In all the beautiful homes of Boston it is to be questions? if there is a room so full of appeal at once to the dilettante in art, to the student of history and to the casual visitor, who yields himself gladly though intelligently to the delights of glorious color surround ings, as the dining room in the home of Eugene Tompkins at 325 Commonwealth avenue.

For among those who collect old Staffordshire pottery, the "old blue China" of the early part of the last century, Mr. Tompkins is a notable figure.

The collection is the result of a chance beginning. Mr. Tompkins bought some of the first pieces because the beautiful coloring and the subjects of the illustrations appealed to him; then to make a respectable group of the ware he began to match acorn, shell and eagle borders until he found that there was no place to stop, and by that time he didn't want to stop. Though Mr. Tompkins pretends to collect only blue Staffordshire ware, he has two plates that represent the last word, the ultimate ambition, of every collector of American china. These are from the famous Martha Washington and "Cincinnati" sets.

The Martha Washington set is of white porcelain made in China. In with the rest.

A PERFECT MARTHA WASHINGTON PLATE. the center the initials of the name appear in a monogram which forms a circle in the golden sunburst that fills the body of the plate. The border is a chain of fifteen links, each of which bears the name of one of the states that at that time comprised the Union. Mr. Tompkins has a perfect plate. As an example of what this means it may be said that the National museum at Washington has but one example, in which about fifteen fragments have been glued together. The Mount Vernon association has never been able to secure an original in either good or bad condition, and a copy is exhibited at the home of the first president merely to indicate what the originals were like.

Montreal Strike Over.

The Montreal 'longshoremen's strike died peacefully. Dissolution had been imminent all day, and at the hour for the night shift to go to the wharves there was a stream of men to be seen making their way to the various sheds, ready to take work if it was offered. At that moment the strike of 1907, which had a short life of eight days, passed into history. The 'longshoremen now want what they turned days a so unanimously at their mass meeting, viz., the appointment of a board of conciliation. The end was hastened by the wholesale return to their old jobs of both union and non-union men. A vote was taken among their old jobs of both union and non-union men. A vote was taken among those who were still out, as to whe-ther the men should accept the in-crease of 21-2 cents, and agree to arbi-tration for the other 21-2. The re-sult was declared to be in favor of arbitration. In the meantime the strikers go back unconditionally on the scale of wages offered by the Ship-ping Federation to anyone who will work on the wharves. This means they will have to take their chance with the rest.

In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause the physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages this practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have an irrely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It 'has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skilful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system.

TO MARK LINEN.

How the Algerian Stitch Is Utilized For

Nothing gives the good housewife keener delight than a good supply of house linen, though it must be owned that the linen cupboard is not such a feature in this country as in Germany, where it is the housewife's pride, and with its piles of snowy linen, each set tied up in broad blue or pink ribbon and the shelves edged with crochet or some sort of decoration, according to the position of the owner, it is certain-

It is well to add to the linen store as opportunity offers, as this saves a big outlay all at once. It follows, too, that nice linen should be nicely marked. There is a great art in doing this with the needle, and many pretty stitches and designs can be found and followed. The letter sketched is worked in what is known as Algerian stitch, and by the accompanying diagram you will be able to see how it is done. It lends itself also very well to monograms. But if your linen is washed at a laundry it is best to have these worked designs supplemented by the name writ-ten legibly in marking ink. Although laundries have their private mark, mis-takes are sometimes made which are not easily set right without the full name, as initials are so often duplicated in a long list of customers.

To Make Pretty Hands. A little time to make the hands beautiful need not be grudged even by the busiest woman when it is said that beautiful hands are worthy instru-ments of beautiful acts. The soft, moist skin that makes the hand of a woman so soothing to the fevered brow, so inspiring to the tired, nerveless hand which it clasps, cannot be obtained or preserved without due observance of hygienic laws and devotion to cosmetics. Excessive heat or cold is not only as destructive to the beauty of the hands as to the beauty of the face, but if long continued may so affect the network of the nerves as to mar the delicacy of the touch. In washing the hands the temperature of the water should be a matter of care, and tepid water only should be used. Care should be taken to dry the hands thoroughly before exposing them to the air. Next to good homemade soap pure castile is best for washing the hands.
