ADDRESS

To the Very Rev. J. J. St. John, Chancellor of the Archdiocese, from the Teachers and Ex-Teachers of Argentia.

Very Rev. and Dear Father,—Just a few short months ago our hearts were filled with joy at the thought of your being restored to us after your journey to the Eternal City, renewed in health and spirits, and we begged ourselves up with the hope that you would be spared many years to guide and direct us; but, alas! how fleeting are all human hopes; now our rejoicing is turned to mourning at the news of your departure from our midst.

Whilst deeply regretting your departure, we beg to tender to you our most heartfelt congratulations on the great honour conferred on you by our beloved Archbishop, and we rejoice in the thought that now you will have a much needed rest after your many years of arduous missionary labor.

To all your parishioners you have shown yourself a most devoted Father, no call, however distant, ever caused a shade of annoyance to ruffle your placid brow—but we, the teachers know better than anyone your self-sacrificing and heroic nature. You have ever shown yourself our devoted Father and friend. By your unceasing interest in educational matters, you have been our main support and help, and our labors have been considerably lightened, not only by your words of encouragement and wise counsel, but also, by the many material helps given us in the discharge of our duties. The many handsome and substantial school-houses erected by you in the parish are monuments of your zeal and energy. We had hoped to enjoy the privilege of your wise direction for many years to come, but, since God in His Providence has ordained otherwise, we take this favorable opportunity of assuring you of our most heartfelt gratitude for the many favors bestowed on us by you, and beg your acceptance of the accompanying little gift as a light token of our esteem and gratitude. In conclusion, Very Rev. Father, we most humbly beg your blessing and we earnestly pray that the good God who has witnessed the many labours and sacrifices that you have made for His Sake may reward you with His choicest graces and blessings. Signed on behalf of the teachers.

MARY SMITH.
MARY O'REILLY.
Argentina Jan. 15th, 1911.

Reverend Father St. John, Chancellor of the Archdiocese.

Dear Reverend Father,—We the people of the Parish of Argentina beg to tender our congratulations on the New Dignity bestowed on you by His Grace the Archbishop, and whilst assuring you of our appreciation of the honour conferred upon you, we regret exceedingly that the duties of your new office make necessary your departure from amongst us.

In fifteen years of close association we have come to look to you not only for spiritual help and consolation, but also for fatherly advice and encouragement, and in parting with you we lose not only a zealous and faithful priest but also a kind father and friend.

Your courage and bravery in fulfilling the arduous duties of this mission have been our constant admiration, and the people of the adjacent settlements will for ever hold you in grateful remembrance.

In conclusion, dear Rev. Father, we pray that God may grant you length of days to fulfil the duties of priestly office, and we ask your acceptance of this small purse assuring you that though it were many times greater it could not measure in any degree the sentiments of grateful affection and esteem which accompany it.

Signed on behalf of the Parishioners,
James Davis, James McGrath, Peter Smith, Alexander Dunphy, Matthew Morphy.

LONDON, Feb. 10.
The debate on the Opposition's amendment to the Speech from the Throne, resumed in the House yesterday. Alfred Lyttelton, former Secretary of State for the Colonies, who traversed Premier Asquith's statement that American-Canadian reciprocitiy was inevitable, said it was clear that up to the 1907 crucial period, when Laurier declared he did not wish reciprocity with the States and offered preference to Britain which the Government refused, the mood of Canada was against commercial union with the United States, but the Government's refusal advanced from five to ten years, Canada's acceptance of the American offer.

Asquith in replying made reference to 1906, when the electorate was much in the majority against fiscal reform.
There had been two elections since and the Government still constituted a solid unbroken phalanx. He denied the Opposition's assertion that the foreign countries having protective tariff found admission on easier terms into foreign markets than Great Britain. The Tariffists often spoke of Japan as a country ill-using the utility of tariffs, but he would advise them to postpone mentioning Japan until they had seen the satisfactory result expected from the negotiations now proceeding between that country and Great Britain. The Government's main reasons in refusing preference said the Premier, were that Great Britain's chief sources of supplies could not be taxed without raising the cost of the necessities of life and Colonial preference would mean friction and inequality. He mentioned that the reciprocity agreement did not include articles in which Britain was seriously concerned. He was thankful that a common sense electoral had saved the United Kingdom from one of the most disastrous impositures in modern times. Asquith continued that the reciprocity agreement had been carefully watched by the Ambassador at Washington, so far as British importations into Canada were concerned, and preference would be still maintained. It is quite probably the Premier said, that the United States will say as a matter of treaty right, that British goods will be entitled to enter American markets of the same terms as these accorded the same class of Canadian goods. I would not take long time, he thought to kill the protective movement in this country, and he believed the objects of Imperial preference were not being celebrated.

Balfour, leader of the Opposition followed. He took the ground that what Asquith had termed "Imposi-ture" had received the endorsement of every one of the Colonial Premiers.
The Government's objection to Colonial preference was a disinclination to treat the Colonies better than foreign countries. Although the Unionists had not yet convinced the majority of the United Kingdom that their fiscal policy was right, they would continue to fight and he was certain that the eventual verdict of the people and history would be for their side.

THE REPORT Of the Newfoundland British Society for 1910.

To The Officers and Members of The Newfoundland British Society.

Gentlemen.—The close of another year and the expiration of the term of your Officers and Committee, bring with the rendering of an account of their stewardship.

During the year there has been some progress and improvement, and the year has witnessed some unusual events in the Society.

Whilst it is to be regretted that the Roll shows no increase in membership, the Society on the other hand has made considerable advance in its funds, which are now in healthy condition. As will be seen from the Treasurer's Statement the increase over last year is $250.00, in addition to which the undertaking of the year $217.00 were donated to the Building Fund, a handsome set of Officers' Regalia costing nearly $70.00 was presented to the Society, and a standing debt of $175.00 wiped off the books. This is a record which has not been attained for several years, and if the members had rallied round the Committee in their efforts, the results might easily have been doubled in our contribution to the Building Fund.

During the year 38 members received the benefits provided by the rules of the Society in time of sickness, amounting to $685.42. Six members, and twelve members' wives and deceased members' widows have died, entailing a mortality expenditure of $750.00, $700.00 for benevolent purposes; making the total expenditure for sickness and deaths of $1,475.42.

We are pleased to report that the lecture course organized during the Lenten season proved to be not only a source of pleasure and instruction to the kind friends who patronized them, but also of profit to the Society. To Dr. W. F. Lloyd, Messrs. M. A. Devine, M. P. Gibbs and L. C. Morris, who so generously gave their time and lectured for the benefit of the Building Fund, our best thanks are due.

The Annual Soiree was an unusual success and voted by our patrons the event of the season, and our lady friends are again deserving of the highest praise. A word of praise is also due to the subscribers to the Library Fund, through whose liberality your Committee were enabled to wipe off the debt in connection with the scheme.

It was with very deep regret that the Society heard of the death of our beloved Sovereign, King Edward "The Great." In common with our Sister Societies, the regalia, etc., were framed with mourning, and the sym-boly of the Society was called to the Royal Household through His Excellency the Governor Sir Ralph Williams. On the date of the funeral, May 20th, a most impressive service was
the scheme.

The report of the Juvenile Branch will be laid before you. This year the department continues to make satisfactory progress. It is getting strong and the membership is increasing. We commend the object of the Branch to the consideration of the members of the Parent Society, and trust they will show a more lively interest in its welfare.

"Lub Rooms" have been well patronized during the year, better perhaps than many years past. This is due, no doubt, to the arrangement which permits the S. U. F. the privileges of the Club. During the winter months, 1910, a programme of lectures, smokers and debates was arranged and carried out.

Several publications have been added to the Reading Room, and it is hoped soon to further enhance its interest to the members. It might interest those outside our ranks, who may be eligible to join, that membership in the Newfoundland British Society entitles its members to the free and unrestricted use of the Club, a privilege which ought to count in favor of the British where so few free clubs exist.

We are also pleased to say that the Society's crew was again victorious at the Annual Regatta, and "lifted" the trophy offered as a prize for competition in the Society race. This is the third time of entering a crew for this event, and each time success has crowned their efforts. They have added to their laurels and their record will be hard to beat. The Cup was won in the "Guard," and is chaste and neat in design. It was presented to the Society by the Coxswain, Mr.
Ted Whitten, and accepted by the President who expressed the great pleasure it gave him in receiving such a handsome trophy on behalf of the Society. Each member was presented with a piece of gold, which had been provided by the Committee as a slight token of their appreciation, and a memorable re-union was held in honor of the event.

Owing to New Year's Day falling on Sunday, the annual parade was held on Monday, January 2nd, and compared favorably in attendance with those of former years. The officers wore the new sashes for the first time on this occasion, the weather was fine and the good attendance of adult and juvenile members tended to make our annual appearance attractive to the public, and enjoyable to ourselves.
Leaving the Hall at 9.45 a.m., headed by the C. L. B. Band, we visited Government House where we were most cordially welcomed and entertained by His Excellency Sir Ralph Williams. In accordance with our annual custom, the President on behalf of the Society, tendered its pledges of loyalty and devotion to the

SUNLIGHT SOAP

Be advised in the choice of your Soap. Some soaps are dear at any price because they hurt your hands

Throne and Person of His Majesty King George the Fifth, and expression of the universal sorrow which death has been busy in our midst, and it is a sad duty to chronicle the loss to the Society of some of its oldest members, viz: Brothers, Philip Williams, Pascoe Willis, Robert J. Pynn, Alfred King, James Moore, and John W. Collier. The number includes some of the "Old Guard." Brother Willis was one of the oldest members; Brother Moore and Collier were old office bearers; the former for many years steward (an officer who attended alone to the sick members of the Society), while the latter was for many years Treasurer and Secretary.
All of them lived their lives in the Society and helped in the upbuilding of it; they bore the heat and the burden of the day, and set those who are left and example of zeal, earnestness and faith in the possibilities of this grand old Institution. A "guard of honour" attended the funeral of each and paid the last tribute of respect, and to the families bereaved our sincere sympathies are tendered.

There were other matters more or less important, but we need make no reference to them here. We have conducted the affairs of the Society to the best of our ability, in some things we would not be surprised to hear that we have erred, but we would remind you that "to err is human."

We beg to tender our hearty thanks to the members who have regularly attended the meetings, and by their presence cheered us in our work. We thank all who lent a helping hand in the undertakings of the year, and especially to the late President and members of the old committee for valued assistance in our lecture course.

Our best thanks are also due to the proprietors and editors of the daily papers for courtesies during the year, in publishing reports and items of interest to the Society and its members.

To a benign Providence whose watchful eye has been over us and who has guided us through the year, we bow in humble acknowledgement of His mercies and blessings, and pray for our successors in office a continuance of His favours through the ensuing year.

Respectfully submitted on behalf of the Committee,
W. H. GOODLAND,
President.
J. M. CARBERRY,
Secretary.
