

TIRED AND RUN DOWN

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Where Other Medicines Failed

Vancouver, B. C.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I was tired and run down. I had headaches and no appetite and was troubled for two years with sleeplessness. I tried many medicines but nothing did me any real good. While I was living in Washington I was recommended by a friend to take the Vegetable Compound. I am stronger and feel fine since then and am able to do my housework. I am willing for you to use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. C. GREAVES, 771 Hornby St., Vancouver, British Columbia.

Many women keep about their work when it is a great effort because the work must be done. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought relief to thousands of tired housewives by removing the troubles which cause annoying symptoms.

World Shortage In Tea Results In Higher Prices

During 1919 and 1920 the greatly increased production and unlimited shipping facilities resulted in enormous quantities of tea reaching every market of the world. A consequent drop in price was the result. To stabilize the situation, the tea growers of Ceylon and India agreed to curtail production 20% in 1921. Since that time the demand has been constantly increasing and the price rising. The recent reduction of duty on tea entering England has further increased the demand, and the price is expected to rise accordingly.

LURE IS VARIED

Men Have Odd Motives for Seeking Exile in South Seas.

Sometimes It Is More or Less Humorous, Occasionally Deeply Tragic, but Always Interesting.

I have often speculated on the motives actuating the men and women who come to the South seas—most of them of a class neither adventurous nor imaginative. Why have they left home at all, and why have their wanderings led to a place so insignificant and remote?

In some cases, of course, the motives are not complex. I remember a middle-aged Californian, who did not hesitate to be frank. We were sitting on the hotel veranda, wasting an afternoon in idle talk.

"Why did I come to Tahiti?" he said. "That's simple—I wanted to live in a place where I could have a drink without breaking the law. I reckon I'm a good American, but I like to be let alone. The French are great fellows to mind their own business; I found that out during the war. Yes, I was there—over age, but I got into the National Guard at the start. When I got home I took a look around and then made my partner a proposition to buy me out. We had a nice little business; my share of it, turned into bonds, brings in about three thousand a year.

"When the deal was fixed, I got a map and hunted up the nearest French colony—I reckoned it would be quieter there than in France. I guess I'll leave my bones on Tahiti. My house will be finished in another month; it's close to the water and a big shady veranda where you can sit and look out across the lagoon to Moorea.

"I don't want any women, or servants, or newspapers, or plantations, or business of any kind—I just want to be let alone; but any man who doesn't talk politics will be welcome to drop in for a drink."

Here was one accounted for. A few moments later, on the same veranda, another man told his story in eight words, pregnant as they were brief.

There was an Englishman with us—a traveler, who was stopping over on a steamer in the course of an eastward tour around the world. He had been in India, and was showing us his collection of photographs of that land. While the pictures were passed about, I noticed an elderly American, of morose and complacent mien, sitting at some distance from the rest of the company and taking no part in the conversation, though he uttered from time to time a series of nasal sounds vaguely suggestive of French and correctly interpreted by the native girl to mean: "One rum punch."

In time we came to the inevitable picture of the Taj Mahal; and while we gazed at it, marveling anew, the tourist spoke of the vast expense of raising such a monument. When he had finished, the man who wanted to be let alone was the first to speak. "Just think of that guy," he remarked, "spending 10 million dollars to bury his wife!"

Musing on the ancient and costly bit of sentiment, we sat for a moment in silence—a silence broken by a mechanical voice.

"I'd give more than that to bury mine!"

It was the orderer of rum punches who spoke, addressing the company for the first and last time. He said it without a shadow of humor—so earnestly, so convincingly, that several seconds elapsed before any of us smiled.

He had placed himself. Curiosity regarding him was at an end; if he chose to spend the rest of his days in the South seas, gossip would pass him by, to whisper of others less communicative—the ever-present rumored murderer or defaulting financier. For all we knew, the morose gentleman might have been quite capable of building a second Taj Mahal—Charles Bernard Nordhoff in the Atlantic Monthly.

Backache

Backache is the outstanding symptom of kidney disease. Women often make the mistake of attributing other causes and overlook the derangement of the kidneys until serious developments have made it difficult to obtain permanent relief.

This letter points to a treatment which has been so thoroughly tried and proven so effective in the great majority of cases that you cannot afford to overlook it when cause arises for its use.

Mrs. Albert Brunet, R.R. No. 1, Ottawa, Ont., writes:

"I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for the past two months, having been afflicted with kidney trouble. I used two doctors' medicine previous to this, without any good results. A friend told me to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and the second box made me feel a good deal better. I have now used about six or eight boxes, and am completely relieved."

Melon-Growing in the Okanagan

There is a certain market-gardener at Summerland, a little settlement on the shores of the Okanagan Lake in British Columbia, who has made his ten acres famous for canteloupes, egg-plants and peppers. He has five acres of canteloupes from which last season he shipped 1,200 crates averaging $3.00 gross per crate.

They are grown on the usual "hill" system 5 x 5 ft. apart and well-rotted mixed farmyard manure is applied in the spring. Great care has to be taken when irrigating the melons as they won't stand being chilled.

The grower's "long suit" is saving his own seed and he has bred distinct strains of peppers, cucumbers and melons. The "Hoodoo" canteloupe is improving every year.

The seed is sown under glass in mid-April and is transplanted twice before being set out in the field between the 5th and 10th of June. It is then ready to fruit at the end of August.

Egg-plants and peppers are profitable, too, in a small way, and about 1/2 acre of the first and 1/4 acre of the latter is grown and shipped regularly to certain stores in localities that have acquired a taste for these dainties. "From 1/4 acre of early slicing-cucumbers the grower makes at least 3 pickings in the season, taking from 110-125 boxes at each picking. These average a clear profit of 50 cents per box, the prices varying from 60 cents up to $2.00 according to season.

Another highly profitable line followed by the same grower is early lettuce under glass. Last Christmas I saw one of the greenhouses (18 x 40) full of lettuce for the Christmas trade around Summerland alone, about $150.00 of it and this will command a sure and steady market.—H. G. W.

A Wide-Spread War Memorial

IN memory of the war-time efforts for King and Country, of eleven thousand C.P.R. employees and more particularly of 1,115 men who gave their lives for the cause for which the British people stood, the Canadian Pacific Railway has erected at Montreal, Winnipeg, and Vancouver a striking bronze memorial group, depicting in larger than life size an Angel of Victory bearing the body of a Canadian soldier upward towards perfect peace. These statues were simultaneously unveiled on Friday, April 28th, His Excellency Lord Byng, the Governor General, officiating at the Montreal celebration.

At the same time was unveiled the bronze tablet illustrated above. Exact duplicates of this tablet were also unveiled at all important points on the C. P. R. system between the Atlantic and the Pacific, as well as at its American, European and Asiatic offices. The tablets are about five feet in width, and were designed by Archibald Pease, of the C. P. R. Chief Engineer's Department, Montreal. The vessel on the left represents H. M. S. "Lion," Admiral Beatty's flagship at the battle of Jutland, and that on the right the Canadian Pacific Steamship "Empress of Russia," which was engaged through the war as a fast cruiser, and later as a transport. Beside her stands a standard C. P. R. locomotive and train as having just brought in battalions ready to embark for overseas service. The soldiers in the centre represent all arms of the service. The base of the statues bear the same legend as do the tablets.

Enlistments of C.P.R. employees totalled 11,340 men, of which 1,115 were killed or died of wounds, and 2,105 were wounded. A total of 7,573 were re-employed by the company on their return to Canada, following out the C.P.R. policy of re-instating every man who left, in as good a job as that which he had when he went away, and a total of 13,312 other returned soldiers have also been taken on the company's service. War decorations and medals won by C.P.R. employees totalled 376, and include the following:—

Victoria Cross, 2; Order of the British Empire, 6; Distinguished Service Order, 17; Distinguished Service Cross, 3; Military Cross, 54; Distinguished Conduct Medal, 47; Military Medal, 180.
