ADDRESS FROM THE FRENCH CANADIANS.
His Lordship said in following up the order he would reply to the addresses singly. He thanked his good and faithful priests from the bottom of his heart for their priests from the bottom of his heart for their beautiful and affectionate expression. He attributed a great amount of his success to the zeal and untiring energy with which his priests assisted him. They had done their duty nobly and he was confident the good work would have its reward. The clergy knelt and received His Lordship's blessing.

In replying to the peoples' address, he said it went to his heart and touched the cords of affection. He had always reand of their zeal in advancing religion and fostering education. He had also sub-mitted to the Holy Father a highly satis-factory financial etatement and had been able to answer minutely and satisfactorily all questions in relation to his diocese all questions in relation to his diocese.
They were united as one and as long as they continued to do so they would accomplish great and good things.

In replying to the address of the French Canadians, His Lordship, speaking in French, reiterated in the main the general remarks he had made to the English portion of the congression.

In conclusion he stated that he had made it a point to visit Ireland, the home of many of his congregations' forefathers, and where he himself had spent a number of years before coming to Canada. He had the pleasure of meeting an old and beloved friend the Bishop of Armagh, who was pleased to witness the love the sons of Ireland in Canada had for the mother country.

He had also visited his own native land with great pleasure. He was pleased to see many of his old friends occupying high positions in the church.

positions in the church.

He also had the extreme pleasure of visiting Rome, where he remained ten days. He had had a long conversation with the Holy Father, who was delighted with his reports from the Peterborough diocese, which showed his people were all loyal and devoted to him. His report of the education and religious progress and the education and religious progress and financial statement were received with joy. The Holy Father had freely granted the papal blessing with the utmost fervor, both for himself and for the people of his dicesse. This blessing he intended administration that the control of the people of the dicesse. istering three or four times during the

EDITORIAL NOTES.

By a unanimous vote, the City Council of London granted at its meeting on the 15th inst. the handsome sum of $500 in aid of the Mount Hope House of Retuge for the destitute aged poor. When it is remembered that Ald, O'Mears is the only Catholic gentleman in the Council the kindly thoughtfulness of this action and its graceful expression will be all the more readily understood and highly appreciated.

A. Mulligan, till recently in the employ of Mr. John Cunningham, merchant, of Pembroke, has left for Chapleau, on the line of the C. P. inst, we learn that "Rev. Father Mc-Donogh received last week and placed in position in the R. C. Church a magnificent oil painting, presented by Mr. F. McNabb, photographic artist of New York, and formerly a resident of Napanee. The subject of the picture is "The Annunciation" by Gagliardi, a copy from Guido Reni's famous painting on the altar piece of the Pope's chapel in the Quirinal palace, at Rome. The Annunciation takes its name from the happy tidings brought by the angel Gabriel to the Blessed Virgin Mary concerning the incarnation of the Son of God, and is a festival of highest importance and observed with great solemnity by the Roman Catholic Church. The anniversary occurs on the 25th March. The picture is 6x9 feet in size and is mounted in a magnificent gilt frame. It forms a very beautiful addition to the church decorations and will be greatly prized by the congregation. The picture and frame is valued at $500."
