How the Money Has Been Spen on School Buildings.

Although the Hydro-Electric Commis sion, according to a statement made in yesterday, has approved of the draft of Hamilton's contract, the city is draft of Hamilton's contract, not in possession of the documents yet The city officials are wondering if has changed its mi some of the things to which it agreed. It was intended that the power comm should meet this morning. As the contract had not arrived, however, there was no use of calling a meeting. City Solicitor Waddell received a telephone message from Burlington to-day from Silicitor Lobb, who has been busy with right of way matters between Burlington and Oakville, saving he would 'phon write from Toronto this afternoon

The Board of Education officials have heard that the question of enlarging the Trolley Street School was being considered about the time the annexation question came up. They take this to mean that there will be a lot more crowding at the Stinson Street School, when the city has to take care of the pupils in the new section.

The committee revising the water-works by-law had another long session yesterday afternoon, but did not decide on any further changes. The general opinion is that as far as the committee will go is to recommend that the closet rates be reduced to $2 and, the bath rates to $1. This would be a dollar off each. Some of the aldermen, however, favor cutting off the closet rate entirely and leaving the bath rate as it is.

The city to-day received from the department at Ottawa copies of the correspondence in connection with the move to have Albert Greathead deported. The officials say that the city's side of the case is not known at Ottawa, and Mayor McLaren has undertaken to set it forth very clearly in a letter, which will be forwarded to Superintendent Scott to-day.

Chairman Allan of the Building Com-mittee, to-night will lay before the Board of Education a detailed state-ent of the cost of building the addi-ions to the Picton and Stratheona Model Schools. Summarized, it is as

C. M. Wright, with his wife, formerly Miss Florence Kinrade, is thinking of leaving Calgary, owing to the notoriety they have received here through the confession of Bedfort in London. Today Mr. Wright refused to permit reporters to see his wife. He said:

I came here hoping to find Calgary a place in which we could live quietly, and I could follow the practice of law, but I have been pestered to death since Bedfort made his confession, and it became known that my wife and I are here. We have not discussed the confession ourselves, and you will have to be satisfied with the telegraphic despatches."
