MISSING POLICYHOLDER IS FOUND ALIVE AND FISHING

During the course of a thorough investigation the Prudential Insurance Company has unearthed the fact that Edward Carberg, a policyholder in the company, who disappeared nine years ago, and had been declared legally dead is still alive. Carberg was skipper of a fishing smack, engaged in the fishing trade of Labrador in 1906.

In July of that year he sold the vessel in New Bedford, Mass., and disappeared. He had made his home in Brooklyn, N.Y., with a cousin, Mrs. Hilda Oberg, who was the beneficiary under the policy, and continued paying the premiums until last year. Not having heard from Carberg for more than eight years, she applied for letters of administration on
