LIFT CORNS OR CALLUSES OFF

Doesn't hurt! Lift any corn or callus off with fingers

Don't suffer! A tiny bottle of Frezzone costs but a few cents at any drug store. Apply a few drops on the corn, calluses and "hard skin" on bottom of feet, then lift them off. When Frezzone removes corns from the toes or calluses from the bottom of feet, the skin beneath is left pink and healthy and never soft, tender or irritated.

STUMBLING ON FORTUNE.

Scotch Sailor Went Through Many Vicissitudes, But "Struck It Rich."

Although some of the richest gold and silver mines in the world have been found by men who were prospecting for the precious metals, other mines have been discovered quite by accident in the most curious ways imaginable, says Spare Moments.

It was in 1867 that Donald Ross, a young Scottish sailor, and two companions deserted their sailing ship at San Francisco and started for the new gold fields on the mountains at the head of the Kern river. They failed to strike anything there, however, and so they crossed the passes into the Mojave Desert to try their luck there, only to again be unsuccessful. Then they went to Arizona, making their way to the source of the Little Colorado river. Here they met with fair success, but the apaches were on the warpath, and forced them to fly to the nearest fort, from whence they reached Hardyville.

They started again without compass, map, or trail to guide them across the 300 miles of scorching desert, for Owen's Lake. In their little search for water the prospectors' water was the only water on the edge of Death Valley. Their mule died, and the next day one of the men died, and the other became raving mad and fled into the desert. Ross, quite mad, wandered on until he fell unconscious. He was found by an Indian nurse who took him back to life, and guided him to the San Joaquin Valley, pointed out the way to civilization. Within an hour of leaving his guides Ross found himself in the bed of a rocky stream. He walked half way through the icy waters, when he pressed his hands to his eyes, dreading that his reason was again giving way. He looked again. "Gold!" he shouted. And it was. Half the sands at his feet were gold. Within two months he had made $300,000, and he arrived back in Glasgow some weeks before the sailing ship from which he had deserted.

Criminals Like Smart Clothes.

A world upside down, or, at any rate, not certainly right side up, offers continual surprises. Nothing is quite like it used to be and much is shocking different. So you read that in the dock at the Central Criminal Court in London one frequently sees the latest fashions in men's and women's wear.

"It is," says a writer in the London Daily Mail, "a sign of the times. Twenty years ago the average criminal was ill-educated, ill-mannered, and slovenly in appearance. Today many thieves, men and women, are intelligent, punctilious in behaviour, and dressed in the height of fashion.

"Recent a notorious West End sharper, confident that the jury would acquit him, ordered his motor-car to be ready to take him home! It was a sad blow to his dignity and prestige when some one else ordered Black Maria for him.

"The modern criminal who infests the West End craves for the best of everything. He dines in the best restaurants, drinks the most expensive wines, smokes the choicest cigars, and makes love to pretty women. His clothes are faultless in material and style.

"And among the women 'crooks' are just as fastidious. Parisian gowns cover them; rare jewels adorn them; sparkling eyes and a ready wit carry them anywhere. They all spend money as freely as a war profiteer. One woman—a clever jewel thief—appeared in the dock wearing a dress for which she had paid 70 guineas. Her $200 fur coat had been stolen by another thief, otherwise, no doubt, she would have worn that in court.

"Thieves have been making enormous profits. Furs, clothes, cigars, and jewels to the value of hundreds of thousands of pounds have been stolen during the year, and they have been sold again at practically their full market value. Receivers—the people to whom thieves dispose of their booty—willingly pay high prices for all kinds of wares. Apparel because, although vast quantities have been recovered by the police, the risk of detection is comparatively small and there is always a generous return on the money expended.

"Motor Cars, of which many hundreds have disappeared, have also a ready sale, but there is a greater danger in dealing with them, and consequently the thieves themselves get only about a tenth of the actual value."

Reduced Calibre.

A good story is told concerning Bishop Gore, whose outspokenness at the recent Church Congress created considerable comment.

Soon after his translation to his present episcopate a rather fresh young lady remarked to him at a social function that she supposed he must now be considered to be "quite a big gun."

"Not at all, my dear young lady," was the reply. "Not as big as I formerly was, in fact."

Then, seeing the puzzled look on the face of the fair one, he added quizzically:

"I was formerly a canon, you know."

—One at a Time.

A man from the north of Scotland, visiting Glasgow, was "bored" by a Salvation Army lass, and he gave her a sixpence. Turning into another street, he was again asked for a contribution. "No, no," he said. "I give a sixpence to one of your folk 'round the corner just now." "That was very good of you," said the girl. "But then you can't do a good thing too often. And, besides, you know, the Lord will repay you a hundred fold."

"Aweel," said the cautious Scot. "I'll just wait till the next translation's round before we start the second."

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrup. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep.
