

Rink tonight should prove highly interesting. The Hortons meet their old enemies, the Hermits, and the Orients and Waterloos will mix for fifty or ates. All of the teams are confident of victory, and the battles should be hard-fought. The Hermits, while doomed to the tail-end position in the league race, are especially desirous of making it two games from the doughty The Hermits say they will do the trick, and the Hortons are of the opinion that there will be a Hermitage snow-under. Take your pick.

Members of the Thistle Club are a unit in declaring that the ice at the club rink is in about as fine condition as it is possible to be. A 50-pound stone requires but the slightest of tosses to whizz down the rink at railroad speed, and many of the curlers had troubleouble in gauging the distance.

Charlie Moorehead, the old-time baseball scorer, dropped into the office yesterday and stated that the east end boys are anxious to get together and organize a league for the coming season, and to that effect a meeting will be held at the Duke of York Hotel next Tuesday evening. The meeting will be in open one, and everybody interested in the game is invited to attend. It is especially desired that captains desirous of entering a team in the league he on hand. The officers for the season will be elected, and matters pertaining to baseball in the East End League put on a businesslike basis.

Harry Lewis' defeat of Mike (Twin) Sullivan in ten rounds last night must certainly have been a huge surprise to the betting public, for Lewis can make the lightweight notch, while Sullivan can do no better than 142 pounds. On the strength of this victory Lewis should certainly be entitled to a match with the lightweight champion, Joe Gans, for it took the met, and ten rounds to repeat the trick. Gans met Lewis in a six-round bout, no decision, at Philadelphia, about a year ago, and held him about even, according to account of the affair.

been remarked before in these columns, the light in which one regards an athletic contest depends largely upon which foot a person stands. Two Philadelphia and a like number of New York papers declare that Murphy had the better of Robson in their recent tilt at Philadelphia. Other papers are a unit in deciding in favor of the little British boxer.

Professional hockey has its drawbacks as well as its advantages. The Althouse, McRoberts and Campbell. Soo News says of the recent Calumet-Pittsburg game at the latter city: Referee Schooley was continually sending the players to the bench for tripping and slashing. Every man on both teams except the goal tenders made the journey once or more.

The main event, however, came off in the second half. Mallen, the speedy forward of Calumet, made a rush up the ice, and shot. The puck was the only one scored. The line-up hit around the iron rim and bounded in the air, and then out near the side of the rink. McDonald, the Calumet coverpoint, who was out of the game with a bad arm, was goal judge, and he instantly raised his wing, Dolde; center, McColl; rover, arm as a signal of a goal. This act so angered Winchester that he took Cardiss. a punch at McDonald, and then grabbed his hat from his head and threw it among the spectators.

Campbell skated up and tried to choke McDonald. Referee Schooley was trying to keep Campbell away from McDonald, While this set-to was in progress, Corbeau had Winchester up against the fence and was trying to choke him. "Bill" Shields was using his utmost efforts to pull them

STRATFORD CURLERS' LOSS. Woodstock, Feb. 21. - Stratford curlers, on their way to Ingersoll to play in the Colts' League competition, onight met with a serious loss at the station here. Their boxes, stones, etc., were piled on the platform too near to the main line track. The eastbound train coming in at a terrific speed struck the pile and completely demolished the whole outfit, stones, caps, rubbers, etc., being scattered along the track for a hundred yards or more.

The boxes were reduced to splinters the stones were smashed to pieces and hurled in every direction. Fortunately none of the players were injured. The curlers were forced to rely on the wellknown generosity of the Ingersoll curlers for the use of stones.
