ST. JOHN GIRL TRIES SUICIDE BY GAS

NEW YORK, May 18.—Regina Goldman a young woman of thirty who came to this city two weeks ago in search of work, from St. John, after carefully dressing herself in white lay down on the bed in the hall room of her boarding house on East Tenth street and turned on the gas with suicidal intent, on Wednesday.

She was out of favor with a stranger in the city, unsuccessful in getting employment and was very despondent. Mrs. Annie Spiegel and her neighbor, Mrs. Edman, smelling gas broke open the locked door to her room and rescued her unconscious, calling the ambulance.

Regina says she is sorry she was not allowed to die. She refuses to give the address or names of St. John relatives. She is held a prisoner in Bellevue Hospital on the charge of attempted suicide. She may recover, though she is very low.

MACAULAY BROS. & CO.

AND YESTERDAY'S FIRE

Macaulay Bros. & Co. are losing no time in overcoming the effects of yesterday's fire. Today their gents' furnishing department is open for business as usual, and it is hoped that on Monday the main building will be opened. The lower floor will not, of course, be available for some time, but the three upper floors will be ready and entrance will be from South Market street. No other buildings will be needed for the business. Mr. B. H. Macaulay today hoped that the insurance adjusters would be able to complete their work within twenty-four hours and this will probably be done. Mr. Macaulay is of the opinion that over and above the insurance the firm's loss will be at least forty thousand. He and his associates are, however, undaunted, and feel very grateful for the many expressions of sympathy extended. "It is worth a good many thousand dollars to me," said Mr. Macaulay today, "to learn that our firm has been so well thought of, and to realize that there is such personal regret over this piece of misfortune."

The fire underwriters held a meeting today and appointed C. E. L. Jarvis, and Edgar Fairweather as adjusters.

TWO MORE STOVES LOCATED, AND A LOT OF OTHER GOODS

This Makes Seven So Far

Known to Have Been Stolen

From the McClary Co.—

Wholesale System of Stealing Carried On.

One McClary Kootenay steel range, found in Fred Wilson's house, corner of Delhi and City Road, stolen on April 30.

Found in William Mahoney's woodshed, No. 4, Short street, one enameled slop pail, one kneading pan, one teapot, one flat pan, one saucepan, one teakettle, one pot, one stewkettle, one brass lantern, one ice cream freezer, one tin lantern.

Found in John Parlee's stable, in rear of house occupied by Mahoney, one Kootenay steel range, one Belle Oak heater.

One heater in Mrs. Garvin's house on Short street, Mrs. Garvin is Mr. Mahoney's mother-in-law.

One McClary range found in Mr. Armstrong's house, Fairville, sold to Mr. Armstrong by Mahoney.

One sheet iron McClary range.

One expensive heater.

One large refrigerator.

A second ice cream freezer.

A lot of enameled ware.

These last four lots were located last evening by the police.

One expensive sheet iron cooking stove, a fine heating stove, one whole refrigerator, ice cream freezer, and a very considerable quantity of enameled ware is the latest evidence of wholesale stealing from the McClary Manufacturing Co., as unearthed today by the vigilant work of Sgt. H. J. H. and his men of the North End division.

The Star interviewed Manager Irwin, of the McClary offices on Chipmunk Hill and had this report verified in every particular. Further than that it is learned that the thieving operations have been going on for nearly a whole year, as stolen goods dating back to June, 1906, have already been brought to light.

The scope of the operations of the thief or thieves evidently enlarged by leaps and bounds, as the success of each depredation was assured. Already a number of the surreptitious sales have been ferreted out as stated in the police records, and any anonymous letter to Manager Irwin yesterday made it possible to secure several more important items.

It now appears quite certain that the person at the head of this wholesale stealing enterprise has had an accomplice, or several. Manager Irwin admitted this to be quite apparent, though he refused to give any detailed information concerning the locality in which the property was stolen or what their relations with Mahoney, the man now under arrest, have been. It very much appears, however, that a plunderband of pretentious proportions will be exposed within the next few days.

Instead of confining their sale of the stolen hardware to the valley district it seems now that a wider field was entered by the culprits and many families innocent of any wrongdoing, dickered with the thieves and made purchases, with the result that McClary stoves and other lines were gracing homes in various quarters of town; indeed in some homes not supposed to be financially equipped for such kitchen finery. Thus the business thrived for the clever robbers and must have been somewhat impeded for the rightful owners—a most unique situation of a large concern being competed with in its own territory by its own goods.

The McClary officials in this city are nonplussed at the outcome of events, and are now systematizing the stolen property so that by the numbers and output marks of certain articles they can trace the date of theft. So far they have got as far back as June of last year, and for all they know now the stealing may have been going on earlier than that. As Mr. Irwin has not been manager here very long, it is certain much of the stolen stuff must have been acquired during the term of J. J. Foot's management. Mr. Foot is now in a promoted position in Upper Canada.

The Star queried Mr. Irwin as to his opinion concerning the possible finding of still more goods, and what action would be taken if families found with stolen properties in their homes refused to give them up.

He said he would certainly take prompt legal action against everybody found with stolen McClary goods, if any objection was raised in surrendering them, but he wanted it clearly understood that the McClary Company will effect satisfactory settlements with all people thus unlawfully possessed of stoves etc., if they approached the concern in the right spirit. This Mr. Irwin wanted to be made plain, so that no more hiding and secret movements may be made. If the stolen goods—known to be stolen—are now in St. John houses and are found out by the police, the householders are liable to the charge of complicity in the crime generally, but if the people surrender the property and thus assist the Company and police a satisfactory settlement may be effected.

Indeed, already several persons have been more or less directly identified with the alleged stealing of the man in the tools and their secrecy may cost them dearly.

This whole case is one of remarkable extent and resembles very much the grocery thefts made from Baird & Peters a few years ago.

Ernest Earle, aged four years, fell over the I. C. R. dump near Mill street yesterday afternoon and was rescued by a couple of boys who took him to his mother on Mill street. The immediate presence of the boys was the saving of the child's life.

The flag that floated to the breeze over the police court today was not only in honor of the date of the landing of the Loyalists, but of the arrival of Judge H. J. Ritchie on the bench of the police court just 18 years ago. The judge was all smiles this morning when he remembered that it was his 18th anniversary, but he dealt out justice in the usual manner. Judge Ritchie has handled a great many cases since his appointment.
