SATURDAY EVENING, APRIL 18.

"Blessed are the meek for they shall inherit the earth." aptly applies to the meekness of those New Brunswick and Nova Scotia papers that rejoice in being Government organs, as they bow their heads meekly to the outrageous "Reform" tariff and say nothing. When flour, what a cry there was! Papers dared to say their souls were their own in those days, even though they were Government organs. But this has all been "reformed" of late, and the organs are whipped into line with unparading obedience. "The Premier approves of this gentleman's candidature."—"The Premier desires no agitation of this outrage."—"The message that comes over the wires from Ottawa, and the organ's head is bowed low in obedience. "Blessed are the meek, for they shall be well paid by the Government for their services. What do the shipbuilders, and the poor people who have to pay an increased price for the necessities of life, think of such meekness?"

Hon. Isaac Burpee went into office as one of the members of an economical Government, and immediately reduced the expenses of his office by ordering the discontinuance of one copy of the New Dominion ($1 a year) and one copy of the Daily News ($5 a year), thus affecting a saving of $6 a year. "Ah," said his friends, "Isaac will show the country how the public money has been wasted under pretence of collecting the public revenue. Economy is the word." These friends are slightly taken aback at the statement in the estimates that $83,702.75 more than his predecessor needed, even though his predecessor extravagantly subscribed for Mr. Day's paper.

At a gathering of old hands—the Brooklyn Presbytery—in Brooklyn, N. Y., this week, Dr. Cuyler's conduct in allowing Miss Sarah Smiley, one of the most successful revivalists of the day, to preach in his pulpit, was discussed, and the following resolution adopted: Resolved, That while the Presbytery recognizes and accepts with pleasure the avowal by the Lafayette Avenue Church of the right of women to preach, we do not consent to the inclusion of the Presbytery and of the General Assembly in regard to preaching by women, and we do not consent to any intimation of violation of the authority of these courts, which would be a violation of the solemn promise made in that church.

How the next generation will smile contemptuously back on those resolutions adopting presbytery!

The Grit papers seem to be in great spirits because the Montreal letter-stealing investigation seems to fasten the theft on a post-office clerk. The stolen letters were received by John Young, was shown by the receiver to his friends, and was published after consultation with the Grit leaders of Montreal. Messrs Young, Penny & Co. are the receivers and users of stolen property—the readers and publishers of a private letter—and the stain will not wash out easily.

We learn that a gentleman who is intimate with the Minister of Customs, is importing twenty to fifty chests of tea at a time, with a short period imported the extraordinary quantity of one hundred chests? It will be a fine thing to see the Minister of Customs with a hundred chests of tea in his hands.

We don't believe the above is true, as Mr. Burpee was never known to look out for the interests of any one outside of his own family, and none of his relatives are in the tea trade.

Gilmour's vote in favor of Riel will increase the school majority in Charlotte Co., as he is the "fraternal example" of the old school system by which the Gilmour party will not send a man to the Assembly, as the respectable portion of his supporters—those who were deceived into voting for Riel—exactly where he stands.

Customer—"I want another pound of that fifty-cent tea." Grocer—"It is sixty cents now." Customer—"Why so high?" Grocer—"Fifty-five cents for the tea and five cents for our pure patriotic and economical 'Reform' Government. You voted for the 'Reform' ticket, you know, and ought not to grumble at the expense."

Kings Co. will elect three non-sectarian school candidates at the next election. A repealer has not the ghost of a chance. It is said, we know not how truthfully, that Mr. Nowlan, recognizing the writing on the wall, will offer as an anti-repealer candidate.

Should cremation ever become adopted as a system, the expression, "Peace to his ashes," will mean something.

"You've destroyed my piece of mind," said a desponding lover to a trust lass; "It can't do you much harm, John, for 'twas an amazing small piece you had, anyway!" was the quick reply.

An Illinois paper proudly boasts of the rights now given to women in that State. It says: "We have extended to married women every right but that of suffrage. They can keep their own earnings, and transact business with their husbands as with strangers."

Fire Investigation.
An investigation into the cause of the fire which consumed Mr. W. H. Knowles' trunk factory, in Germain street, was held yesterday afternoon. A number of witnesses were examined, several of whom said they heard noises in the yard and saw suspicious looking characters about the time the fire broke out. It appeared that there had been no fire in the factory after five o'clock in the afternoon. All the witnesses believed the fire to have been the work of an incendiary. At the close of the examination there was just commenced, as no person had any idea who set the place on fire.

Obituary.
Departed this life, on the evening of the 17th inst., the well known Thomas Foster, of Messrs. Hanington Bros' drug store, Foster's corner. This cat was of a pure white color, very large, docile, intelligent, and lived to the ripe old age (for a cat) of ten years, three months and thirteen days. Thomas was the pride of his proprietors and was dearly loved by the employees for his many good qualities. As a ratter and mouse he had no equal. He was brought up to the drug business, having been adopted into the establishment in his infant days by the original proprietor, and, while he always had the run of the premises, jumping from shelf to shelf, over bottles and show cases, continually surrounded by tempting decoctions, vile compounds and noxious drugs, he never injured a bottle or put his nose where it ought not to be. He has long been the admiration of the ladies (young as well as old) who frequent the store, the envy of less fortunate and desecrating fellows, and the terror of intruding dogs. His demise is a sad bereavement to Mr. Crowley, whose particular charge he was.

"Twas from Paddy he received his morsel of nice steak, daily, and to him he always taken his brooder, and fell on board the boat. One of two persons came very near being injured.

It will be seen by our advertising columns that Mr. E. E. Puddington has taken his brooder, Mr. J. E. Puddington, into partnership.

On the item increasing the amount for the management of the Auditor's office, Halifax, Hon. Mr. Cartwright said the offices there were in bad condition, and an additional sum was necessary.

Dr. Tupper said the late Government asked for a similar increase, but the Senate then in Opposition defeated it.
