Describes the condition of thousands of people at this season. They have no appetite, cannot sleep, and complain of the prostrating effect of warmer weather. This condition may be remedied by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which creates an appetite and tones up all the organs. It gives good health by making the blood pure.

The arrest in New York of Senor Don Alberto Fombona, of the Venezuelan legation, opened up this question of ponderable interest. The question of real importance is whether an attache of a foreign legation can be arrested at all—whether society in the United States may protect itself as against the retainers of ambassadors, ministers, envoys, &c., who choose to defy the laws of the country in which for the moment they happen to be guests. Now, it appears, the young gentleman declares that he is exempt from arrest on this or any other charge, and what is more to the purpose, his chief Senor Don Jose Andrade, shares that view of the matter. To be an "attache" of any foreign legation, therefore, is to hold a roving commission to defy law, insult society, and override all the proprieties of life, and this arrangement holds good, not only at Washington, where the gentlemen in question are supposed to be maintaining the equilibrium of the world, but in any part of the country which they may see fit to visit for purposes of moral and intellectual relaxation.
