SUNDAY BILL IN SENATE

Read a Second Time Though Objections are Made.

Ottawa, July 10.—The Sunday observance bill came up in the Senate unexpectedly yesterday morning, the second reading being moved by Hon R. W. Scott. He said that often acts of Parliament were very loose when they touched the habits and customs of the people. In the present case he could not say that the provinces had any right to complain of this legislation for they had a clear right to legislate as far as their powers were concerned. Mr. Scott went over the chief provisions of the bill and explained the object and purpose of each.

Senator McMullen could not say that he was entirely satisfied with all the provisions of the bill, and he would have been better pleased if some of the amendments made in the House had not been added. He had no desire to trample on the conscientious convictions of others, but this legislation was necessary in a Christian-professing county like Canada. He did not know how Senator Choquette could resoncie horse-racing and gambling with the divine command to keep the Sabbath and Day holy.

Senator Cloran—I shall not allow that statement to go before the country that two in the Province of Quebec reconcile gambling and horse-racing with the observance of the Lord's Day.

That's a little too strong.

Senator McMullen—I have not charged the people of Quebec with anything of that kind, I say. If they can reconcile any of these things I have enumerated with God's law, let me express surprise. He regretted they had not earlier in their history enacted Christian legislation of this kind.

Two Amendments.

Senator J. K. Kerr of Toronto gave same.—Carried.

On clause five, prohibiting a game of amusement for which an admission fee was charged. Senator Choquette said, if that clause remains, we will fight the bill to the bitter end. It is bne we cannot stand, and I would like to know if the Secretary of State is going to persist in it.

Hon, Mr. Scott said it was a compromise clause. It might grafe on the prejudices of some people, but it had been accepted for the good that was in the rest of the measure.

Senator Choquette said clause five would stop harmless horse-racing in Quebec by the farmers on Sunday afternoon, not for gain but to test the merits of horse flesh. An admission fee of ten cents was charged in order to keep up the course, and the race took place after Mass, between 3 and 6 o'clock p. m.
