Take a Mackintosh and You'll be Safe.

Fall days will soon be here, and Fall days mean rainy days; even if you go for a walk when it's nice and bright, it's safest to take a raincoat with you, for the fall showers come at a moment's notice.

"The best thing to do is to be prepared for the 'rainy day.'"

"We have just received a splendid stock of Men's and Women's Mackintoshes in all the newest styles and colorings, and in a great variety of textures and weights. These new Mackintoshes are in advanced styles and are in reality samples of what will be the leading fashions next Spring in 'rainy weather' wear."

Women's from . . . $3.75 to $16.
Men's from . . . $6.75 to $18.

WILLIAM FRFW

Calamity Howlers.

By RUTH CAMERON.

Breaking a desired rain coat. I was showing it to some friends. "Where did you get it?" asked one of them. I told her.

"You did? Well, you might as well have thrown your money out the window," she informed me with that cheerful resignation we keep for other people's troubles. "The one I bought there were out in a few weeks and I know several people who had the same experience."

Needless to say, my raincoat is spoiled for me. I scarcely dare wear it for fear of seeing it go to pieces.

Again, a neighbor of mine has a dear old mother whose sight is failing. They have a first class specialist and hope to arrest the trouble, and my neighbor is trying to be optimistic about it and to think she sees some improvement. The other day I found her on the verge of tears. "Mrs. M. has been in here," she explained, "and she says she thinks mother is a lot worse, and several people have told her the same thing."

A queer thing about these calamity howlers is that they are always most averse to break and next to their dearest friends. Apparently they think they are showing their devotion by so doing.

They make a great mistake. Friendship and frankness should go hand in hand, but only the frankness that helps, not the kind that causes needless suffering.

A true friend is one who will always tell you unpleasant truths when by so doing he can help you, but will always keep unpleasant truths to himself when it won't do you any good to know them.

Fashions and Fads.

When in doubt, use black tulle or black net. Put it on your blouse, your lace dress, your hat or your neckwear.

The semi-formal gown is made of satin, champagne, a crepe de chine, faulle messaline, chiffon silk crepe, crepe meteor and moire.

Suspenders or bretelles may be used to carry a skirt of fabric, which is a contrast to that of the bodice, up over the shoulder.

The slit skirt will not disappear. On the contrary, the slit will be in the front and higher than ever, sometimes reaching to the knee.

For couple satin, the newest color is pale hedge sparrow blue, and it is combined with silver gray gauze, traced over with silver.

Supple white satin is the favorite material of milliners to-day. It is combined with linen and with velvet or moire.

One of the newest face veils is made of fine silk tulle in a pale shade of heliotrope with tiny pin dots all over its surface.

All the newest Paris models are decollete and dainty chemisettes are introduced under the loose kimono coverings.

Newest shoes may have high Louis XV heels, but they have broad soles, and they are mostly laced up over the ankles.

Colors are more subdued than they have been. They borrow from the antique tones of tapestries woven centuries ago.

It is considered smart to show the feet, therefore skirts of street costumes are short and narrow with an upturned drape in front.

It is correct to wear small diamond shoe buckles, even in the daytime, on white canvas or suede walking shoes.

The separate blouse is made of crepe de chine — robin's egg blue, rose, mauve and lemon yellow are favorite colors.

With short sleeves it is the fashion to wear mousquetaire gloves of 28 or 31 button length. The gloves are wrinkled over the arms and pushed up under the little sleeves.

One of fashion's sensations is the dress made of hand-painted gauze veiled in shadow lace, combined with pleated champagne and long jet fringes.

About the skirts of the new fall suits — they have many innovations. The line from the waist to the hem is rarely left unbroken. There is drape at all points, the folds around the top of the skirt being the newest.

Features that mark the new suits (this fall are the slightly longer coats (especially at the back), with the cutaway line the waistcoat, which gives a note of color. They are of satin, all corded silks, suede, chambray, cloth, moire and washable pique.

White silk blouses will be white if they are washed as follows: Make a good lather with soap and warm water, and allow this to get quite cold before putting the blouse into it. When rinsing, add just a little alcohol to the water and iron the blouse while still wet.

Harbor Grace Delighted.

Mr. W. F. Lloyd.

Dear Sir—Thanks very much for your message. Everybody was delighted. Nothing else was talked of last night. The Post Office was thronged when the mail arrived, although the hour was late (11.30), waiting for the Telegram, which sold quickly, and many who could not get one were disappointed. Mine is worn out from leaping it around to-day.

Yours for success.

TAKE WARNING.—The parties who have been acting in a disorderly manner at Waterford Bridge, had better be careful. Sgt. Grimes had to send a man there on Sunday. This was Sgt. Byrne. The Supr. is a terror to evil doers and he is well backed up by the Chief.

Lodges.

A lodge is a voluntary association of practical jokers who get a m. together once a week for the purpose of seeing that the candidate does not go home disappointed. Lodges have been in existence for several hundred years, but nobody ever heard of a candidate who wasn't perfectly satisfied with the size of his package and the manner in which it was delivered.

Men join lodges for two reasons—first, to get away from home, and second, to prove an alibi. It usually takes a trusting wife about two years to discover that lodge meets only one night a week, and after she discovers it, her husband is obliged to join everything in sight, out of self defense. The lodge alibi is a handy thing to have unless it turns up on the evening of an adjourned session, when it is liable to produce discord in the home.

Lodges are presided over by stern men with good memories, who can recite the ritual without becoming tongue-tied in both directions. The officers of a lodge are allowed to wear uniforms and mispronounce some of the best words in the English language. After the candidate has heard the same word jumped on and maltrated by everybody in uniform from the inner guard to the Supreme High Kichup, he will think he has stayed into a night school for the great unwashed.

The chief article of furniture in a lodge is the goat. This animal assumes different forms in different lodges, but it has the same easy and graceful style of delivery in each, the same being a cross between a catapult and the reverse side of a two by four.

The candidate who passes the goat degree without demanding his money back and calling for the court plaster always takes great delight in steering the goat in the direction of some new and untired brother.

Membership in a live lodge of good fellows is better than accident insurance, as many a man has found it when husking time. Lodge charity is never tight or inquisitive, and it is ready for use 365 days in the year.

Cured Diseases of the Kidneys

And is Depended On No Right Stomach and Liver Disorders.

Once Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are introduced into the family and their efficacy becomes known they are usually found too valuable to do without. For everyday ailments arising from liver and bowel disorders they bring relief promptly, and when complicated diseases of the kidneys and liver develop these pills prove a successful cure after doctors have failed.

As an illustration, you may read the following, which was received a few days ago:

Mrs. John Wright, 53 McGee street, Toronto, Ont., states: "We have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for ten years, and would not be without them. My husband suffered from kidney trouble, and after taking treatment from several doctors without receiving any benefit, we bought a box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which worked a complete cure. Since that time we have used them for all stomach and liver disorders."

One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers. Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

"THE OIL THAT LUBRICATES."

BRITISH COLUMBIA EXPRESS COMPANY.

General Office, Ashcroft, B.C., February 18, 1912.

THE IMPERIAL OIL CO. LTD.

Gentlemen,—With reference to POLARINE OIL, we desire to say that we operated six Winton Six-Cylinder Cars on the Cariboo Road in 1912, and these Cars travelled 82,430 miles during the season. We used POLARINE exclusively, and found it superior to any other oil which we had previously tested, and while the cars were operated under all sorts of climatic conditions, we were so well pleased with the results obtainable from the use of POLARINE OIL that we propose to use nothing else on the eight Winton Cars which we will operate this year.

Yours very truly,

BRITISH COLUMBIA EXPRESS COMPANY.
