

HIT ONE AND TWO OTHERS SURRENDERED

Sgt. Griffin of 2nd Battalion Tells of Exciting Experiences While in the Trenches.

Mr. C. Griffin, 262 Simcoe street, Peterborough, has received the following letter from his brother, Sgt. W. T. Griffin, of Peterborough, who is with the 2nd Battalion, 1st Canadian Regiment, in France.

France, July 31, '15. My dear Charles, - Just a few lines in answer to your letters, which were most welcome, indeed. Hope this finds you well, as it leaves me.

Well Charles, we have some fun out here, some times. The other night when one of the other Canadian battalions were in the front line of trenches, they shot at a patrol of three Germans, and hit one, and the other two surrendered. Then the next night the same battalion had a post in front of their trench and along comes a German. Well the fellow let the German come up within ten feet of him, when bang, another one is gone. That made four. The last one was an officer. I wonder if he was coming to take the trench by himself. You can bet they were out for no good purpose. However they are four less we have to fight. Still they have lots more. There's not much doing around here lately, but we never know the minute we'll be called on to make an attack. Still, that's all in the day's work. We are getting lots of both cigarettes and tobacco. So the fellows who write and say they are not getting enough tobacco must be pretty big smokers. Of course it is only the fighting line that is supplied with tobacco. Down at the base you have to buy it. Still, the men in the firing line gets lots.

Remember me to all the boys in the shop, and tell them to make shells as fast as they can. We need all we can get. The Germans have lots yet.

Now, Charles, I think this is all for now; so hoping you are all right, I will close.

Your affectionate brother, TOM

They're Popular in Nova Scotia

WHY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS ARE A HOUSEHOLD REMEDY.

People Have Learned From Long Experience that by Curing the Kidney Ills They Benefit the Entire Body.

Spry Harbor, Halifax Co., N.S., Aug. 23rd, (Special).—"I have taken a couple of boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and have received great benefit from them. They are certainly a fine pill for anyone suffering from kidney trouble." So says Mrs. Alex. E. Nishey, and she speaks the sentiments of a large number of the women of Nova Scotia.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have so long been in general use that they are recognized as the standard remedy for kidney troubles. They have become a family medicine in thousands of homes. People have learned from long experience that if they cure their minor kidney ill with Dodd's Kidney Pills they need not fear those more terrible developments such as Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy and Rheumatism. They have also learned that when the kidneys are cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills the whole body benefits. For cured kidneys mean pure blood, and pure blood is the foundation of all health. That's why Dodd's Kidney Pills are universally popular.

Two Summerless Years

One of Them Described by a Prince Edward

(Toronto Mail and Empire.) Concerning Charles Young's enquiry as to 1816 being a summerless year, a correspondent, "W" writes the following interesting note from Berwick, N.S.:

There certainly was a summerless year in Nova Scotia in 1816. Fifty years ago there were a good many people who remembered and talked about it. I should think the Fleanceur would have met and talked with some of them. They used to fix the date by recalling the fact that it was a year after Waterloo. If Mr. Young has access to a primeval forest where lumbering or wood-chopping operations are in progress, let him, with the aid of a glass, if necessary, count back on the stump or butt of a new fallen tree, the circles representing annual growth till he comes back to that which represents 1816. I have done this repeatedly in Nova Scotia and find the line in question a scarcely distinguishable thread. If he finds it of ordinary thickness he may be sure that there was a summer where that tree grew in 1816.

A Canadian young man writes in answer to Charles Young's question re a summerless year:

"I cannot refer you to history, but will give you facts as related to me by my grandmother, a resident of Prince Edward County, Ontario, in the year 1830. It was called ever after 'The Dark Year' by the inhabitants. Early in January of that year it snowed so much that the log houses were covered by it, and the windows entirely so for many days. The people spent all their spare time during the short, dark days shovelling large blocks of snow out by axes, so hard was it frozen and packed by a hard wind. The spring was late, cold and cloudy. Late in May the land was planted with corn, flax, wheat and turnips. The seed came up a few inches. It turned cold and wind blew all that month and snow lay on the ground until late in July. There was not a ray of sunshine. The consequence was that nothing grew except the turnips, which were a large crop. There were no warm, sunshiny days that entire year. The people ate turnips boiled, dried and scraped raw until many of them were ill. They were at a serious loss, as there was no seed for next year's crop. In the fall my grandfather fished seven miles out in an open bay on Lake Ontario. The boat he made himself with a reel fastened at the back to let out a mile of seine, made of fish twine to catch whitefish, which were plentiful. But it was dangerous work, the days were short, bitterly cold and very dark. The sheep died, so did the oxen. There was a blight upon the laid that year never to be forgotten by those who lived through it."

Correspondence Over Asbestos Booth

At Fair Ground—Officers of 8th C.M.R. Had Used It With City's Permission

Recently when the 8th C.M.R. were in the city, officers were given the use of the asbestos booth at the fair grounds as headquarters. Mr. Maidens, who resides in this city, the agent of the Asbestos Manufacturing Company of Montreal complained to his firm that the exhibition booth owned by the company had been opened up by some of the military, on the authority of the Mayor of Belleville, and stated that more or less damage had been done. The company wrote Mayor Palmer asking what redress might be expected.

Mayor Palmer at once replied, expressing regret for the liberty taken with the booth, "but as the Driving Park Association had placed the grounds at the disposal of the city for the visiting military, I thought I was acting within my rights."

"I might say that after Mr. Maidens complained, I inspected the booth and could not see that they had damaged it in any way and the officer in charge assured me that absolutely nothing had been removed. I might say I was informed by a citizen that the staple had been drawn before the military took possession."

"If an order of your firm would have given us permission to use the booth for the cause we are all making so many sacrifices for, had we asked it."

In reply to this communication the company's manager at Montreal wrote yesterday's date as follows:

"It is quite as you say, that we undoubtedly would have been very pleased to have given permission for its use as we did for our building at Toronto. There is a certain pleasure and satisfaction in offering such which is not enjoyed when the privilege is taken without permission and that perhaps as much as anything is the reason why we just a little prefer to be consulted."

"We are asking Mr. Maidens to get the booth in shape for the coming exhibition and not say any more about it."

HARRY LAUDER TO GO TO FRONT

Will Sing for Nothing to Men in the Trenches

London, Aug. 21.—Just before leaving for the British trenches in Flanders, where he is to sing "free gratis, for nothing" to the soldiers, Harry Lauder, the famous Scottish comedian, said: "I want to bring a little of the brighter side of life to the men. They see enough of the tragic side. I'll sing them songs they know so they can 'take up the chorus'."

Lauder volunteers his services to the British Red Cross, which organization made arrangements for him to go.

Troops Massed on Both Sides of the St. Lawrence

For the first time in a century British and American troops are massed on either side of the St. Lawrence. A hundred years ago they faced each other as enemies. To-day they are friends. Guarding the canal locks at Cornwall, which nearly crosses the St. Lawrence River from Massena, are Canadian troops. They are placed there to prevent any possible damage to the locks. On the American side are United States troops guarding the property of the Aluminum Company of America during the strike there. In appearance the soldiers of the two countries are very similar. The uniforms of the Canadian soldiers are of a slightly greener hue than those of the American soldiers, but at a distance the observer could not tell the difference. Their uniforms are of the same cut. The Canadian uniforms have brass buttons, while those of the United States army are bronze, and are much more distinguishable.

Saw Belgian Boy With Arms Off

Jack Edmunds of Port Hope, a former goal keeper for the Ontario Hockey Club, in a letter to his mother, mentions that Harcourt and Art Stott of the Cobourg Heavy Battery had been over to see them at Shorncliffe, where he is camped with the 30th. Referring to the horrors of the war he says:—"We certainly see some terrible sights, as one of the big hospitals is here. On pitiable sight was a little Belgian boy with his arms cut off, begging pennies."

Patterson came up on Wednesday before Police Magistrate Davidson on the following charge—"That Thomas John Patterson of the Township of Haldimand on the 4th day of August, 1915, unlawfully did attempt to shoot and draw a trigger at the complainant, Samuel Patterson, contrary to section number 273 of the Criminal Code." Mr. J. M. McLean appeared for the Crown and Mr. T. F. Hall for the defendant. Patterson was committed for trial.—Cobourg World.

Lacrosse at Tweed.

The first of the district home and home games of the Ontario Amateur Lacrosse Association was held in Tweed yesterday between Tweed and Campbellford. The game was an excellent one and resulted in a tie 5-5. In the first quarter Tweed scored 1-0. In the second, all the scoring was done by Campbellford, who landed 5 goals. Tweed added one in the third, and in the 4th quarter made three, thus tying the score.

The return game is to be played next week.

Bodies of 30 Women in German Trench

In another cheery letter to his brother Albert, Gunner Ambrose Dorris says Peterboro battery men are looking forward to another winter's operations. Already the evenings are becoming cool but he writes that after Salisbury Plains they are prepared for the most disagreeable weather.

Gunner Dorris is in excellent physical condition, his nerves unshaken and, he writes, he has a great deal to be thankful for. A few days before his letter was written it was reported by infantrymen who had taken German trenches that the British had found the dead bodies of thirty women. The anger of the men on making this discovery was awful.—Examiner.
