Boyd, C.; --

247

The case you have cited seems expressly in point, and especially should the rule be applied in this case where the prisoner is of weak mind, as here. In fact the circumstances are such as would in the case of any prisoner invalidate the admissions. The conviction should be quashed. Ferguson J., concurred.

37 10

076

155

person to on so on the son of the conformation of the sound of the sou

ME GILL ME

or our of a

-- 'm' --

stur coul

WE FE

ich bib en

10-17 n 29%

ours of ou

V MAT GOOD

but edogna

From Euror

d a da stra

Indian Affairs. (RG 10, Volume 2958, File 205,060, therefore of the partie of the contract of the terms of the contract of the contract of