

AROUND WORLD'S PORTS

Full Moon Jan. 20
Last Quarter Jan. 30

Time	High water, a. m.	High water, p. m.	Low water, a. m.	Low water, p. m.
Tues. 8.00	5.00	6.37	12.00	12.16
Wed. 7.50	5.11	7.10	12.36	1.18
Thurs. 7.43	5.22	8.07	1.38	2.15
Fri. 7.38	5.33	9.02	2.57	3.21
Sat. 7.37	5.44	9.56	4.13	4.28
Sun. 7.36	5.55	10.48	5.28	5.34
Mon. 7.35	6.06	11.43	6.43	6.41

Vessels in Port

Country	Ship	Agent
Canada	Settler—Long wharf (east)
Trinidad	No. 6 berth
Rhody—No. 1 berth
Shelby—Mole wharf
Walmsee—No. 7 berth
Canada	Trapper—Long wharf (west)
Canada	Rancher—Long wharf (east)
Dunlop—No. 4 berth
Manchester—No. 5 berth
Manna—No. 16 berth
Barque	Vision—Sugar Refinery wharf
Chalmers—etiquette
New Georgia—Stram
Baymanna—No. 14 berth

PORT OF ST. JOHN, N. B.

Tuesday, January 18th, 1921.
Arrived Monday

S. S. Baymanna, Marshfield, France, Purves Witty & Co.
S. S. Chalkers, 230, Hill, Demerara, Sch. T. K. Bentley, 466, Bentley, New York.
Sch. Frederick H. 426, Hawx, Perth, Arroy, N. J.
Coastwise—Str New Georgia, 4043, Davies, Sydney; Str Hochscho, 2601, McDonald, Sydney.

Cleared Monday

S. S. Ariano, 3124, Carter, Hull and Rotterdam, via Portland.
Coastwise—Str New Georgia, 4043, Davies, Sydney; Str Hochscho, 2601, McDonald, Sydney.

BRITISH PORTS

Manchester, Jan. 15—Arrd. Str Manchester, Mariner, St. John, N. B.
Liverpool, Jan. 14—Arrd. Str Victorian, St. John.

FOREIGN PORTS

Rouen, Jan. 15—Arrd. Str Canadian Signaller, Halifax.
Vineyard Haven, Jan. 13—Arrd. Sch. Frederick H. New York for St. John; T. K. Bentley, do for Nova Scotia port.
Havre, Jan. 13—Arrd. Str Canadian, St. John.

Minneapolis Arrives

C. P. O. S. Minneapolis will arrive this morning and is expected that she will dock about nine or ten o'clock. She has 254 cabin and 655 stowage passengers from Liverpool and Le Havre, and considerable mail.

Loading Train

S. S. Baymanna, from Marshfield, arrived yesterday morning and docked at No. 16 berth about eleven o'clock and will load a cargo of grain for the United Kingdom Furness Witty & Co. are local agents.

Frederick H. Arrives

The new train schooner Frederick H. arrived in port Sunday from Perth Amboy with 25 tons of hard coal for R. P. & W. F. Starr. The Frederick H. was completed last summer at Port Granville and this is her first trip to St. John. She is a trim looking craft, and her appearance has attracted much favorable comment along the waterfront. Nagle & Wigmore are local agents.

For South Africa

S. S. New Georgia, in command of Captain Davies, arrived at nine o'clock yesterday morning from Liverpool, via Sydney, N. S. to load a general cargo for South Africa. J. T. Knight & Co. are St. John agents.

Due End of Week

Manchester Shipper is due to arrive in the latter part of the week from Manchester with a general cargo. Furness Witty & Co. are St. John agents.

Sails Today

Furness Witty & Co. announce that the Manchester Brigade will sail at noon today for Manchester via Halifax with a general cargo, including a shipment of deals.

From West Indies

The Royal Mail Steam Packet liner Cadiz arrived in port yesterday morning from Bermuda and the British West Indies. She had nineteen passengers, eleven first three second and five third class. She also had a general cargo consisting chiefly of rum, molasses and raw sugar and a quantity of royal mail. William Thomson & Co. are local agents.

Leads for South Africa

The S. S. New Georgia arrived in port yesterday morning from Liverpool via Sydney. She is in command of Captain Davies and is here to load for South Africa. J. T. Knight & Co. are St. John agents.

Future Sailings

Furness Witty & Co. report the following movements of ships: Red Star S. S. Zealand arrived at New York on Jan. 16; White Star S. S. Vedic arrived at New York, Jan. 15; Red Star S. S. Gothland arrived at New York, Jan. 15; White Star S. S. Adriatic arrived at New York, Jan. 16; American Line S. S. Mongolia is due at New York, Jan. 19, from Antwerp; White Star S. S. Megantic was due at New York yesterday.

Canadian Trapper Sails

S. S. Canadian Trapper will sail this morning for Liverpool and Glasgow with a general cargo.

Grampian Sailing Route

An important change has been made in the sailing route of the Grampian. She is being taken off the run, and for January 26 sailing from London, and February 12 sailing from St. John, N. B., are cancelled. She will leave Antwerp March 1, and Southampton, March 2, for St. John and leave this port March 19, for Havre and London.

Sailed From Norfolk

Steamer General Pettit sailed from Norfolk at noon yesterday in ballast for this port, where she will load a cargo of grain for Italy. J. T. Knight & Co. are agents here.

S. S. Grelton Due

McLean Kennedy, Limited announce that the arrival of the S. S. Grelton is daily expected.

Saxonia Due at Halifax

T. S. B. Saxonia, which has been delayed by heavy storms is due to arrive today at Halifax where 60 cabin and 167 third class passengers will disembark. She will afterwards proceed to New York and will sail from Halifax on January 27th, with passengers for Plymouth, Cherbourg and Hamburg. William Reford & Co. are local agents.

C. P. O. S. Bosworth Delayed

C. P. O. S. freighter Bosworth from London and Antwerp which was due to reach port yesterday has been delayed. No definite news as to when she will dock has been received.

Manchester Brigade Sails

S. S. Manchester Brigade will sail today for Manchester with a general cargo. Furness Witty & Co. are local agents.

Discharges Coal

S. S. Hochscho is discharging coal at Dominion Coal Company's wharf.

Shipping Notes

Schr Anderson Bros, Sherbrooke, N. S. for Boston; arvd Jan. 12.
Schr Carrie A. Buckman, Mobile for St. Andrews, Fla.; arvd Jan. 11.
Schr Canadian Miner, Sydney for Glasgow; arvd Jan. 12.
Schr Canadian Gunner, Trinidad, for Halifax; arvd Jan. 11.
Schr Canadian Navigator, London for St. John; arvd Jan. 13.
Schr Canadian Otter, Halifax for Manchester; arvd Jan. 12.
Schr Canadian Runner, Portland for Glasgow; arvd Jan. 12.
Schr Canadian Sower, Haane for Halifax; arvd at Calbarien Jan. 9.
Schr Canadian trader, Demerara for Halifax; arvd Jan. 11.
Schr Canadian Voyageur, Cardiff for Halifax; arvd Jan. 11.
Schr Dagblu, Sydney, for Rotterdam, cargo coal; arvd Jan. 13.
Schr Governor Parr, New Orleans for European port; in port Jan. 13.
Schr General Paul, due at Liverpool, N. S. from Turk's Island, cargo salt.
Schr Lake Glenwood, Halifax, for Baltimore, arvd Jan. 12.
Schr Mabel E. Gunn, Sherbrooke, N. S. for Boston; arvd Jan. 12.
Schr Turret Court, Sydney, for U. K. port, cargo coal; arvd Jan. 13.
Schr William A. Naugler, Newark, for provincial port; loading Jan. 14.

A Great Reduction

Two years ago it cost $57,000 to build the three-masted schooner Con Rein, and a couple of weeks ago A. V. Conrad, of Middle Lake, purchased the vessel for $13,000. A British-owned steamer of 5,322 tons gross, which was built in 1916 and was purchased about two years ago for $240,000.

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

Captain Comeau Has Good Record

Captain R. M. Comeau, of the Belliveau's Cove schooner-Rose Anne Belliveau, now laid up, was in Yarmouth Saturday. Captain Comeau, who previous to this tie-up of his vessel had only been home eight days in the past eight years, embraces this vacation as a well-earned one. All through the war he kept his schooner continually moving, making a most enviable record, and by his splendid success in spite of that he has been sailing as a well-earned one. All through the war he kept his schooner continually moving, making a most enviable record, and by his splendid success in spite of that he has been sailing as a well-earned one.

Devotion of An Elderly Captain

A moving story of the devotion of a captain to his ship was told by the crew of the three-masted schooner Ladvig, of Newfoundland, while under the care of the Seaford House, Wellington and Dock street east London, Eng. The Ladvig, which was commanded by Captain Horberg, had been recently purchased from the Danes. The vessel was on a voyage from Newfoundland to Spain, laden with codfish. While lying off Malaga breakwater in a gale, the ship dragged her anchors. The crew found that their efforts to prevent the ship drifting on to the breakwater were useless, and when within a few yards of the breakwater, they all got into the ship's boat except the captain, who in spite of the crew's entreaties, absolutely refused to leave the ship. A few minutes afterwards she struck and went down suddenly, carrying her captain with her. Captain Horberg was 76 years of age, Danish by birth, but had been resident in Newfoundland, where his widow now lives. There was one lander in the crew, and the rest belonged to Newfoundland.

Steamer Parthia Escaped Ledges

Completing one of the final legs on her long voyage from Portland, Oregon, to Norway, the Norwegian owned motor steamer M. E. Parthia, 600 tons net, came close to hitting the Sister Ledges, near Halifax, Sunday afternoon, when her steering gear broke down as she was passing close by. Quick reversing of the engines saved the situation, which would have been much serious had the accident taken place after dark or in thick weather. The Parthia was formerly an American owned, but was recently changed to Norwegian ownership. She called at Halifax for fuel oil, coming from Portland via Jacksonville. The report that a steamer was signalling for aid at the mouth of the harbor gave rise to a rumor that the Saxon was outside in distress.

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

Captain Comeau Has Good Record

Captain R. M. Comeau, of the Belliveau's Cove schooner-Rose Anne Belliveau, now laid up, was in Yarmouth Saturday. Captain Comeau, who previous to this tie-up of his vessel had only been home eight days in the past eight years, embraces this vacation as a well-earned one. All through the war he kept his schooner continually moving, making a most enviable record, and by his splendid success in spite of that he has been sailing as a well-earned one. All through the war he kept his schooner continually moving, making a most enviable record, and by his splendid success in spite of that he has been sailing as a well-earned one.

Devotion of An Elderly Captain

A moving story of the devotion of a captain to his ship was told by the crew of the three-masted schooner Ladvig, of Newfoundland, while under the care of the Seaford House, Wellington and Dock street east London, Eng. The Ladvig, which was commanded by Captain Horberg, had been recently purchased from the Danes. The vessel was on a voyage from Newfoundland to Spain, laden with codfish. While lying off Malaga breakwater in a gale, the ship dragged her anchors. The crew found that their efforts to prevent the ship drifting on to the breakwater were useless, and when within a few yards of the breakwater, they all got into the ship's boat except the captain, who in spite of the crew's entreaties, absolutely refused to leave the ship. A few minutes afterwards she struck and went down suddenly, carrying her captain with her. Captain Horberg was 76 years of age, Danish by birth, but had been resident in Newfoundland, where his widow now lives. There was one lander in the crew, and the rest belonged to Newfoundland.

Steamer Parthia Escaped Ledges

Completing one of the final legs on her long voyage from Portland, Oregon, to Norway, the Norwegian owned motor steamer M. E. Parthia, 600 tons net, came close to hitting the Sister Ledges, near Halifax, Sunday afternoon, when her steering gear broke down as she was passing close by. Quick reversing of the engines saved the situation, which would have been much serious had the accident taken place after dark or in thick weather. The Parthia was formerly an American owned, but was recently changed to Norwegian ownership. She called at Halifax for fuel oil, coming from Portland via Jacksonville. The report that a steamer was signalling for aid at the mouth of the harbor gave rise to a rumor that the Saxon was outside in distress.

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the

A Nova Scotia master mariner who is now tied up at Yarmouth with his schooner, the Maud C. Gaskill, is Captain C. F. Granville. Captain Granville took command of this trim three-masted schooner when she first left the ways at Church Point in 1915, and he has made an excellent record with her. He has been engaged in various trades, including trips from the West Indies to France and other European ports. During the last season the Gaskill was engaged in the coal and plaster trade between Nova Scotia and New York, and while so engaged Captain Granville's sailings and arrivals were particularly regular. Early last week he was in Yarmouth with a cargo of hard coal, and after discharging a charter was partly arranged for the schooner to proceed to Kingsport, N. S., and load potatoes for Cuba, but, owing to the poor conditions of freights in the