can perhaps form some idea of the large staff required to take care of them. Every name must be handled as if it were the only one on the subscription list and handled just as carefully and even with all the care that is exercised things will sometimes go wrong.

To this educational work as well as to the favorable season, a measure of the success that our farmers experienced may undoubtedly be traced. It is reasonable to assume that by the adoption of the most approved methods of cultivation the production of any district may be increased, and this is one result that the department has
