

THE DEEP ESTHOLE IN THE EARTH.

Observations of Temperature at Depths of 1000 Feet.

Although mountains and hills have indicated the formation of pyroclastic rocks...

The final diameter of the hole is 11.2 inches. The first drilling apparatus was of the drop foot form and a casing was sent down at the drilling progress.

THE WILD ZEBRA.

Can He Change His Stripes When Trained?

Almost every writer who treats of the colors of animals refers to Galton's observations that in the bright sunlight of an African night zebras are practically invisible...

My own observations also confirm that the stripes of the zebra are of protective value. Riding along a slope I suddenly saw two zebras within 100 yards above me...

The London Graphic of a recent date tells upon the possibilities of a trade in furs between Canada and England...

This is History Made.

It was a period of great political excitement. Constitution—with a capital C—began to make frequent appearances...

But this excitement, intense though it was—intense though it seemed to be—was trivial compared to that which raged in the household of Fairholme, the country seat of Mr. Stradwick, M. P. for Selton.

The young man who had been sent out by the Government to their supporters for the vote upon the measure before the House was one in which their political existence was involved.

Virgie's Funny Funny Friends.

Virgie's parties were spending the summer with some friends in a camp on the shores of a small lake. There were no other children in the party, so after a few days Virgie began to be lonesome.

After that Virgie was never lonesome. She would play with the fishes for hours at a time. They grew so tame that they would take crumbs of cake from her hand.

When ice cream was made Virgie insisted on giving some to her pets. She held a teaspoon under the water, and before it could dissolve, the fishes ate it as daintily as though they had dined from silver all their lives.

At the end of the summer Virgie had tears in her eyes and a long and tearful farewell. But she dried her eyes when Papa told her he had captured Papa and Mamma Hornport to carry home for his aquarium.

No Disappointment.

Disappointments of one kind and another crop up all along life's pathway, for unfortunately it is the unexpected that always happens.

Baffles Human Nature.

Nature's all-powerful healer is discovered, and when inhibited freely radiates the arterial network of the body, absorbs and rashes off all effete, deadly poisonous matter.
