

Jessie Montgomerie's children. You probably remember her as she was one of Gracie's great friends at Miss Dupont's. They are wonderful skaters. Young Henry swims very much the winter sports. He will not let him play hockey or toboggan on ski, and it is pretty hard to watch the others do it and join in. He has been very good, however, and realizes that his fragile health depends on getting quite strong now. If he were older he might be more, but children are rough & careless so we have to watch them more. We got the highest marks in his room for his work. He said he was awfully nervous till he got up on the stage when he was "Q. N."; his subject was "Jockery"; the last time he chose "Snakes"; what will he choose next? He never does what any one expects him to do. The children are all well. John was up again yesterday. He liked hikes up, and goes back with me again. On Sunday night and has only taken the bus once this winter. If this weather keeps up we will have spring before we know it; all winter has not seemed long so far, but March is usually a trying month. Harry works very hard but business is
