But it is American territory, and that But it is American territory, and that probably settles the matter forever. Britain made a mistake when she let slip the opportunity of the Orimean War to take over Alaska and pay Russia its full value. Such an act would have prevented many boundary disputes and would have prevented many boundary disputes and would have splendidly rounded out Canada territorially. Twelve years later Russis offered, it for seven millions to the United States and the sale was instantly made. At that time the Americans themselves regarded the bargain as the purchase of a smowthank and much sarcasam was poured forth upon the heads of those responsible. It was not long however before the realization came that it was a wonderful bargain altogether. The Washington authorities in 1867 paid just $7,200,000 and were laughed at. Since that time, however, the country has produced gold to the value of $1,524, 364, copper worth $13,337,194, coal $355,499, other minerals $903,119, and fish and furs valued at $440,830,003, giving an enormous total of $470,399,063. The coal fields, according to the United States Geological Survey cover 12,667 square miles, occurring in all parts from the Canadian boundary to the Behring Sea, some of the seams reaching forty feet in thickness. One field alone, that of Bonnifield, is estimated to contain about ten billion tons. The deposits run from lignite to anthractie, those so far surveyed being more largely the former. Oil fields are also known to exist. The value of the fisheries for 1912 was $17,391,578; salmon, halibut and cod being the chief varieties.

The total value of the seal catch between 1867 and 1912 was $252,53,133; and of the land fare collected during the same period $22,216,832.

Sir George Reid on Imperial problems.

We have just had the pleasure of perusing a very able address delivered before the Royal Colonial Institute a couple of months ago by Sir George Reid, High Commissioner for the Australian Commonwealth in England, and the most brilliant of living Australian public men. In particular he touched very deftly the question of Naval defence, and, among other things, said:

"Australia may be right or wrong in deciding to have a fleet of her own. But I can see many good points about it. I confess that Australia's attitude in lietening to the cail of the sea seems to me to be a perfectly natural one, and her policy is bound to be imitated eventually. There were fears that the attractive and well paid employments on shore would prove a serious obstacle. This is not so, however, for the applications were so numerous that recruiting has been stopped. Australia's stitude in lietening to the cail of the sea seems to me to be a perfectly natural one, and her policy is bound to be imitated eventually. There were fears that the attractive and well paid employments on shore would prove a serious obstacle. This is not so, however, for the applications were so numerous that recruiting has been stopped. Australia is spending five million pounds a year to defend hereself if need be. The time must dome when Canada will have to undertake the defence of the Morth Atlantic, when South Africa must look after the middle distance was ters, when Australia and New Zealand must patrol the South Pacific, and India undertake a large share in defence in the sast, leaving England comparatively free textextexted here as hare in defence in the sast, leaving E to concentrate her naval power in Euro-pean waters. I think you can never reduce this great Empire to the pitiful condition of having nearly all its ships in one narrow sea. THE HALIFAX POWER CO. Planning to develop two sites on Indian River.

The Electrical News says;

The Halifax Power Company are planning to develop two sites on the Indian River, is miles west of Halifax. The upper station will include two units of 120 kv. a. each, one operating on a 90 fs. head from the Indian River water-shed and the other operating on 150 ft. head from the North East River water-shed; the latter water is carried over to the Indian River by means of a long pipe line. The lower station will include two units of 1200 kv. a. operating on 90 ft. head; in this station the step up transformers and high-tension gear will be placed.

These developments will render 5,600 h. p. available in Halifax, which will be carried over a duplicate transmission line by two separate routes. Transmission will be at 35,000 volts. It is the intention of the company to sell this power for lighting and industrial requirements in Halifax. Plans are well under way for the upper development of one transmission line and receiving station, and it is expected that this portion of the work will be proceeded with immediately. Messac C. H. & P. H. Mitchell, consulting and supervising engineers. Toronto, have charge of this developments. The Electrical News savs :
