

A CHILD OF NATURE

but in the end every man comes to his own, and John Foster found here and there one who heard and understood ; and as the years went by the few became many, and the life sown in secret bore harvest in the wide field of the world.

And the two never parted company ; for as the horizon began to kindle with Ralph Parkman's fame, there, set like a steady flame, in the dawn of a great new time, men saw the star of John Foster's pure and radiant spirit.
