old message, urging men and women to purity in thought and deed, in right relation with the divine life. The law of sacrifice and service, the temptations common to all, the strength that comes from God to them that seek it, were dwelt upon with earnestness and force. Every Sunday local ministers deliver the same message. Throughout the Christian world there is a growing unity of spirit among the churches, and a growing consciousness that not in emphasis upon minor points but upon the great essentials of the Christian faith is the kingdom of heaven to be brought to earth.

ALL DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION GOES IF FIVE MINUTES

A Little Diapepsin now Will Make Your Disordered Stomach Feel Fine and Healthy

Take your sour, out-of-order stomach—or maybe you call it Indigestion, Dyppepsia, Gastritis or Catarrh of Stomach; it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your Pharmacist and ask him to open a recent case of Peppin Diapepsin and let you eat one 22-grain Triangule and see if within five minutes there is any trace of your former misery.

The correct name for your trouble is Food Fermentation—Food souring; the Digestive organs become weak; there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become afflicted with loss of appetite, pressure at fullness, gas, eating vomiting, heartburn, griping in bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad breath, flatulence, constipation, pain in limbs, nervousness, nervousness, dizziness, or other similar symptoms.

OUR KIND OF A MAN The kind of man for you and me! He faces the world unflinchingly. And smiles, so long as the wrong resists. With a knotted faith and force-like fate; He lives the life he is preaching of. And loves where most is the need of love.

His voice is clear to the deaf man's ears And his face shines through the blind man's tears. The light shines out where the clouds were dim. And the widow's prayer goes up for him. The latch is clicked at the hotel door, And the sick man sees the sun once more.

And out o'er the barren field he sees Springing blossoms and waving trees, Feeling, as only the dying may, That God's own servants has come that way. Smoothing the path as it still winds on, Through the golden gate where his loved have gone.

The kind of man for me and you. However little of worth we do. He credits full, and abides in trust That time will teach us how more is just. He walks abroad and he meets all kinds of querulous and uneasy minds. And, sympathizing, he shares the pain Of the doubts that rack us here and there.

And, sympathizing, he shares the pain Of the doubts that rack us here and there. And, knowing this, as we grasp his hand, We are sure that he will not let us down. He looks on sin with pitying eyes. Even as the Lord, since Paradise— Else, should give us.

As scarlet, they would be white as snow— And feeling still, with a grief half dead, That the bad are as good as the good are bad. He strikes straight out for the Right—and he is the kind of man for you and me! —James Whitcomb Riley.

IN LIGHTER VEIN SIGNS OF AUTUMN The county fairs are marching round. The races are on the wing. The bands are in their glory fine, The cornstalk fiddles swing. The pumpkins struggle for the prize, The fat hog flicker of the dying fire. And for your loaves and glowing coals, The sleek sideshowman baits.

UNKIND. "Who are those two women on the boat?" "They are twins. The married one is five years older than her sister."—Ladies' Home Journal.

"You don't seem to print the results of the races." "Yes we do," said the editor of the Pinkville Palladium. "Why don't you print the bankruptcy news?"—Richmond Journal.

GOLF DEFINED On the terrace of a country club, overlooking a green dotted with sheep, a group of non-golfers were talking. A male non-golfer, who took his tea through a straw, said thoughtfully, "Golf might be defined as billiards gone to grass."

"Slepen on the green, I'd call it," said a female non-golfer. "Or the long flicker of the dying fire of athletics," sneered a young football player.

"The misuse of land and language," suggested a tennis champion. "No, no, you're all wrong," said a famous angler. "Golf is simply a game wherein the ball lies badly and the player well."—Louisville Times.

In the Edinburgh museum there is a magnet which weighs but 3 1/2 grains, yet it can lift 445 times its weight.

DON'T BE BALD

Nearly Anyone May Secure a Splendid Growth of Hair

I have a remedy that has a record of growing hair and curing baldness in 88 out of every 100 cases where used according to directions for a reasonable length of time. That may seem like a strong statement, but I mean to be, and no one should doubt it until they have put my claim to an actual test.

I am so certain of my Hair Tonic will cure dandruff, itching, itching, stimulate the scalp and hair, stop falling hair and promote hair growth, I personally give my positive guarantee to refund every penny and me if in every instance it fails to give entire satisfaction to the user.

Recall "R's" Hair Tonic as pleasant to use as clear spring water. It is delightfully perfumed, and does not grease or gum the hair. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. With my guarantee back of it, you certainly take no risk. Sold only at my store, The Retail Store, Charles R. Watson, 100 King Street.

GOOD SCHOOL SHOES

Beware of trash! Many stores are crying school shoes at prices wonderfully small. What of it, if the shoes are poor—coarse leather, spongy soles, carelessly made!

Pay as much as you can for school shoes; get Goodyear welt, if possible. It is stronger, easier, holds its shape better and is cheaper, though it costs more.

STRONGER, because only the best leather can stand the terrific pounding of the machine. EASIER, because the welt gives flexibility, and because the stitches are side-ways, not up and down; no hard ridge inside and no tacks in the shoe.

CHEAPER, because it wears longer and can be repaired better—the new sole can be sewed on—in others it must be pegged or nailed on. Goodyear Welt Shoes for Boys and Girls, $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50, all sizes. Other good School Shoes at $1.50 and $1.75.

HERO OF MAKEING GAME TO CITY YESTERDAY

Under the auspices of the Canadian Club, a mass meeting was being held in the Opera House at 3 o'clock this afternoon, addressed by General Sir Robert Baden-Powell, one of the greatest soldiers the British army has produced.

His meeting this afternoon was in connection with the Boy Scouts' Movement, and he explained the details of organization, and outlined the scheme in general.

At 3 o'clock the general was to inspect a body of Boy Scouts from Halifax, on the exhibition grounds. He will return to Ottawa this evening at 6 o'clock.

Speaking of the formation of Boy's Scouts the general said that the head of the movement in Canada was Earl Grey, and the idea is to have the lieutenant-governor of each province the official head of the work therein.

George B. Frolich of Lynnfield Center, raised a sunflower which measures 13 feet and four inches. The flower upon the top of the gigantic stalk was as large in diameter as the top of a flour barrel.
