CANADA'S IMMIGRATION FIGURES SHOW BIG INFUX ENGLISH SPEAKING PEOPLE

(Special to the Sun.)
OTTAWA, June 14.—Canadian immigration returns do not provide much foundation for the fear of Premier Roblin of Manitoba that Canada is to be eventually controlled by foreigners. On the contrary they indicate that the control of political and industrial affairs will remain with Canadians and Britishers, who are coming in by the ship loads. The immigration figures also indicate that Canada is receiving a far higher class of immigrants than in the United States.

Anglo-Saxon immigration to Canada is increasing much more rapidly than that from the Latin, Slav and other countries of Europe. The Dominion is getting most of her new citizens from countries whose people are regarded as the very best types. The United States is not by any means so fortunate in this respect.

During the fiscal period ending March 31st Canada attracted immigrants to the number of 55,791, being an increase of 15,170.

For the same time continental countries supplied 34,217 an increase of 14,000. Arrivals of English immigrants increased 37 per cent, and Scotch immigrants increased 84 per cent. English and Scotch immigration has been increasing in astonishing ratio in the last few years. Since 1901-02, the ratio of increase in English immigration year by year has been as follows: 1901-02, 39 per cent.; 1902-03, 148 per cent.; 1903-04, 13 per cent.; 1904-05, 33 per cent.; 1905-06, 33 per cent.; 1906-07, 37 per cent.

Scotch immigration has grown as follows: 1901-02, 35 per cent.; 1902-03, 137 per cent.; 1903-04, 50 per cent.; 1904-05, 11 per cent.; 1905-06, 35 per cent.; 1906-07, 44 per cent.

The largest number by far of immigrants to Canada are from Great Britain and there is every reason to believe the ratio of increase will continue. There need be no alarm that Canada's foreign-born population will dominate affairs here.

Canada has cause for gratification compared with the United States as to arrivals. The countries regarded as most desirable sources of supply for immigration are: Great Britain and Ireland, Austria-Hungary, Belgium, Serbia, Montenegro, Denmark, France, German Empire, Norway, Switzerland, Sweden. From these countries the United States received in 1906-07 thirty-eight per cent. of a total immigration of 1,190,735, while Italy contributed 25 per cent, and Russia and Finland came 20 per cent. From the two countries, therefore, about half the American immigration was drawn. During the same time Canada, out of a total immigration of 133,064, received 56 per cent, of the desirable countries, Italy furnishing only 4 per cent, and from Russia and Finland only 2 per cent.

Canada received 30 per cent. of the entire year's immigration from the United States. In return the United States got from Canada and Newfoundland combined less than one-half of 1 per cent. of her entire immigration.

HANDSOME PRESENT FOR E. J. ARMSTRONG

E. J. Armstrong, the well known painter, and Mrs. Armstrong, yesterday celebrated their silver wedding. The occasion was remembered by the employees of Mr. Armstrong who gathered in his private office during the afternoon and presented him with a dozen sterling silver, pearl handled fruit knives and wished Mrs. Armstrong and himself many more years of wedded happiness. Mr. Armstrong made a suitable reply, expressing his high appreciation of their thoughtfulness and thanking them on behalf of Mrs. Armstrong as well as himself for their handsome gift.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong also received many other gifts from friends both in the city and outside.

The submarine buoy to be placed at Tyner's Head, is partly finished, having now been four weeks under way. Payment has recently been made for the first two weeks of the work, and a number of workmen are very much dissatisfied with the pay sheet, claiming unfair discrimination among the workmen, some receiving $1.75 a day while others only received $1.25.

ALLAN WEIR IS THE HUMAN FOOTBALL— ROLLED 100 FEET DOWN FORT HOWE AND THEN GRINNED—ARRESTED LATER

Allan Weir took the direct route from the top of Fort Howe to Main street last evening and still lives. He was drunk and was resting on the lofty eminence. He walked to the edge of the bluff, about 100 feet above the street, and stood there wavering for some seconds. A number of persons seeing his perilous position, shouted to him to go back, but he apparently was unaware of his danger. Suddenly he shot forward and the spectators gasped, expecting he would be killed. But luckily he rolled over and over and slid down the bluff. When about half way down he struck a streak of red clay, which slackened his speed. He continued on, however, and striking the street, continued out into the middle of the road, so great was the speed at which he was travelling. A crowd soon collected and were surprised to see the man stagger to his feet and grin. The police then took a hand, and after ascertaining that the man had not been injured, arrested him for drunkenness. Such is fame.

CHIEF CLARK'S VERSION IS QUITE DIFFERENT

Explains Why Woman Was Released Without Trial

Also Denies That he Told Judge Ritchie to Use His Own Telephone.

An entry on the police arrest book made on Saturday night, which shows that Clara McKewen, aged 22 years, was arrested by Officers Marshall and Bowers for wandering about Prince William street and not giving a satisfactory account of herself has caused another breeze in police court circles.

An interview with Judge Ritchie was published in an evening paper yesterday, saying that the arrest was not on Monday morning's sheet. His honor said he had learned that the arrest had been made and as the woman's name was not placed on the sheet he had instructed Mr. Henderson to inform Chief Clark that such action must never be taken by him again.

The judge stated that when a prisoner is arrested on Saturday night as in this case, he or she must, according to British law, be brought before him before twelve o'clock Monday noon, unless allowed out on deposit. In this case, however, the name was not even placed on the sheet. The judge said that the law was very strict about women. It has provisions so that women may be protected and scandals guarded against. His honor said that no policeman had the right to liberate a prisoner when the name had been placed on the arrest book.

Chief Clark, when asked about the matter, said that it had always been his practice to treat accusations of this nature with silence, but that he would have been willing to explain the circumstances under which the McKewen woman was liberated to the reporter who had written up the case.

Asked as to the facts, Chief Clark said that the only charge against the woman was that she was unable to give a satisfactory account of herself. After she was brought to the station a woman captain of the Salvation Army arrived and had a talk with her. The captain offered to look after her and find her employment, and to this the chief consented, especially as the police cells contained at the time no less than fourteen men, the majority of whom were arrested for drunkenness and who were noisy and blasphemous.

The report in the evening paper which Chief Clark says was written after a talk with the reporter had with the magistrate, goes on to say: "Another story is current about the city to the effect that the telephone system in the police building was instrumental in causing a lively tilt between the magistrate and chief Clark last week. The story had it that the chief had ordered the magistrate away from the telephone down stairs near the guard room."

"Some time ago the chief had a telephone placed in his office, which is on the wing with the telephone near the guard room. According to report Judge Ritchie passed the chief's office one day last week about five o'clock, and going to the main telephone took down the receiver. He had just called for a number when someone shouted 'Get out of that.' His honor paid no attention and still the voice shouted loudly 'Get out of that.' Still the judge was unmoved, and someone came close to him and said loudly, 'I'm using that. Go to your own telephone up stairs.' It was the chief who was talking to the magistrate, and as soon as the judge perceived him he said 'Oh, is that so?' and hung up the receiver."

This, says Chief Clark, is entirely incorrect. The chief says that he was using the telephone when heard someone break in on the line and a first did not know that it was some person speaking on the telephone in the other office. Even, said the chief, when he realized that the interference was being made from the other office and went towards the main telephone he did not first recognize who it was only called "You cannot get connection there as I am on the line." The chief says that he did not tell him to use his own telephone up stairs, and says that he is quite able to prove this by the police who were present at the time. The statement of the judge that he had the right to go to any part of the building, the chief said, was entirely incorrect and that such a condition of affairs in American cities would be ridiculed.

KANEY AND LEONARD, SAFE BLOWERS, GET LONG TERMS IN DORCHESTER PENITENTIARY.

No Evidence Offered for the Defense Yesterday and Judge Drysdale Sentenced Them to Seven and Ten Years Respectively—Londonderry Man Killed—Old Man Badly Injured.

TRURO, N. S., June 14.—Henry Reeves, an aged resident of Londonderry, while employed in the pipe shops of the Montreal Pipe Company there, was killed by the sudden reversion of a crane crank, the bar of which struck him across the left shoulder and over the heart, dislocating the arm and causing collapse from stoppage of blood circulation. Mr. Reeves' face was also injured. He was a most respected man, one of the mainstays of the Methodist Church in Londonderry. He leaves a wife and grown-up family. One daughter lives in Chicago. The funeral arrangements depend upon her decision to return home.

Three days ago a young Englishman working in the pipe shop was seriously injured, but is recovering. Particulars are not available.

At Bible Hill, Truro, this afternoon an old man, lame from a natural contortion of one arm, had the other shoulder dislocated by a fall from a load of hay. One wheel came off the cart, upsetting it. Dr. Patton was summoned and the man brought to the Queen Hotel for treatment. His age makes the accident a serious one for him.

Conductor I. N. Hopper of Truro is a patient in the Victoria General Hospital, Halifax, suffering from an injury caused while playing baseball on the recreation grounds near Truro station. He was struck by a batted ball below his waistband and although able to take his train afterwards to Halifax an ambulance was required to remove him to the hospital.

The end of the trial of Leonard and Kaney, safe blowers and robbers, was concluded this afternoon. Practically the same evidence was given on behalf of the crown against Leonard as was given against Kaney earlier in the week. No witnesses were called for the defense. Conviction followed the address of counsel and charge of Judge Drysdale. After the jury's verdict was rendered the judge sentenced Kaney to seven years and Leonard to ten years in Dorchester penitentiary.

The work of ferreting out and procuring the conviction of these men is regarded as very clever. Detective Harry Wright, of Halifax, is the officer to whom the credit is due, although the arrest of the men was effected by I. C. R. policemen after the men's descriptions were wired to all points radiating from the scene of the burglary.

NEW AUXILIARY PACKET IN PORT

Among the recent arrivals in the Market Slip is an auxiliary packet named the Ella and Jennie, owned and commanded by Capt. Ingalls of Grand Manan. This is the first trip of the new packet to St. John, and she has only been in commission about three weeks. Built at Shelburne, where many a fast sailing craft has been launched, the Ella and Jennie has not only very graceful lines, but has a good carrying capacity, and is fitted out like a yacht. She is schooner rigged, is sixty feet in length, and 14 1/2 feet beam, and draws about seven feet of water. The craft is fitted out with a 25 horse-power gasoline engine, and while en route to St. John, came through the Lubec Narrows against a strong head current as if there "was no run of tide," to use the captain's words. When there is a good sailing breeze, Capt. Ingalls says the craft slips through the water very fast. This is the fourth voyage for the Ella and Jennie from Grand Manan, she having made three trips to Eastport.
