QUARRYMEN AND LABORERS WANTED

APPLY AT PORT PHILIP QUARRY DUNCAN STEWART,

I think me oft in the twilight
Of a lady and her hat.
The former was little and vicious,
The latter was large and flat.
The lady went to church, the plaxi.
And wherever she wert the shout
Went up from the many who could not see,
"Confound it! put her out!"

A Modern Witch.

She was not to be extinguished.
"I have paid," she said, "and I'll stay.
I'll wear that hat"—and she clenched her hand—
"Till the crack of the Judgment-day.
I'll fasten it tight around my throat,
And pin it fast to my hair.
Let there come the dreadfulest hurricane,
The world shall find it there."

There came a breeze from heaven
Of a rather malevolent kind.
It caught that hat, and took it up,
And the lady went behind.
Now, this was several years ago,
And all of them full of pain;
For with nothing to ride she still sails
And will never come down again.

The Strange Customs of America

RHEUMATISM Meuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Backache, Soreness of the Chest, Gout, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Swell-ings and Sprains, Burns and Scalds, General Bodily Pains, Here are two bits of Western journalism which some foolish " nonresident American" will probably develop into an article for one of the Tweed and Worsted Coalings, the English reviews on the strange enatoms of American social and religious circles: "When a Texas couple stood up to be married, the minister saw the handle of a pistol pretruding from the bridegroom's pocket, and suggested that out of respect to the solemn ceremony, it be laid aside. The advice was headed. Then the bride demurely drew a dagger from her bosom and tossed it beside the other weapon."—"The pulpit was set outside the church at Windslow, Texas, in order to give room for a stage on which to preform 'Pinafore,' and when again needed for use it was missing.
